VETERAN AID BILL VOTED

Senate Ignores Veto Threat

Rival Substitute Brought from White House Shouted Down

Soldier Relief Measure Wins 66 to 6 in Face of Mellon Tax Warning

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—Disregarding again the wishes of President Hoover and in the face of almost certain veto, the Senate late today passed by the overwhelming vote of 66 to 6 the modified Rossdale bill liberalising provisions of the World War Veterans' Act of 1924.

The avalanche of votes for the measure was roared out by the Senate in answer to the last-minute appeal voiced by Mr. Hoover, who said Secretary Mellon as saying legislation would necessitate a quick increase in taxation next year.

SUBSTITUTES DOWNED

Through seven long hours' debate both Republicans and Democrats backed the President's stand. A substitute by Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, which he said came from a White House conference, was shouted down without a record vote.

Another substitute by Senator Bingham, Republican, of Connecticut, embodying the original proposals of the American Legion for veterans' relief met a similar fate when Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, pleaded for it.

The bill, which extends compensation up to a maximum of $100 a month to disabled veterans, now goes back to the House, where a quick approval of the Senate amendments is predicted.

An immediate veto by President Hoover is expected at the Capitol, ahead of his announcement yesterday. Only nine Republicans were enlisted in opposition to the measure in the Senate and leaders have little hope of sustaining a veto.

BRIDGE LEADS FIGHT

Of the six who voted against the measure were Senators Bingham of Connecticut; Gillett, Massachusetts; Hastings, Delaware; Pepper, Pennsylvania, and Watson, Indiana. In addition, Senators Moses, New Hampshire, and Grundy, Pennsylvania, were paired against it, while Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, also was opposed to the bill, although he was unable to vote.

Forty-three Republicans, including many administration regulars; the two Farmer-Labor Senators from Minnesota, Shipstead, and Nye, and five Democrats voted for the measure.

Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, and George, Democrat, Georgia,

FIGHTER TO DRY NATION

Amos Woodcock Named Chief

Hoover Appoints Marylander Prohibition Administrator; Doran Given Bureau

Action as Attorney in Wet State Dictates Choice; War Record High

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 23. (Exclusive)—The administration today announced the appointment of a militant prohibitionist, Amos W. W. Woodcock of Maryland, to take command of the Federal forces in one more aggressive attempt to dry up the United States.

Mr. Woodcock takes office as Director of the Prohibition Bureau on July 1 under the recently enacted law transferring the enforcement agencies from the Treasury Department to the Justice Department. He will succeed Dr. James M. Doran, who will remain in the Treasury Department in charge of the industrial alcohol permit division.

Further reorganization of the prohibition-enforcement service probably will be effected by the Department of Justice within a few weeks. Some sweeping changes involving enforcement in various sections of the country are said to be under consideration.

INDORSED BY DRYS

Mr. Woodcock's appointment will be warmly indorsed by the Anti-Saloon League and the other principal prohibition organizations. He has won their approval by his conduct as United States District Attorney at Baltimore. In that capacity he has been in a rather difficult position. Maryland is the only State in the Union that never enacted an enforcement law.

With politics dominated by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, dripping wet, the State has declined to co-operate with the Federal government in the enforcement of prohibition. The task of enforcement, therefore, has fallen largely upon the shoulders of Mr. Woodcock.

UNDER HANDICAP

In spite of the handicap of public sentiment against him Mr. Woodcock has prosecuted vigorously under the Volstead Act. He has obtained many convictions. On several occasions he has been compelled to reverse his role of prosecutor and turn counsel for the defense when Federal agents have gone into Maryland and killed dry-law violators. He has never failed to obtain their acquittal.

Mr. Woodcock was made United States District Attorney in Maryland in 1922. In announcing his appointment today the Department of Justice said:

"He has made an excellent record as United States Attorney and has

HEAT TAKES SIX LIVES

Midwest Still Sweltering

Temperatures Mount as High as 106 Deg. While Crops Wilt and Wither

Chicago Reports Deaths as Result of Torrid Spell; High Winds Blow

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 23. (Exclusive) A broiling sun and torrid winds that shattered heat records everywhere in the Middle West today took a toll of six lives, brought widespread suffering and perhaps heavy loss to farmers. Temperatures ranged from 96 to 106 deg.

Pavements are buckling in the southern section of the State tonight, and all over the central States fields of corn and oats slowly are parching but are not beyond reclamation if a generous rain arrives. Garden plants are drooping and hay is withering, but the wheat so far has resisted the growing drought.

LIST OF VICTIMS

Five fatal prostrations and one drowning comprised Chicago's heat toll today. The dead from the heat are Robert Cantwell, 55 years of age; Herman Deutsch, 58; James Pirea, 65; Mrs. Fanny Rosenthal, 48; Evangelos Lamprinos, 59, stricken on the street, and an unidentified victim, apparently a laborer, who collapsed and died in a courtway at Congress and Morgan streets. An unidentified boy, about 15, was drowned at the Oak-street beach, Chicago, when he became exhausted in the water.

Centralia, with an official reading of 106 deg. at 4 p.m., was the most torrid spot in Illinois, while Lincoln and Ottawa shared second place with a mark of 102.

Excepting a few fortunate penthouse dwellers, Chicago's millions were alike in languid discomfort as the mercury soared from a minimum of 70 at midnight Sunday to a record-breaking maximum of 97 between 4 and 5 p.m., a mark 2 points higher than the previous maximum for June 23.

IOWA PLENTY HOT

All Eastern Iowa sweltered during the day with scarcely a breath of air blowing. Temperatures registered anywhere from 90 to 97. Probably the hottest place in the State was Edgewood where a thermometer placed in an exposed place facing the southern sun registered 122.

A wind of cyclonic velocity accompanied by rain and hail caused heavy damage at Atkins and Shellsburg in Benton county last night. Many buildings were unroofed, trees uprooted, barns demolished and orchards ruined by the hail. No one was hurt.

Southern Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Missouri and Kansas also reported excessive heat with temperatures ranging between 90 and 100 deg. No fatalities were reported from these States.

Will Rogers Remarks:

CHICAGO, June 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Round June 22, 1950, here is what will be headlined in the planet Mars morning papers: "A young man from a place called Earth flew in here yesterday. He had been in the air continuously for two months. He had some letters of introduction from the Chamber of Commerce from a place called Englewood, N. J. He asked to have his ship refueled as he is taking off for Venus in the morning.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PACT GETS TO SENATE

Advocates Sure of Ratification

London Treaty Laid Before Upper House by 16 to 4 Committee Vote

Minority Report Explains Opposition as Due to Refusal of Notes

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—Gaining a majority of 16 to 4 in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the London Naval Treaty was put before the Senate today with its advocates confident of ratification.

Proponents of the agreement are confident the four-to-one ratio will be maintained in the Senate on a vote of ratification, assuring easily the necessary two-thirds majority.

Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee laid the treaty before the Senate with a simple resolution proposing its ratification. He submitted no report from the committee.

Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor of Minnesota, one of the four who voted against the pact in committee, later submitted a minority report stating his opposition is based on the refusal of President Hoover and Secretary Stimson to give the committee all notes exchanged among the governments before the London conference.

LEADERS' PLAN

It is the intention of Senate leaders to defer consideration of the treaty until the special session which President Hoover is prepared to call. However, it now is on the Senate calendar and can be taken up at any time the Senate agrees.

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, who voted against the treaty, will submit another minority report in which he intends to assail provisions of the agreement itself. Senators Moses of New Hampshire and Robinson of Indiana, both Republicans, are the others who opposed the pact.

Democrats on the committee voted solidly for the treaty which Senator Robinson, Arkansas, the Democratic leader, helped negotiate as a member of the American delegation to London.

UNSETTLED ISSUE

Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, who supported the pact, insisted in committee that documents relating to the treaty which Secretary Stimson has given the committee be made public. That issue will be settled at a later meeting.

Those voting for the treaty in committee include Senators Borah, Capper, Kansas; Gillett, Massachusetts; Fess, Ohio; Reed, Pennsylvania; Goff, West Virginia; La Follette, Wisconsin, and Vandenberg, Michigan, Republicans; Swanson, Virginia; Pittman, Nevada; Robinson, Arkansas; Walsh, Montana; Harrison, Mississippi; George, Georgia; Black, Alabama and Wagner, New York, Democrats.

In a thirty-one-page report, Senator Shipstead went extensively into the history of treaty-making and precedents involved in the matter

TRANSOCEAN HOP BEGUN

Southern Cross Westbound

Kingsford-Smith and Three Mates Somewhere Over Atlantic

Departure from Irish Coast Attended by Emotional Demonstrations

NEW YORK, June 24. (Exclusive)—Three hours and one minute after the wheels of the Southern Cross left the ground on its flight from Ireland to New York, the listening radio operator of the short-wave station in the office of the New York Times caught the first message from the fast traveling flyers. At 2:31 a.m. a message from the plane crackled into the receiving station: "All O. K., but strong head wind. (Signed) VMZAB, Kingsford-Smith on board the Southern Cross, at sea."

An hour later he estimated his speed at seventy-five miles an hour, and said he was flying at a 500-foot altitude.

[Copyright 1930, by New York Times.]

PORT MARNOCK (Ireland) June 24. (Exclusive)—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions hopped off at 4:30 o'clock this morning in the Southern Cross bound for New York. The take-off occurred without hitch and followed weeks of preparations and days of unfavorable weather for the western flight.

Maj. Kingsford-Smith and his crew, after a few hours' sleep, had arrived on the beach and were ready to take off as soon as the light was adequate. The growing tenseness of the atmosphere was apparent as final preparations were made.

At precisely 3:30 the engines were started, Kingsford-Smith listening to them attentively to assure himself that they were running perfectly. It was daylight at 4 but time was required to remove the planks beneath the plane's wheels and make final preparations.

Gov.-Gen. McNeil of the Free State, Col. Russell and other officials and members of the Irish Aero Club gathered to wish the aviators farewell.

MEN IN TEARS

Kingsford-Smith was the first to board the plane, climbing into the cockpit and followed immediately by the relief pilot, Van Dyk, a Dutchman. Then Navigator Saul and Wireless Operator Stannage entered their cabin after they waved to their two other companions whom they won't see again until the journey's end. Van Dyk wore plus fours and the other three men all wore conventional flying garb.

So great was the demonstration of the enthusiasm of the crowd thronging the beach that one girl fainted and another seemed to have a fit so overcome was she. The emotionalism of the Irish was demonstrated when men were seen wiping tears from their faces. Every moment of the final preparations was followed with the most intense interest on the part of all onlookers.

Before leaving, Capt. Kingsford-Smith issued the following statement:

CAPTAIN CONFIDENT

"Before setting out on an east-west crossing of the Atlantic in the Southern Cross I wish to say that I have not the slightest desire to lose my life, nor have I any intention of doing so. I regard the odds as twenty-five to one in our favor of getting across safely—surely a better chance than any horse had to win the Derby.

"There is enormous interest in all Atlantic flights, much more so than in Pacific flights, because Atlantic flights are undertaken for the purpose of linking the great races and people of Europe and America. I regard it as less strenuous than the flight in the same machine from California to Australia, the reason being that I know now what our plane can do and have the benefit of all previous experience and known factors entering into the project. It is simply a job of work and I have no qualms about it. I have a motto. It is 'hope for the best and prepare for the worst.'

"I think people attach too much importance to the difficulties of a

NEW YORK POPULATION ESTIMATED

Minimum Computed at 6,891,435, Showing Gain of 22 Per Cent

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—The 1930 population of Greater New York is between 6,891,435 and 6,991,435, according to final census figures of four of the five boroughs and an estimate of the population of the Bronx, made today by G. M. Fayles, a census supervisor of the borough. The lower estimate would show an increase of 22 per cent in the five boroughs. Complete figures for four boroughs are:

Manhattan, 1,856,439.
Brooklyn, 2,596,154.
Queens, 1,082,212.
Richmond (Staten Island,) 156,630.

With five of the eight assembly districts of the Bronx now complete, Mr. Fayles estimated the 1930 population of that borough as between 1,200,000 and 1,300,000.

Manhattan, the skyscraper center of Greater New York, is the only one of the five boroughs to show a loss. It has 427,664 less residents than in 1920. Brooklyn and Queens, showing material growth, have gained 577,798 and 613,170, respectively.

Census reports announced yesterday included:

Asheville, N. C., 50,160; increase 21,565, or 75.9 per cent.
Minneapolis (revised,) 464,674; increase 84,692, or 22 per cent.

TALE TELLS PLOT TO KILL PORTES GIL

Mexican Journal Relates Discovery of Conspiracy to Kill Ex-President

MEXICO CITY, June 23. (AP)—A supposed plot against the life of former President Portes Gil was exposed by La Prensa today with the announcement that timely discovery alone prevented the attempt from being successful.

The newspaper said a large car with curtains drawn circled the residence of Portes Gil, while men had hidden along the street.

The former President sometimes walks out at night.

Putting the visible facts together the newspaper assumes intentions against the life of the one-time chief executive.

On the heels of this report is a statement by Ricardo Trevino that there have been conspiracies against the life of Luis Morones. Morones and Portes Gil long have been at odds and their quarrel has been especially bitter in the last few weeks. No word of how the plots were foiled was offered.

Tinkham Strikes Back at Bishop

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The contention of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., that Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, had failed to discard Congressional immunity on his allegations regarding the Methodist leader's account of funds received in the 1928 anti-Smith campaign, brought a statement today from Tinkham that the bishop had not denied his charges.

Prince of Wales Has Quiet Time on His Birthday

LONDON, June 23. (AP)—The Prince of Wales, Britain's bachelor heir, celebrated his thirty-sixth birthday today quietly. He spent the morning at his country residence, Fort Belevedere, and in the afternoon he drove to Buckingham Palace to meet King George and Queen Mary, who arrived from Windsor to convey their congratulations with those of other members of the royal family.

A steady stream of messages and telegrams of congratulation arrived at York House from all parts of the empire and many foreign countries, the Prince spending a long time perusing them. His program included attendance at the annual dinner of the Dogra Brigade of the Indian army.

Bay City Gas Drops 2 Cents

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (AP)—A drop of 2 cents a gallon to 15 cents for gasoline became general today at major oil company stations here and in the East Bay. Produced prices further, in some instances as low as 13 cents, as the "war" entered its second week.

All leading companies agreed there is no prospect of an immediate change in the situation.

JOHN D. JR.'S SECOND SON BRIDEGROOM

Young Rockefeller and Miss Mary Clark Wed at Philadelphia

BALA (Pa.) June 23 (Exclusive) Mary Todhunter Clark and Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, second son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., were married today at St. Asaph's Church before an altar banked with ciboium ferns and madonna lilies.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Benjamin N. Bird at 4:30 p.m. and immediately afterward a reception was held at the Cynwid home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hamilton Clark.

Mrs. Rockefeller, a debutante of four years ago, who has shown great interest in social service work, wore a wedding gown of ivory duchess satin, made with high waistline, the skirt falling from a small yoke to the floor.

After the wedding reception, which was attended by several hundred persons prominent in society in Philadelphia, New York and other eastern cities, Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller were to leave on a trip around the world. When they return they will live in a house that has been built for them on the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills.

Storm in Canada Ruins Crops and Destroys Church

WINNIPEG, June 23. (AP)—Crops were ruined, a church demolished, cattle injured and poultry killed by hail and wind storms which swept over several Southern Manitoba districts during the week-end.

Tearing in from the northeast the storm was particularly severe in the Emerson, Marais and Fredenstahl districts, where heavy damage to property and growing crops was recorded. The Lutheran Church, valued at $20,000, was wrecked at Fredenstahl Siding, sixty miles south of Winnipeg.

In the Rosefeld area, also to the south of Winnipeg, some farmers estimated total loss to crops, while others suffered 25 to 50 per cent damage.

Fascist Gain in Germany Shown by Saxony Vote

DRESDEN, June 23. (AP)—Saxony, called barometer of the nation, in yesterday's Diet elections revealed a considerable growth in Fascist numbers and a shrinkage of Socialist and Populist strength.

The result of the election caused observers today to believe there may be a trend of all Germany toward the extreme Right. The returns indicated that the Socialists hold 871,327 votes, against 922,932 at the last election, whereas the Fascists jumped from 133,958 to 376,724.

The German Nationalist vote was scarcely half that of the last election, while the Communists made very slight gains, a disappointment in view of their costly campaign.

Hoover to Give Radio Address

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—President Hoover today accepted an invitation extended by Gov. Dern of Utah to address by radio the governors' conference at Salt Lake City next Monday.

The address will be brief and will be broadcast over both the National and Columbia chains.

ALLAN HOOVER TAKES JOB

President's Younger Son Learning Manufacturing Business in Radiator Plant

NEW YORK, June 23. (Exclusive)—Allan Hoover, whose father is President of the United States, became a working man today at the Bayonne (N. J.) plant of the American Radiator Company.

He—and the company—announced he was learning the manufacturing business from the bottom, but that seemed to depend on what you considered the bottom. He is toting no radiators about and swinging no paint brush. He's a white-collar worker.

The duties of the President's son seemed rather hard to define. "I'm going to get a bird's-eye view of the general work of the factory," he explained.

The company regularly takes in student workers for the summer months, giving them office positions in which they are able to learn about plant processes, but no session with pick, shovel or electric crane is included in the course.

A typewritten statement from the company's executive office said that Allan was starting "at the bottom," and added that there was "nothing unusual or significant in this."

"It runs in the family," the statement said, "to become wisely self-supporting as early as possible."

Young Hoover spent his first day on the job touring the plant.

When he was introduced to the general foreman, who had been handling some oily spare parts, he shook hands enthusiastically and picked up a nice coating of oil in the process.

In the fall Allan will return to the Harvard school of business, where he will complete his course in another year.

DAY-OLD BABY NAMELESS

Young Lindbergh Okays Its Parents But They Can't Agree on What to Call Him

ENGLEWOOD (N. J.) June 23. (Exclusive)—The Lindbergh baby blinked his clear blue eyes at his father, Charles Augustus, in some bewilderment and then smiled in seeming approval of his choice of fathers. Then he turned to his mother, Anne Morrow Lindbergh, and appeared to put his okay on her, too.

And that's about all the world's most famous baby did to celebrate his first twenty-four hours on earth today at Grandfather Dwight W. Morrow's mansion in Englewood.

But that was enough to win a firm place for him in the hearts of his flying parents.

"They're simply crazy about him—and no wonder," a relative of the family said. "It is no wonder either—he's the darlingest, cheerfulest baby you ever saw. He just always looks pleasant out of those wide blue eyes and never cries."

The public appearance of Col. Lindbergh seemed to confirm the opinion that the pink parcel of seven and three-quarters pounds of humanity is more important to him than his flight to Paris, or his beloved aviation itself.

He looked like a young man much too busy to care about dressing carefully when, in a gray suit a little cut of press, a blue tie, a bit askew, and an old hat, he left the Morrow home for the Hotel Biltmore in New York City where he arrived at 10:55 a.m. to greet the immaculate, starched Admiral Richard E. Byrd. The young father returned to Englewood in a democratic taxicab.

While the three Lindberghs enjoyed the afternoon together, Da

For the fourth time since he was committed to the Pacific Colony at Spadra by Superior Judge Stephens in January, 1926, Floyd Cole, 15 years of age, escaped from the institution last night. The colony is a state hospital for mental cases. The boy is the son of Mrs. Irene Cole of 126 Olive street, Bellflower. ROW VICTIM DYING AND THREE HELD

Guest Hacked With Knife While at Party, Officers Say After Arrests

As the result of a brawl which started at a party in the home of Bolen B. Franklin, 905 West Seventy-ninth street, early yesterday, Clarence Baker, 26 years of age, is in the General Hospital in a dying condition and three persons are held on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and attempting to commit murder. Baker, police surgeons at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital said, was nearly hacked to pieces.

Those held are Franklin and his wife, Bertha, 33, and Gordon Wiggins, 41. The knife is said to be the victim and Franklin to have wielded by Wiggins, while Mrs. Franklin helped to hold Baker. In the midst of the battle Baker's wife appeared, the officers said, and came to the rescue of her husband by striking Wiggins on the head with a beer bottle. Wiggins then fled and was found by Officers Taylor, Bell and Spruill at a near-by gasoline station, attempting to wash the bloodstains from his hands and clothing. He denied knowledge of the cutting.

BRITAIN REVEALS PLANS FOR INDIA

Simon Commission Urges Autonomy Steps

Eight-State Federation to be Instituted

[Copyright 1930, by New York Times.]

LONDON, June 23. (Exclusive)—The Simon Commission has delivered its verdict.

It is that India shall advance toward self-government as a federation of autonomous provinces, but only under strong British safeguards.

Volume II of the report, which will be published tomorrow, makes it plain on almost every page that Great Britain does not intend to relax her control, although she invites India to embark on one of the safest constitutional experiments of modern times.

NATIVE ASSEMBLY

Within the framework of the commission's plan eight of the nine great provinces of India will develop self-governing institutions and will send representatives to a Federal Assembly at Delhi. The door to this Federal Assembly will also be open to delegates of the native princes.

The ninth great Province, Burma, is to be separated from India immediately and is to attain self-government under its own constitution.

Despite all its emphasis on self-rule for the provinces the scheme is to give Great Britain a stronger hold on India than ever. For the present at least, the British governors in the provinces will be virtual autocrats, with sweeping powers to override their Indian Ministers.

BRITISH HOLD JOKER

The control of the police is handed to Indian officials, but the governors can call the British troops in any emergency. And the British army will continue for many years to guard the northwest frontier—under the control, not of the government of India, but of the Imperial government at London.

Nowhere in the document is there mention of "dominion status" and nowhere among the recommendations is there any reference to the turbulent events of the last few months in India, except in the concluding remarks. The whole of the principal recommendations, according to the commission, were unanimously agreed upon before the recent outbreaks occurred.

RAIN CHECKS GIVEN ON INDIAN REVOLT

BOMBAY, June 23. (AP)—The rain which yesterday halted a Nationalist demonstration has dampened the outdoor activities of Mahatma Gandhi's followers and it is understood the Bombay Provincial Congress committee has decided to suspend political demonstrations and similar activities while the downpours of the monsoon continue.

In the meantime they will continue to boycott foreign goods. The rainy season has not halted picketing, for tonight volunteers took post in front of shops in the fort area and twenty-four of them were arrested.

Army Contracts for Air Motors Given Approval

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The War Department today approved contracts for 876 new airplane engines, costing $5,336,550.

The expenditure will cover a contract for $3,802,763, awarded to the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Company of Hartford, Ct., for 684 Wasp 450-horsepower engines, and one for $1,533,796 to the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company of New York for forty engines of 420 horsepower and 152 engines of 600 horsepower.

The 876 engines will be installed in 402 new airplanes, for which contracts recently were awarded, involving an expenditure of $5,963,419.

FLYERS TRADE FELICITATIONS

Famous Eagles Have Fleeting Visit

[A. P. telephoto]

Col. Lindbergh and Admiral Byrd

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd met today and exchanged congratulations.

Col. Lindbergh congratulated the admiral on his conquest of the South Pole. Admiral Byrd congratulated Lindbergh on the arrival of a son yesterday.

They met in the Hotel Biltmore, where Admiral Byrd is making his headquarters, and went to a room for a visit.

The colonel was deluged with congratulations. He answered the "Congratulations, colonel" with a shy grin.

The admiral's schedule was so crowded that only a few minutes could be given to Col. Lindbergh and the two friends agreed to meet some time in July for a long discussion of aviation in all its aspects.

Admiral Byrd also congratulated Lindbergh on his recent high altitude record-breaking flight from the west coast to the East.

Col. Lindbergh spoke of the value to aviation of Antarctic flights such as the Byrd expedition and spoke of the way in which aviation had changed the methods of polar exploration.

The two were together, after the cameramen had finished with them just twelve minutes. With the still photographers and silent newsreel men, of whom almost 100 were present, were several sound movie men, but all their importunities were in vain. The flying colonel stuck to his usual refusal to talk for the talkies and refrained from saying a word near the microphones.

Even to close friends he made no mention of his baby, merely receiving their congratulations with a smile and immediately turning the conversation to other subjects.

LINDBERGH BABY STILL NAMELESS

Everett M. Hawks, who directed specialists at the birth of the heir apparent to the throne of American popularity, assured reporters that mother and child are doing exceedingly well.

Although we would make no statement, Dr. Hawks indicated the baby is a perfect, exceptionally healthy child and that 24-year-old Mrs. Lindbergh passed through her ordeal with unusual success.

The all-important question of the baby's middle name is not yet decided, Morrow relatives declared tonight, although asserting it is almost certain his first name will be his father's, Charles. The baby's mother wants her son to be Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

But, it is said, the colonel always has winced a little at the imperious middle name "Augustus" and would prefer his son named Charles Morrow or Charles Dwight Lindbergh.

There the debate rested tonight, but those who know how Anne always has insisted that her husband should have his way in all things believe the baby eventually will be baptized Charles Morrow Lindbergh.

CRUISE PLANNED

The Lindberghs will recapture their honeymoon seclusions and bliss aboard their honeymoon cabin cruiser Mouette as soon as Anne is able to travel. Instructions have been issued to a New York drydock firm to prepare the motorboat for a cruise and deliver it within a month's time.

Homage of every variety was showered upon the Lindberghs today. A bevy of schoolgirls, friends of Anne's sister, Connie, 17, flocked to the Morrow mansion ostensibly to play tennis. Several begged to see the famous baby, but whether they were accorded this privilege remains a secret.

Telegrams and gifts continued to pour in and Ambassador Morrow bubbled over with happiness in accepting congratulations.

Dry Agent Held on Rum Charge

SAN JOSE, June 23. (AP)—Claude W. Ottman, 38 years of age, Federal prohibition officer of San Francisco, was in the County Jail here today with bail fixed at $2000 or $1000 cash following his arrest last night on the Santa Cruz Mountain highway by State traffic officers. The officers assert Ottman drove erratically and had a flask of whisky.

Ottman would make no comment on whether the whisky had been bought as evidence. His arraignment was set for tomorrow.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT STARTED

westward crossing of the Atlantic because of previous difficulties. Not that there are not difficulties—on the contrary. But to my mind these failures in the past have been largely the result of insufficient organization and inadequate preparation.

"It has been too much a matter of simply hopping off and trusting to luck. You trust to luck also in backing all sorts of winners.

"But before starting an Atlantic flight you have got to know what you are doing and be prepared for whatever emergency may arise.

"There is no doubt about the fact that crossing the Atlantic from this side is far more difficult because of the prevailing westerly winds. I think we can overcome any difficulties in this respect by our large quantity of fuel, sufficient for thirty-seven to thirty-eight hours at a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour—an ample margin because the journey is less than 2000 miles over water.

"Although our three engines have done more than 73,000 miles, we have increased their speed seven miles an hour by refinements in stream lining. We are taking 1300 gallons. Fully loaded, the plane will weigh 15,400 pounds. Certainly it is not far wrong if our machine is described as a floating gasoline tank.

"Trips such as ours may be unique today, but in my opinion in ten years time crossing in both directions should be regular because of the development of good pay loads and the enormous range. To be perfectly safe you want machines with a range of 3000 miles carrying pay loads of one ton or so. Personally I have no faith in the projected idea of floating airdromes strung across the ocean, but I hesitate to say definitely they may not be useful because one cannot say anything is impossible."

PLANS MADE TO REFUEL IN MAINE

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Plans were completed today to refuel the airplane Southern Cross in the air at Portland, Me., if Capt. Kingsford-Smith should find his gasoline supply dangerously depleted after crossing the Atlantic but before reaching his goal here.

The refueling ship will be the same one which refueled the plane in which Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien established their endurance record.

VETERAN RELIEF MEASURE VOTED

Georgia, led the fight for the bill reported by the Finance Committee and as finally passed.

Shortridge said he feared "the man I supported in the White House has been misled" regarding the bill and contested the President's statement that the measure would cost $102,000,000 the first year. He contended it would cost only $74,000,000.

Leading an assault on Mr. Mellon, Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, belittled claims that a Treasury deficit would result unless taxes were increased following enactment of the veterans' measure.

MELLON ASSAILED

"I venture the assertion," La Follette said as loud applause broke out in the galleries, "that Andrew W. Mellon has never been right regarding any prediction of a deficit made at a time when a measure was pending he did not like.

"He opposed the soldiers' bonus because he said it would create a deficit of $600,000,000, yet within ninety days we had a surplus of $300,000,000," the Wisconsin Senator asserted. "So 'the greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Hamilton' was off to the tune of $900,000,000 in ninety days."

Reed was alone in opposing the committee bill on the floor, but sensing the sentiment of the Senate he did not press for a record vote on his substitute.

He contended the bill would take care of only 100,000 or about one-third of the total veterans who could not trace their disabilities to service origin. His substitute would have provided a disability allowance or pension of from $12 to $40 a month depending on the degree of disability.

Opponents of the Reed plan contended it was inadequate and expressed surprise it should have been brought in just before the final vote after the Finance Committee had first tentatively approved and then rejected a Democratic plan based on the same principle after Republican leaders had consulted Mr. Hoover.

Reed also lost in an attempt to eliminate from the bill a provision to compensate as well as hospitalize veterans who contracted venereal diseases while serving in the war.

NATION LISTENS TO BYRD REPORT

Mysteries of Polar Region Stressed in Talk

Visit With Col. Lindbergh Begins His Day

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Describing the Antarctic as the world's last frontier, Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd tonight pictured that frozen territory in a radio speech broadcast over a nation-wide network from the studios of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

He stressed his belief that much more Antarctic exploration will be required to solve its mysteries.

Icy wastes where penguins and seals are the only native life were described by the admiral, who illustrated the vast extent of the territory by pointing out that its 4,500,000 square miles are about equal to the extent of the United States and Mexico combined.

POSSIBILITIES SEEN

He said the Antarctic might one day develop unsuspected power.

The great Ross Barrier, a mysterious floating mass which has defied inquiries of science, was described in some detail.

"The Ross Barrier is 500 miles long," said Admiral Byrd. "It is afloat and despite our investigations it is still somewhat a mystery. Entirely of snow to the water line, it becomes solid ice beneath the surface."

On this floating mass the expedition camped part of the time. Admiral Byrd said huge icebergs kept breaking from the barrier. He told of one thirty miles long. To escape being flung into the sea the expedition chose a camp well back from the edge.

Admiral Byrd devoted a part of his speech to his dog, Igloo. The animal began his association with the explorer on his North Pole expedition.

PAMPERED CANINE

Although able to stand considerable cold, Igloo could not endure 32 deg. below zero in Little America, consequently the explorers made an "Esquiman suit for Igloo, with boots, which enabled him to venture out when the thermometer was 60 below."

Byrd told an amusing incident regarding Igloo's first meeting with the penguins, who "are almost human in their droll dignity." Igloo, he said, attacked the birds, but could not "lick them." Afterward he treated them with much more respect.

The admiral also found time tonight to attend a dinner by Norsemen Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, in honor of Bernt Balchen, first pilot for the Byrd expedition. Several other members of the expedition sat at the table with Balchen.

TALK WITH LINDBERGH

His day began with the personal talk, a private chat with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Then Admiral Byrd hurried downtown to a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, where he followed his custom of announcing he appeared merely as the spokesmen for his men, who deserved as much credit as he, and took up most of the time introducing the officers of his expedition and calling on each one for a few words.

In the afternoon he attended to duties incident to the demobilization of his little army.

MODERNIZATION URGED AS NECESSARY FOR PARITY

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The contention the United States will have battleship parity with Great Britain only when all ships of the line have been modernized was advanced today before the House Naval Affairs Committee by Rear-Admiral George H. Brock, chief of the naval Bureau of Construction and Repairs.

Even with all of them modernized, he said, battleships of the British fleet will have greater speed.

Admiral Rock urged enactment of bill to authorize $30,000,000 to modernize three capital ships, and complete the present navy modernization program. He said need for such legislation is "urgent."

HIGHER BORDER BARS PROPOSED

Johnson Wants Alien Quotas Cut 50 Per Cent

Resolution Offered as Aid to Work Situation

Bill to This Effect to be Pushed Next Session

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—A 50 per cent reduction in the immigration quotas for the fiscal year 1931 was proposed in a resolution today by Chairman Johnson of the House Immigration Committee, as a means of combatting unemployment.

The resolution also proposed immigration from Canada, Cuba, Mexico and Newfoundland, which are not under the quota system, be limited to 50 per cent of the number of nonquota immigrants who entered from these countries during the year ended last April 30.

Canadian immigrants in that period numbered 48,414, New Foundland 3002, Mexico 15,941, and Cuba, 4556. Other countries of the Western Hemisphere would have a minimum allotment of 500.

In no case could an immigration visa be issued, under the terms of the resolution, unless the consular officer was convinced admission of an applicant "would not be detrimental to employment conditions in this country."

Johnson said there is little chance of action on his proposal this session, but he will press for action in the next.

NEW APPARATUS AIDS BREATHING

Sustains Respiration for Days Artificially

Device Demonstrated at Medical Convention

Electric Thermometer Notes Local Temperature

DETROIT, June 23. (Exclusive)—A new apparatus for giving artificial respiration on a long-time scale was exhibited at the meeting of the American Medical Association which opened here today. The apparatus was designed by Philip Drinker and L. A. Shaw, of the Harvard School of Public Health. In emergencies the old prone-pressure method of starting breathing in a patient who has been suffocated or rescued from drowning will still be used. The new apparatus is intended for those cases in which artificial respiration must be kept up for days at a time.

The patient lies on a comfortable bed which is rolled into a large metal tank. His head protrudes outside the tank resting on a pillow. A soft rubber collar fits around his neck. By means of an electrically driven pump and valves a very slight negative pressure is created within the tank, causing the air to rush into the patient's mouth and nose. The valves are turned over and air from the room passes into the tank. The change in pressure forces the air out of the lungs. This is kept up at the normal rate of breathing until the patient breathes by himself. It may also be used for a child, a special sized machine having been made. With the former method, when artificial respiration had been carried on for a few days the skin would be all rubbed off the patient's back and he would be in bad shape from the manipulation which was keeping breath in his lungs. Likewise the patient can be fed and otherwise cared for with the new device.

TEMPERATURE DETECTOR

An electric thermometer which can show the temperature of a vein, an organ or any cavity of the body was exhibited by Drs. Charles Sheard and R. F. Halstead of the Mayo Foundation. It represents a distinct advance in the development of scientific medicine, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Association Journal, said. The science of medicine has progressed so far that very fine physical measurements of a patient may be made. Where formerly the doctor put his hand on the patient's forehead and compared his temperature with the doctor's own, he now has not only the clinical thermometer, but also this new device that will tell the temperature of any part of the body. When an inflammation starts in one organ it may be possible to detect a rise in temperature of that organ before a general rise in the temperature of the whole body could be determined.

GAS-LEAK ALARM

Work with substances that will spread the alarm when a leak of poisonous, nonodorous gas occurs, was demonstrated by the United States Bureau of Mines. One of the substances developed, ethylmercaptan, has been used successfully in city gas distributing systems. One of the first calls after its installation was from the proprietor of a movie theater. He called the city gas company to complain of a bad odor that was driving all his patrons out of his theater. The odorous substance was warning him that one of his gas connections was leaking, he was told. A few grains of ionone, another gas detector exhibited, would produce an odor throughout an enormous office building. Nine pounds of the artificial musk shown would vaporize an entire city the size of Detroit.

STUDY OF MOLDS

Molds that gather on bread and cheese in damp cupboards, that spread over old leather and flourish on damp ground are elusive causes of asthma that should no longer be overlooked, Dr. Harry S. Bernton of the Georgetown University School of Medicine told the Association for the Study of Allergy. Dr. Bernton described his solution of a mysterious asthma case which had persisted for nine years and which was finally traced to sensitiveness to a type of mold found in ordinary dirt. The patient had lived for six years in a damp and musty brick house and presumably became sensitive to the breathing of mold-laden air. This case is only the second found in America traceable to molds. A study of the molds found in human noses and throats is now being made, Dr. Bernton said.

DOCTOR EXPRESS FEAR OF SOCIALIZATION

DETROIT, June 23. (AP)—The responsibility of the doctor to society and the problem of the growing socialization of the medical profession formed the principal topics of discussion at the initial session of the eighty-first convention of the American Medical Association here today.

Two high officers of the association, President M. K. Harris, M.D., and President-elect William Gerry Morgan, M.D., appeared before the delegates.

Dr. Harris made a plea for medical centers owned and controlled by the profession as a means of counteracting the growing tendency of State direction of doctors.

"Medicine," he said, "is being besieged on every side by forces that are constantly growing stronger and stronger, and unless some defensive effort is made to break the siege the profession eventually must capitulate and become socialized and physicians become employees of the State."

Dr. Harris advocated incorporation of county medical societies for business purposes with the establishment of centers for persons unable to pay the regular fees. Such centers should be controlled by the profession itself, he said.

Dr. Morgan warned members of the profession to protect themselves against exploitation by hospitals and argued that as the doctor contributes his bit to charity both as a citizen and as a taxpayer he should not be required to make a double contribution through hospitals. Physicians, he contended, are no more obliged to provide for the care of the indigent sick than their fellow-citizens.

JURY NAMES BROKER IN INDICTMENT

Tammany Leader and Also Actresses Found on List of Concern's Clients

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—A grand-jury indictment has been returned against Harold Russell Ryder, 35-year-old partner in Woody & Co., bankrupt brokerage firm. The indictment charges grand larceny in the first degree.

The firm failed last Thursday with losses estimated at from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. Ryder was indicted on complaint of John Vanneck of the Equitable Holding Corporation, who demanded accounting for $95,670 he asserted he gave the firm to buy stocks which never were delivered.

Tomorrow Ryder will go before a bankruptcy referee. It is expected that accountants will have discovered by that time how much of the $7,000,000 assets of Woody & Co. is left.

Among those whose names and phone numbers were found among Ryder's effects were John F. Curry, Tammany leader; Thomas F. McAndrews, secretary to Mayor Walker; Charles S. Hand, former secretary to the Mayor; Peggy Hopkins-Joyce and Betty Starbuck, Jean Ackerman and Irene Delroy, actresses. Miss Starbuck's mother said she and her daughter are old friends of Ryder.

Advisory Group Deliberation on Education Ends

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—Failing to agree on recommendations for a future policy of the Federal government toward education, the National Advisory Committee on Education has adjourned its executive session here without making a final report to Secretary Wilbur.

Dr. Charles R. Mann, chairman, said today the steering committee will meet September 14, next, to consider conflicting proposals, after which the general committee will be called into session.

The proposed recommendations were not made public. Some far-reaching changes in the relationship of the Federal government to education are being advocated, with the general sentiment of the committee for less governmental control over various educational agencies and for an increase in State and local administration.

The committee is composed of fifty-one outstanding educators.

BREAKFAST BLISS HELD FACTOR IN RAIL SAFETY

CHICAGO, June 23. (Exclusive) All family squabbles should be saved for evening, and not brought out at the breakfast table, is the advice of M. J. Flanigan, manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, to the wives of railroad men.

"Ham and eggs, garnished with smiles and pleasant words, make the kind of breakfast that prevents train wrecks," is No. 1 on a series of "safety first" menus suggested by Mr. Flanigan.

"A breakfast that fills a man's stomach with good food and leaves him in a contented frame of mind is ideal from the safety standpoint, for many an accident can be traced directly to family rows. Any man who goes to work without any breakfast, or who gulps his morning meal to the tune of a word battle with his wife is just three times as liable to bungle his work or confuse orders as the man who has had a good warm meal and is mentally at peace."

Tampa Girl Elevated to "Miss America" Rank

Texas Winner Accused of Having Been Divorced

San Diego Parent Wires Legal Action Threat

MIAMI (Fla.) June 23. (AP)—Miss Margaret Ekdahl, 18-year-old blond beauty of Tampa, Fla., was declared Miss America today by officials of the Miami International Beauty Pageant Association as they disqualified for ineligibility winners of first and second prizes in the contest last March.

Miss Ekdahl, who entered the contest as Miss Florida, won third place by the decision of judges at the time, and was automatically elevated to first place today as Miss Janet Eastment, who was Miss Texas, and Miss Alberta McKellop, who represented California, winner of first and second prizes, respectively, were officially disqualified.

DIVORCE CHARGED

G. A. Trice, president of the pageant association, announced after an open meeting of pageant officials that charges brought against Miss Eastment if Fort Worth, and Miss McKellop of San Diego, by R. B. Brossier, Orlando (Fla.) publisher, had been the basis for the disqualification.

Brossier appeared with formal charges that Miss Eastment had been married and divorced, and Miss McKellop had not been selected as Miss California by the people of that State.

WIRE THREATENS SUIT

Trice said he had submitted the charges to Miss Eastment and to Miss McKellop, with the demand Miss Eastment return to the pageant association the various awards to Miss America if the charges were true. He said he had not heard from her and he had not received the crown, silver loving cup nor the cash she had been given when she was acclaimed first-prize winner here the night of March 11, last.

The association president presented at the meeting a telegram from A. A. McKellop of San Diego threatening legal action if the officials removed Miss McKellop from second place.

Senate Committee Votes Restriction of Duty

Wants Time Spent on Liquor Enforcement Survey

Funds Limited to $50,000; Glass Bill Adopted

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—Restriction of the Hoover law enforcement commission to a study of prohibition alone was voted today by the Senate Appropriations Committee in limiting its fund for next year to $50,000 instead of the $250,000 asked by the administration.

The committee overwhelmingly adopted the amendment of Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, adding $50,000 to the second deficiency bill for the commission. The House eliminated the $250,000 fund on a point of order.

Chairman Jones was the sole member of the appropriations committee to vote against the Glass amendment and gave notice after the bill was reported to the Senate he will offer an amendment to increase the fund to $250,000 with authority to inquire generally into law enforcement as it has undertaken to do in the first year of its life.

The committee agreed also to give the commission $80,000 unexpended from its $250,000 fund of this year.

Senator Jones submitted the measure to the Senate today and plans to take it up tomorrow. It carries $70,000,000 to meet emergency needs in various sections of the country.

The Town House wishes you to know:

that we have received a most amusing letter which we think will interest readers of this column.

Our correspondent wished to know why, if the food in our Restaurant was so excellent, the service so satisfactory and the surroundings so beautiful, it was necessary for us to run this column, as he put it, "to advertise."

He thought, he said, if these high standards really existed it would be unnecessary for us to run this column.

He thereby implied a doubt.

In our reply we reminded him that Mr. Henry Ford makes excellent automobiles for the price at which he sells them, that the Bell Telephone Companies have quite a nice telephone service and that the New York Central runs some excellent trains—but none of it would be of any use unless we all knew about it.

We, therefore, for today, join forces with Mr. Henry Ford, the Bell Telephone Company and the New York Central Railroad in advertising our wares.

BRAKES URGED ON DAM FUNDS

Minority Report Filed by Arizona Senator

Hayden Asserts Los Angeles Makes No Guarantee

Action Started by Colter Causes No Fears

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 23. (Exclusive)—Asserting that a "solemn promise" to Congress that Los Angeles would be the principal guarantor for the return of the government's expenditure at Boulder Dam, had not been observed in the power contracts submitted by the Interior Department, Senator Hayden of Arizona today filed a minority report from the Senate Appropriations Committee protesting against the proposed $10,660,000 appropriation to get the Colorado River project under way.

It was the opening gun in the attack Hayden and his colleague, Senator Ashurst, will wage against the Boulder Dam item already approved by the House, when the second deficiency bill comes before the Senate tomorrow or Wednesday.

NO FEARS FOR SUIT

Simultaneously the suit brought by Fred T. Colter of Phoenix, former Arizona State Senator, charging "conspiracy" to deprive his State of its legal rights to the waters of the Colorado River, was filed here in the District of Columbia Supreme Court. It was sent in by mail.

Secretary Wilbur said tonight he had not been officially advised of the filing of the suit and intimated he did not regard it with alarm. The suit is not taken seriously by anyone in Washington conversant with Boulder Dam affairs, not even by the Arizona Senators. Colter's lone hand court action, however, is not to be confused with the suit which Arizona as a State threatens to bring in case the initial appropriation for Boulder Dam is granted by Congress. This suit, if it materializes, will be a more serious matter.

AMENDMENT PREPARED

Senator Hayden said today that when the Colorado River item is reached by the Senate he will offer his amendment, rejected by the Appropriations Committee, limiting the current outlay for the Boulder Dam development to $1,000,000 and specifying that this be spent in preliminary work only. He pointed out that the actual plans for the structure have not been completed and that the Interior Department has much preparatory work to do, such as surveying the railroad, highway to the dam site and setting up and testing the miniature model of the dam.

"I have no objection to further preliminaries," Hayden said, "and Senator Ashurst and I hope to be able to confine the appropriation at this time to such work."

Hayden believes that if Congress at this session withholds funds for actual construction the breathing spell will enable his State to get together with California on an amicable agreement as to the division of water and other points at issue between them.

CHANCES DISCOUNTED

There seems little chance that Hayden and Ashurst will be able to block the appropriation. Republican leaders in the Senate are prepared, if necessary, to slap on a cloture rule limiting debate on the deficiency bill, and if they have the votes to do this, as they apparently have, the Arizonans will be practically helpless. They will, however, make the best stand they can in an effort to sustain their State's opposition to the project.

Senator Hayden's minority report is largely a restatement of the arguments which Representative Douglas of Arizona used against the Boulder Dam appropriation in the House. The report follows:

"On behalf of the State of Arizona I recommend that the appropriation of $10,660,366 for the commencement of construction on the Boulder Canyon Dam and hydroelectric power plant be stricken from the bill for the following reasons.

"(1.) A solemn promise made in order to obtain the passage of the Boulder Canyon project act has not been kept. Congress was repeatedly assured that the city of Los Angeles would be the principal guarantor for the return of the money advanced by the Federal government for the construction of the Boulder Canyon project. That city has guaranteed nothing.

NOT ENFORCIBLE

"Something asserted to be 'just as good' has been substituted. Its Bureau of Power and Water has made a contract for lease of power privilege which it is freely confessed cannot be enforced against the city of Los Angeles. There is also good reason to justify the opinion that this contract cannot be enforced against the bureau. Congressmen should beware of substitutes and insist that no appropriation of money will be made until the original pledge is redeemed in every detail.

"(2.) The contract for lease of power privilege is made subject to the condition that it shall not go into effect until after Congress makes an appropriation of money to commence construction of Boulder Canyon Dam. There is testimony in the committee hearings to prove that this contract is so drawn that the private power companies in California will gain control of over one-half of the firm energy produced at Boulder Dam, and the major portion of the secondary energy.

FUND VOTE OPPOSED

"This requires an immediate decision as to whether it is advisable, for Congress to appropriate public money collected from taxpayers throughout the United States to produce cheap electric power which will be distributed at retail to consumers in one section of the country by private agencies for profit. Congress should not make the first appropriation to commence construction of Boulder Dam until this question has been thoroughly considered. Haste should be avoided because Congress has no power to abrogate a contract once made.

"(3.) Section 4 (A) of the Boulder Canyon Project Act authorizes an agreement or compact among the States of Arizona, California and Nevada, for an equitable division of the waters of the lower basin of the Colorado River. Arizona has in good faith diligently and earnestly endeavored to enter into such a compact. The commissioners representing that State have at no time sought to depart from the expressed intent of Congress with regard to the division of water which the act proposed.

NO DIVISION AGREED

"California has consistently and persistently refused to divide the waters of the Colorado River basin with Arizona. It is the intention of that State to avoid any agreement whatsoever with Arizona respecting an apportionment of water. Through the use of the money and the power of the Federal government that State hopes to gain control of all the waters of the Colorado River which can possibly be used in California and hold the same by right of prior appropriation.

"If the Federal government will only keep out of this controversy Arizona has no fear that California can gain any advantage over her. There is not water enough in the Colorado River to serve completely the needs of both States. Water is the chief factor which limits the growth of population and wealth in both Arizona and Southern California. Arizona asks to be assured of a fair share of the water in the manner proposed by Congress in the Boulder Canyon Project Act. Until California is willing to do what Congress has thus indicated should be done, no appropriation should be made to commence construction of Boulder Dam. Federal funds and Federal influences should not be used to confer benefits on one State to the detriment of another."

Howard Resolution Asks Halt on Prophecies by High Officials

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP) A resolution requesting Speaker Longworth to ask President Hoover and Secretary Mellon at once "to refrain from uttering any more prophetic warnings that the bejeweled goddess of prosperity in her ship with silken sails is in the offing" was introduced today by Representative Howard, the long-haired Democrat from Nebraska.

The recent "well-meant prophetic utterances" of the President and the Secretary, the resolution says, have resulted in lower prices for farm products.

COMMUNIST QUIZ PLANS DISCLOSED

Fall Drive Reports and Financing Scheduled For House Group Attention

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—Representative Bachmann, Republican, West Virginia, said today he believes the House Communist Committee will look into reports from Berlin that American Communists plan extensive propaganda in this country next September.

In the absence of Chairman Fish, who was in New York City, the West Virginia committee member said it will endeavor to determine where the Communists procure funds to disseminate propaganda in this country.

The committee has set July 15, next, as a tentative date on which to begin hearings in New York City, where representatives of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, the unofficial soviet commercial agency in this country, are to be heard.

ICELAND MARKS ITS MILLENNIUM

All Nation Rides to Attend "Great Thing"

Parliament Survives Stress of Thousand Years

Visitors from Entire World Gather in Tribute

REYKJAVIK (Iceland) June 23. (Exclusive)—From the most remote corners of Iceland farmers yesterday started riding as their ancestors did 1000 years ago to the "Great Thing"—the Assembly—which opens at Thingvellir, where the Iceland Parliament sat for 900 years, next Thursday and continues for three days.

Twenty thousand persons, including 3000 or 4000 foreign visitors and returned Icelandic emigrants and their descendants are expected to be present. Many tents have been erected in which the visitors will live as the old Icelanders lived when the "Thing" was in session. Today the tents are of canvas, while in the old days the booths were built of sod.

FROM ALL ICELAND

From Akureyri in the extreme north more than 200 men are expected to ride into Thingvellir. Many are expected from Seydifjord in the east and large groups are coming from Hornafjord, under the great Vatna glacier, as well as from the Westman Isles to the south and the desolate Bardastrandur to the northwest. Some will cross dangerous highlands, barren of vegetation and most of them will carry their own food and supplies.

Every man has two ponies at least, one to ride on and one on which to pack food and blankets. The stages are so arranged that the travelers may sleep at farms and in barns along the way.

MILLENNIUM HERE

The "Great Thing" is being held to celebrate the thousandth anniversary of its foundation in 930 by the hardy Norse chiefs who a few years before had left Norway rather than submit to the rule of King Harald the Fair-Haired. Before long they found the need for some national organization and called the "Great Thing," at which it was decided there would be no king for Iceland, but that all men should be equal and meet as equals at the "Thing," which was named Althing, to distinguish it from local assemblies.

The original "Thing" was a court as well as a parliament, but the Althing now is only a parliament, leaving the administration of the laws it makes to the courts.

ALIENS ATTEND

On Thursday afternoon representatives of foreign governments will deliver addresses from the Logberg—the rock from which the laws were proclaimed in the old days—and Senator Norbeck of South Dakota will deliver a message of greeting from the United States. Senator Norbeck and Representative O. B. Burtness of North Dakota yesterday were guests at a picnic given by Sigvard Puetursson, leading Icelandic woolen manufacturer, at the Alefoss mills, where he has set up a public athletic park with a warm lake, heated by natural hot springs, for swimming.

The government today forbade the sale of alcoholic liquor of any kind until July 1. Not even wine, which ordinarily is permitted, will be sold during the week of celebration.

"CHARLEY" DAWES VISITS HIS FORMER OFFICE BOY

MILWAUKEE, June 23. (AP)—Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Ambassador to England, became plain "Charley" Dawes yesterday as he tiptoed into a sanatorium here to visit Francis Kilkenney, his office boy of more than 35 years ago.

Dawes came from Chicago for a chat with the man, now 45 years of age, who had grown up in service with him. Kilkenney obtained his first job when Dawes was Comptroller of the Currency during President McKinley's administration.

The lad became an ardent partisan of his patron and followed him through to the Vice-Presidency. Then Kilkenney's health broke and he became an inmate of the Sacred Heart Sanatorium.

For more than an hour Dawes and Kilkenney dwelt in the past. They talked of the days under McKinley, of their war experiences together, when the young Kilkenney Irishman became a lieutenant and aide to Dawes, and of the campaign that boosted Dawes to the Vice-President's chair.

"Francis is coming over to see me this summer, when his health improves," Dawes said as he left.

The complaint charged "in furtherance of a conspiracy" the defendants placed a bomb in the Royal Theater early on the morning of the 1st inst. and that the bomb exploded, causing extensive damage."

NUDE SECT DRIVEN INTO CLOTHES BY CHEMICALS

NELSON (B. C.) June 23. (AP)—A disinfectant sprayed by police upon twenty-six men and women of the radical "Sons of Freedom" sect of Doukhobors was effective in forcing them to resume their clothing after force and moral suasion on the part of both conservative Doukhobors and police had failed to quell a nude demonstration at Brilliant, B. C., yesterday.

The radicals disrobed on the highway and the police were called in after the community Doukhobors failed in attempts to clothe them. The chemical warfare of the police quickly ended the disturbance, and the community Doukhobors transported the demonstrators to a camp about a mile from the main settlement.

The Doukhobors are immigrants from Russia who live in agricultural communities in various parts of Western Canada. All property is held by the community. The "Sons of Freedom" are a radical wing of the otherwise peaceful, quiet religious sect.

INDIAN COLONISTS' TENURE ASSURED

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The Senate bill to authorize the appropriation of $1000 for the purchase of ten acres of land from the Ely Securities Company, Ely, Nev., for an Indian colony which has lived there through several years, was passed by the House today and sent to the President. The bill also carries authority for the expenditure of $600 to connect the camp with the city water service.

CAIRO CHAMBER DEFIES ORDERS

Parliamentary Session Held Despite Government

CAIRO, June 23. (AP)—Defying a government order against a Parliamentary session, members of the Chamber and Senate broke through police this afternoon and forced open the barred doors to hold a sitting.

The government had ordered a scheduled session postponed when parliamentary leaders were not able to give assurances no speeches would be made after the reading of a decree suspending Parliament.

Strong forces of police were thrown about the Parliamentary building but Deputies and Senators broke through.

FIRST IN THE NATION

As one who, plodding upward along a rugged path, suddenly finds himself upon a commanding height, Pacific States Savings finds itself today in a position of pre-eminence in its field . . . the largest among 13,000 building and loan associations from the Atlantic to the Pacific seaboard.

Our pride in the fact is natural. We may justifiably assume that California shares this pride, for it has thus acquired leadership in one important segment of the national financial structure, which safeguards more than eight billion dollars of the national wealth. And the state finds evidence of its basic prosperity in our unabated growth which is being contributed to by the steadily mounting savings of thousands of citizens.

But to over-stress our attainment would be to obscure the very principles of soundness that Pacific States Savings has always believed to be the life and essence of every worthy guardian of people's funds and recipient of public confidence.

We have at no time had size-dominance as a primary objective, but our aim has been an orderly progress along the path laid out by Pacific States Savings' founders 41 years ago.

Their creed was simple . . . "The safety of our savers' funds must be our first consideration." In following this creed through the years, in setting up and rigidly maintaining such safeguards as would make this creed not words but fact, we have gained ever-increasing confidence from those who appreciate unswerving conservatism. Today one person out of 63 throughout the length and breadth of the state is our customer. This acceptance, perhaps greater than any yet enjoyed by a building and loan association, has made us First in the Nation.

We interpret First in the Nation not as a fact of size . . . but as a pledge of conduct . . . a pledge to continue to be First in STRENGTH AND SAFETY . . . those homely but vital virtues that make for real greatness in an institution for savings.

'round the town with don herold

EVERY woman wants her man dolled out in flannel trousers, sport clothes, a sport coat, bright tie, and a Panama.

Well, boys, we might as well give them a little fun.

Helen and the kids have been nagging at me for weeks to go festive. I'm slipping. By the Fourth of July I'll probably be the gayest looking guy in Los Angeles.

The Fourth makes a good excuse . . . three days of loiling and loafing . . . a little vacation in itself. Then, a little later, comes the big vacation. Yes, men, the time has come for flannel pants and such.

I DON'T like the word "problem." It's overused, especially in advertising.

"Let us solve your pancake problem."

"Let us solve your collar-button problem."

"Let us solve your cuticle problem."

But there is one problem that darned near is a problem, and that's the gift problem. When I have to give somebody a gift, I begin to go 'round in circles, wondering what.

(The Rockefellers probably have to use more brains giving their money away than they did, making it.)

So there is really a big need for a big store like Parmelee-Dohrmann's which makes a specialty of solving gift—er—problems. Pardon the word.

Instead of stewing and squirming when a wedding or birthday or other gift-occasion comes along, go to Parmelee-Dohrmann's and look around with your big eyes. Four floors of gifts sparkle at you and scintillate suggestions. Your gift "problem" becomes a shopping lark.

ONE way to sell things is to sell something else. For example, the Listerine people sell tooth paste by telling you about the yacht you can buy with the money you save by buying Listerine tooth paste. They sell tooth paste by selling yachts.

Arch Preserver golf shoes could be sold not only as shoes—but as 7 points, say, off your golf score.

One man recently told Gude's that Arch Preservers had cut his golf score down 8 or 10 points by eliminating fatigue in the latter part of his game. He doesn't start to go haywire on the tenth hole.

Incidentally, Arch Preserver sport shoes for men and women look—swell!

"SOMEBODY certainly took all the fumbles out of this car," said Helen, referring to our new Marmon big straight-8.

"What do yah mean—fumbles?"

"I don't have to fumble around unscrewing a greasy windshield-wiper valve screw—all I do is touch a button for each of the two wipers.

"And I don't have to fumble around with my foot for the starter, scuffing my shoes and shins. It works by hand on the steering wheel, and easily too.

"I don't have to fumble to wind the clock—it's electric—doesn't ever have to be wound.

"I don't have to fumble to find my key or handkerchief if I drop it—the floor is lighted from the dash. The ventilators, too, are the non-fumble type.

"Somebody who understands women helped design this car."

"Somebody who understands men designed the motor," I shot back. "It's a man's motor, all right. I don't have to fumble with the accelerator to get power out of it."

"Well, it's nice we're both satisfied!" glowed Helen.

Here again next Tuesday.

FOLGER RICHES FOR MEMORIAL

He Leaves $10,000,000 for Shakespearean Project

Washington Building Started by Standard Oil Magnate

Other Funds Will Diffuse Knowledge to Nation

NEW YORK, June 23. (Exclusive) Terms of the will of Henry Clay Folger, who retired in 1928 as chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Company of New York, which disposes of an estate estimated at between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 were announced today by attorneys for the estate.

After providing for annuities totaling $90,000 for his widow and her relatives and other bequests totaling $325,000 to relatives, Folger left the remainder of his property as a gift to the nation for the promotion and diffusion of knowledge in regard to Shakespeare, stipulating that not less than $10,000,000 is to go for maintaining the "Folger Shakespeare Memorial" now building in Washington, D. C.

The oil magnate before his death on the 12th inst., in his seventy-fourth year, purchased a plot in the national capital and had begun the erection of a fireproof building in Tudor Gothic style in harmony with the Congressional Library and the United States Supreme Court Building, to house his rare collection of Shakespearean and Elizabethan literature.

The administration of the memorial fund is entrusted to the trustees of Amherst College, of which Folger was an alumnus.

WOMAN ARRESTED FOUND EX-CONVICT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (AP)—Mary McGrew, arrested several days ago on a grand-theft charge following the suicide of William Foley, her asserted victim, was revealed today by San Francisco police as Agnes Keller, who was sentenced several years ago on a grand-larceny charge in San Diego and later paroled. Foley in a farewell note accused Mrs. McGrew. Police say she had obtained about $800 from Foley and some lots in Santa Fe Springs. Before her sentence to San Quentin prison, police said, she operated a rooming-house in San Diego. One of her roomers there was her victim, they said.

ORTIZ RUBIO CLIPS WINGS OF AVIATORS

Long Distance Trip Ban Will Prevent Fierro From Going on With Hops

MEXICO CITY, June 23. (AP)—President Ortiz Rubio today issued a formal order forbidding military aviators from engaging in long-distance flights.

The President said he has decided that no more Mexican flyers will be permitted to risk their lives in perilous flights having no specific purpose.

The order includes Col. Roberto Fierro, who was forbidden to continue his flight to South America, Africa and Europe.

President Ortiz Rubio said he had contemplated cancellation of Col. Fierro's flight before its start from New York but that inasmuch as all arrangements had been completed he decided to allow the venturesome flyer to complete the first stage of his sensational air voyage.

The President said, however, that he has come to the conclusion it is unnecessary for Col. Fierro to continue his trip since he merely would be repeating what already has been done by aviators of other nations.

The Mexican Chief Executive said henceforth the ability and courage of the republic's pilots will be used in more practical manner.

He said the gulf and Pacific Coast lines should be watched with more vigilance to prevent smuggling and illicit fishing. He also stated flyers will be used to better purpose in surveying and assisting scientific expeditions.

Cripple Slays Wealthy Man

SHELTON (Wash.) June 23. (AP)—Sol S. Reed, 28 years of age, son of Mark E. Reed, wealthy lumberman and prominent in State politics, was shot to death here late today by Arnold George, 35, who traveled from a hospital half a block to the scene of the shooting in a wheel chair.

Reed, who was standing on the lawn at the home of his brother Ralph, was shot four times in the abdomen by George, who then sent a bullet through his own brain.

The slayer had been a patient at the Shelton Hospital for the past twenty months, due to a leg amputation after being crippled in a lumber camp accident. George is said to have been hurt in one of the Reed lumber camps.

Oil Brings Rise in Acre Values

HANFORD, June 23.—During the trial of the case of A. E. Russell vs. T. H. Rougeot, involving oil lands in San Luis Obispo county, near the lease of the Elberta Oil Company, it was stated today by L. S. Suverkrop, a petroleum engineer, that the twenty-acre tract on which the Elberta well is located is worth $300,000, while adjoining lands are worth from $300 to $500 an acre. Attorney M. C. Gallaher, representing the oil company, challenged his ability to determine the production of oil through an examination which the witness said he made yesterday between the hours of 3 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The case is one of several which have grown out of differences between minority stockholders and directors of the Pismo Dome Corporation and Elberta Oil Company.

Science Makes Fireproof Wood

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—A safety wood which exhales its own fire extinguisher was exhibited here today by Prof. Albin H. Beyer of the Columbia University testing laboratories.

A two-inch-thick door of the wood held back smoke and flames six times as long as did a metal-covered door. The protective moisture is a secret chemical preparation, Dr. Beyer explained, which is produced right on the surface of the wood.

LAMONT UNABLE TO ATTEND HEARING

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York, has advised Chairman McFadden of the House Banking Committee he will be unable to appear tomorrow before the committee on the McFadden resolution to prohibit Federal Reserve and national banks from purchasing German reparation bonds, McFadden announced, however, Secretary Mellon and Undersecretary Cotton of the State Department will testify. Mellon is to appear Wednesday. The resolution would prohibit the purchase by the banks of any of the $100,000,000 of German reparation bonds.

AGRARIAN PLAN CALLED FAILURE

Calles Regrets Land Policy Adopted in Mexico

Says System Fails to Solve Problems for Peons

Great Sum Paid Americans on Interest Cited

MEXICO CITY, June 23. (Exclusive)—Former President Plutarco Elias Calles considers Mexico's agrarian policy, that of granting land expropriated from its owners to peons, a failure, according to an interview with Mexico's "strong man" published in El Universal.

Calles is quoted as follows:

"If we want to be sincere with ourselves, we, the sons of the revolution, must confess that agrarianism, as we have understood it and carried it out to date, is a failure. The happiness of the farmers does not consist in giving them a piece of land if they lack preparation and the necessary elements to cultivate it. In this way we carry them to disaster because we encourage laziness in them and create pretensions.

BEAR 5 PER CENT INTEREST

To date land grants have been given right and left but all they have produced for the nation is an awful promise, Calles is quoted as having said. The statement adds that since the agrarian bonds bear interest at 5 per cent Mexico soon will have given to American bankers a sum equal to the value of the republic's land.

Calles said the nation's agrarian debt totals 1,500,000,000 pesos of which only 15,000,000 has been issued in bonds with all the bonds in the hands of American bankers.

"What will happen when we complete the emission of the bonds?" Calles asked. "It is easy to predict. We have an example in Nicaragua."

Speaking in such a manner, Gen. Calles explained, is not treason to the revolutionary government but rather it is sincerely and honestly confronting the sad reality of the matter.

An immediate remedy to the situation is necessary, Calles believes, and the first thing to be done is to have state take inventory of what remains to be done to complete its agrarian program and then fix a brief term in which those eligible to land grants can claim them.

YUCATAN CASE CITED

The former President cited the state of Yucatan where only henequen fibre is grown and where he said agrarian policy is disastrous because growers must wait seven years before henequen plants produce, and recipients of dotations cannot wait that long with the result that the United States began seeking other fiber markets.

Another reason for failure of the agrarian system, according to Calles, is that often dotations go to Communists or to insolvent and unprepared persons. Since Mexico's banks intended for the help of agriculturists attended first the high finances of the country, second the agricultural situation and third the wants of the small farmer these have not remedied the situation.

Calles ended by saying "For this reason I am ambitious with all my love of Mexico and will all my faith in the revolution that the agrarian problem should be ended, not because of a regression of principles, but to consolidate once for always our national economy in which rests the future of our country."

Blaze Peril Vital Issue in Ballot Today

FRESNO, June 23.—With two groups conducting vigorous campaigns for and against annexation of a large area in East Fresno, voters of the district, comprising approximately forty city blocks, will go to the polls tomorrow to decide the question.

Fire protection is the principal issue. Opponents of the move seek establishment of an independent fire district and the refusal of the Fire Department to assist two weeks ago when four houses were destroyed with a loss of approximately $20,000 is cited as one of the arguments for the fire district.

Annexation proponents contend that city fire protection would be cheaper. There are 450 registered voters in the district.

Young Predicts Early Start on Bay City Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (AP)—Gov. Young, opening his campaign for re-election here at a luncheon, today declared the proposed San Francisco Bay bridge connecting San Francisco and Oakland will be a practical reality within the next four years.

Gov. Young said that bridge surveys and studies under way are "most encouraging" and predicted early agreement on a bridge site between representatives of local interests and the Army and Navy.

He declared himself in accord with the proposal of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors to make the bridge project a public enterprise.

ELEMENTS IN TURKEY FOES TO MODERNISM

ISTANBUL (Turkey) June 23. (AP) A cloudburst at Angora yesterday destroyed in a half an hour much of what the Kemalists had accomplished in seven years toward modernization. The torrential rain tore up miles of new roads and sidewalks in the ancient city, destroyed the villa of the President of the National Assembly and flooded the model dwellings of many Deputies. The children's playgrounds, operated by Americans, were washed away.

Misrepresentation Decried at Convention

Los Angeles Man Picked for President

Election Today at Spokane to be Formality

SPOKANE, June 23. (AP)—Better business bureaus and advertising are "children of the same father—necessity," Kenneth Barnard, manager of the Detroit Better Business Bureau and president of the Affiliated Better Business Bureaus of the United States and Canada, told the Pacific Advertising Clubs Association at the convention today.

Attacking misrepresentation in advertising and describing the role played by better business bureaus, Barnard said that it is not so much the aim of bureaus to drive fraud out of advertising as it is to drive facts into it.

Herman A. Nater, Los Angeles, was nominated for the presidency of the association, and as he, as were other nominees, was unopposed, the election tomorrow will be a formality.

Other nominees are: Miss Leila Arnold, Seattle, vice-president-at-large; vice-president, Roy Hunter, Vancouver; Joyce L. Cundeff, Walla Walla, Wash.; H. B. Robinson, Portland; L. E. Townsend, San Francisco, and Sydney Conklin, Long Beach.

Webb Harrison, Seattle, was awarded the prize in the three-minute speaking contest which was a feature of the convention. Other winners were: Lindsley H. Spikes, San Francisco, second; Mrs. Evelyn Young, Portland, third, and E. J. Murphy, Los Angeles, fourth.

Howard's Party Returns After Galapagos Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (AP)—Charles S. Howard, San Francisco automobile magnate, and a party of friends have returned here in his new 168-foot yacht Aras after a two months' cruise among the Galapagos Islands.

Two flamingos, a rare blue-footed booby bird, a honey bear and a baby monkey were among the passengers and will be given to the Steinhart Aquarium in Golden Gate Park and the Fleishhacker Zoo.

Howard told of finding Dr. Charles Ritter, Berlin back-to-nature exponent, and his woman companion on one of the islands. Howard said Dr. Ritter apparently is homesick for civilization, but his companion seems willing enough to stay there indefinitely.

Rotarians See Tableaux Depict Story of Ideals

CHICAGO, June 23. (AP)—The receptions accorded ideals of Rotary International in sixty-two nations of the world were depicted in a series of tableaux tonight at the Chicago Stadium in view of more than 15,000 visiting Rotarians and their friends.

The program was the first of a series arranged for the entertainment of delegates to the organization's silver jubilee.

Prominent in the discussions of work to be carried out was a proposal forwarded by Secretary Wilbur of the Interior Department to enlist world-wide Rotary co-operation in a campaign to reduce illiteracy among the various nations.

Sheep Shearers Hurt in Spill

TEHACHAPI, June 23.—E. Holgun was painfully injured and his companions, Joe Contras and F. Nunux, were bruised when the automobile in which they were driving east from this city overturned at 1:30 a.m. today.

The three men had been shearing sheep in this district. They had spent the evening here and were returning to their camp when the accident occurred. Holgun was badly cut about the face and legs, while Nunux and Contras escaped with minor injuries.

COMMUNISTS REPORT 1,800,000 MEMBERS

MOSCOW, June 23. (AP)—Membership of the Communist party in the first quarter of 1930 increased by 221,000, bringing the present strength of the party to 1,800,000. The figures allow for about 150,000 members recently expelled for deviating from party policies or failure to observe strict standards of conduct and living prescribed by the control commission. Forty-eight per cent of the membership are factory workers.

HALF-MILLION TO BE SPENT FOR BUILDINGS

BAKERSFIELD, June 23.—Building projects involving more than $500,000 are in progress here, giving an optimistic tone to the outlook for business and employment here through the summer months. Seven large projects are now under construction. Several school projects throughout the county and other work for which contracts have not yet been awarded will materially increase the total.

FOREIGN PUPILS FORM PROBLEM

One-Sixth of State Scholars Non-English-Speaking

Special Training Class For Teachers Instituted

Los Angeles County Houses Third of Total

SACRAMENTO, June 23. (AP)—One out of every six children enrolled in the public schools of California comes from a home in which the English language is not spoken, it was revealed in figures made public today by Miss Helen Heffernan, chief of the division of rural education, State Education Department.

This problem is to be met by State school authorities through the inauguration of a special course of study for beginning non-English-speaking children, she said. The handicap borne by this group of children was shown by the fact that the average first-grade pupil has an English vocabulary ranging from 300 to 2500 words, Miss Heffernan pointed out.

NEARLY HALF HERE

In Los Angeles county alone 70,000 such children are enrolled in the public schools, and seven Southern California counties include half of the total enrollment of the State, which numbers approximately 200,000.

Four conferences have been held by Miss Heffernan in Southern California on the problem with the aid of rural school supervisors, and a course of study now is practically worked out. Miss Heffernan will direct a group of teachers at the University of California during the summer session in the teaching of non-English-speaking children and definite guidance, in the form of printed material, will be available from the State Department of Education for the next school year.

EDUCATOR GOES EAST

Miss Heffernan left today for Columbus, O., to attend the sixty-eighth convention of the National Education Association, in which she holds the office of president of the department of rural education.

Miss Heffernan is the first member of any State department of education to hold the office and the first educator from the western part of the United States to be thus honored. The meeting will be devoted to a consideration of progressive teaching practice applied to the rural education system.

SENIOR GIRLS ALL REDHEADS

Locks of Van Nuys Girls Run From White Gold to Brick Dust

VAN NUYS, June 23.—There is nothing to differentiate the senior class of the Van Nuys High School from the other graduation classes that are holding forth just now, except that all the forty-one girls are red-headed, save one, a brunette, and even she has glints of bronze in her tresses.

Commencement exercises will be conducted tomorrow night in the school auditorium. The preponderance of auburn and Titian locks was noticed yesterday when the entire graduation class and the school's glee clubs conducted the vesper exercises that always precede commencement each year.

The head of the single brunette on the stage stood out like a polka dot on a background of gold.

"There are ten different shades of red hair on the heads of the girls this year," said one of the school's art teachers at the exercises yesterday. "Even the lone brunette isn't wholly so. The range of red hair runs from white gold to brick dust color."

OFFICER IN HARD LUCK ON HIGHWAY

Flags Motorist With One Headlight; Struck Down by Another; in Hospital

MONTEBELLO, June 23.—Motor Officer Marquis L. Peek, of this city, is in the Belvedere Gardens Hospital with severe cuts about the head and a wrenched back as the result of being run down last night at Whittier Boulevard and Greenwood avenue.

Peek and Officer Leland Olmstead, his partner, were watching heavy traffic when a machine with only one headlight approached. Peek flagged down the car with his flashlight and started walking up the road to where it had stopped, when he was hit by a small sedan driven by Henry Pergin, 324 West Twenty-seventh street, Los Angeles. Pergin was not held and, during the excitement, the driver of the lightless car drove away.

Peek is not married and lives here with his mother, Mrs. O. M. Peek, at 224 North Fourth street.

Judge Reed Up for Re-election

COVINA, June 23.—Judge Thomas B. Reed, for twelve years justice of the peace for Covina township, will seek re-election for another four-year term at the August primaries.

Judge Reed is a native son, Covina being his birthplace, and was educated in local schools. His father is Dr. W. A. Reed, pioneer resident here. He was first elected to the bench in the August primaries of 1918. Instead of taking office in January, 1919, as is customary, he assumed the duties of justice of the peace in October, 1918, having been appointed to complete the unexpired term of Judge Dailey Stafford, who resigned to enlist in the Army.

In June of 1927, he was assigned by the judicial Council to fill a vacancy on the municipal bench of Los Angeles. He served more than two years in this capacity, handling mostly traffic cases. During this appointment the Covina township court was handled by Judge Durrell of Azusa.

VAN NUYS TEACHER TO BE TRAVEL LECTURER

VAN NUYS, June 23.—Jehiel S. Davis, science teacher at the Van Nuys High School, departs this week for Ann Arbor, Mich., with his family for the summer. Thence he will sail for Europe via Montreal, to return in August. Davis will visit five European countries as a lecturer for a tour sponsored by a large group of students. He is a fluent linguist.

APRICOT CROP MOVES SOON

Ventura County Fruit Valued at $1,500,000 This Season Will Be Harvested Early Next Month

VENTURA, June 20.—Harvesting of Ventura county's $1,500,000 apricot crop is to start in July, according to information furnished today by Vincent F. Blanchard, County Farm Adviser. The season, which will last from five to six weeks, will begin in the interior sections of the county—the Santa Ana Valley, the Upper Ojai, the Simi Valley, and the east end of the Santa Clara Valley. Later the harvesting will move toward the coast.

Length of the season depends upon the weather. In event of hot weather, the season will be short, and if climatic conditions are cool the season will be prolonged.

Most of the apricot orchards in the county now are heavily laden with small fruit, due to the small amount of thinning of trees that ranchers have been doing throughout the year. The crop is estimated as being very good.

Ranchers are planning to use all the local labor that is available for the harvesting, but when the season gets in full swing it will be necessary to import workers from the south, mostly Los Angeles, as the local supply will not be large enough.

Ventura county ranks second in California in apricot acreage, Blanchard declared. Santa Clara county, with 17,840 acres, is first, while Ventura county's 8300 acres give it second honors.

No price quotations are being made by the buyers yet. Last year the buyers quoted prices too high, and this year, while they now are here looking over the prospects, they are keeping quiet about prices.

GIRL'S BODY RECOVERED FROM RIVER

Josephine Escarcega Loses Life While Bathing Near Santa Paula

SANTA PAULA, June 23.—When she stepped into a deep hole while bathing in a pool in the Santa Clara River near here yesterday afternoon, Josephine Escarcega, 16 years of age, went under the surface and her body was not recovered until nearly two hours after she had disappeared.

Police and others who were called to the scene by witnesses, dived time after time into the muddy waters but could not locate the body. It was finally found by Officer Luther Williams who floated on the surface of the pool on a raft probing the depths with a long grappling pole.

When the girl was brought to the surface Dr. William Felberbaum and Assistant Fire Warden Pyle administered artificial respiration but nothing could be done to bring life back to the young Mexican girl.

At the inquest today a verdict of accidental drowning was returned by the jury.

Chicks Have Beards Like Billy Goat's

NORTH LOS ANGELES, June 23. A. W. Huskins, a chicken fancier here with a leaning toward Japanese silkies, has produced a new strain with beards.

Some time ago he noticed a "sport" specimen among his flock. The chicken had regular billy-goat whiskers. A strain gradually has been developed from the bird.

When Huskins attended a new hatch in his barnyard yesterday all the little chicks popped out of the shells with whiskers under their tiny bills.

Business Men of Covina Elect Custer Leader

COVINA, June 23. — Considered one of the liveliest organizations in the city, the Covina Business Men's Association organized last year as an aid to business men, achieved an extensive program of activity during its first season, and today announces Clyde C. Custer, well-known business man here, as its new president, succeeding Irven G. Reynolds.

Reynolds was renamed to the directorate as vice-president and Ray W. Nichols was re-elected as secretary and treasurer.

To cope with the rush of outside solicitors, advertising programs and other schemes encountered every day by local business men, Reynolds urges that all such persons be referred to the secretary, who will turn them over to the secret advertising committee for investigation.

The committee of three members is known only to the president and secretary of the association, Reynolds stated, and the precautionary method is expected to prove a great benefit to local merchants.

Woman Cites Octogenarian for Assault

SANTA ANA, June 23.—On a complaint sworn to by Mrs. Eva Dunn, 40 years of age, who told authorities that she was the victim of an attempted attack, James E. Beeson, 82, Long Beach resident and Orange county rancher, was being held in the County Jail today.

Mrs. Dunn told Dep. Dist.-Atty. Preston Turner that the attempted assault took place when Beeson recently invited her on an automobile ride. Beeson lives at 1510 Appleton avenue, Long Beach, and is said to own a ranch in this county.

Ventura Lions Elect Officers

VENTURA, June 23. — Rodney Putnam, local grocer, will head the Ventura Lions' Club during the coming year. Election of officers was the order of the business of the directors' dinner meeting at Pierpont Inn.

Julius Hirschfelder was elected first vice-president; Don McMillan, second vice-president; Martin Jensen, third vice-president; Webster Bernhardt re-elected secretary and treasurer; Lou Rose, lion tamer, and Fred W. Smith, tail twister.

The new board was elected last week and the newly elected officers will be installed the first meeting in July.

PLAYGROUND PREPARED

MANHATTAN BEACH, June 23. Installation of children's playground equipment, at various points on the beach here, will be begun this week under the supervision of Mrs. Florence Lewis Scott of Los Angeles. The playground program for this beach and for El Porto will conform to that of other Los Angeles county controlled beaches of which system all of the beach at this point is a part.

CROSSINGS CORRECTION PLAN GIVEN

Santa Fe Submits to City Directors of Pasadena Its Program for Project

PASADENA, June 23.—The Santa Fe Railway today submitted to the Board of City Directors its proposed plan for elimination of the forty-two grade crossings formed by its tracks here, thus taking a major step toward meeting the two-year demand of motorists for safety.

Involving an estimated expenditure of $6,900,000, the plan proposes that the right of way be separated from intersecting thoroughfares by elevation from Glen Arms street to California street, by depression from California street to Hill avenue, and by elevation from Hill avenue to the Lamanda Park section, extending over the Eaton Canyon wash at the eastern limits of the city. It proposes further that the present single tracks be supplanted by double tracks the entire length of the right of way, a distance approximating six miles. The program also includes provision for a new passenger depot and improved freight-handling facilities. Two years will be required for the work, the plan predicts.

Financial aspects of the project show the railway company stands prepared to assume $4,200,000 of the total cost, leaving a balance of $2,700,000 to be borne by the city alone or jointly by the city and county.

Following the conference, at which the Santa Fe was represented by W. K. Etter, general manager of the Company's coast lines; M. C. Blanchard, chief engineer, and Robert Brennan, chief counsel; Robert L. Daugherty, chairman of the city board, stated the plan had met with the board's approval. It appears well worked out, Daugherty said, but the financial problem involved will have to be studied before any definite action can be taken, there being no municipal funds in sight for the project. It is likely, he added, that the county will be asked to contribute, and possible, too, that the State will be requested to divert a portion of its gasoline-tax funds to the improvement.

Dr. Moncado at Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, June 23.—Making a State-wide tour of branches in preparation for the State convention of the organization, scheduled to open on July 3 at Santa Maria, Dr. Hilario C. Moncado, president of the Filipino Federation of America, inspected the local unit of the organization in this city today.

Dr. Moncado will call upon the San Bernardino branch tomorrow and on successive days he will visit Pasadena, San Fernando, El Centro, Fresno, and San Diego, departing on the 30th inst. for Santa Maria, where he is scheduled to deliver two public addresses on the Philippines in connection with the convention sessions of a week.

FRIENDS CHURCH GIVEN COUNSEL

Speaker Stresses Need for Creative Christianity

Prof. Walter J. Homan Talks Before Yearly Meeting

Final Business of Gathering Concluded Today

WHITTIER, June 23.—Prof. Walter J. Homan, head of the department of religious education at Whittier College, was the principal speaker today before the thirty-sixth annual session of the California yearly meeting of Friends Church, which convened here Wednesday, and will close tomorrow. Dr. Homan took for his subject "Creative Christian Education."

PROF WALTER J. HOMAN

The sessions of the meeting which have been held mornings, afternoons and evenings, have been featured by a spirit of harmony and friendly co-operation, and have been attended by a large representation from the twenty-nine churches and missions maintained by the Friends Church in California. There is a membership of more than 5800, forming the California yearly meeting.

FINAL BUSINESS TODAY

Tomorrow will see the final business for the year transacted. Much interest centers in the evangelistic and church extension program, as the Quakers are noted for their interest in evangelism.

Delegates will be appointed tomorrow to attend the five-year meeting, to be held next year in Richmond, Ind. As the name implies, the meetings are held once in five years, and delegates from the various Friends churches in the United States will attend.

In his address Dr. Homan said, in part:

"The religious educational program, today, needs to be more creative. Too long has the church been concerned with the mere memorization and repetition of Biblical facts; dry mechanics of organization, and creeds. To be of value, facts, organizations and creeds must enter the thoughts of folk, and lead them to a life of the Christ ideal.

"As we trace the history of America we find two powerful principles in operation. These are religious freedom and public education. Because of the growth of education and the school systems, together with the secularization of public education, the responsibility of teaching religion rests upon the home and the church.

CHALLENGE TO HOME

"The family not only creates the child, physically and mentally, but it is responsible for his foundations in morals, social relations and religion. Modern psychologists are telling us that the first three years of the child's life are of supreme importance. In this there is a great challenge to the home.

"The church needs to think in terms of a program of creative Christian education. Creative in the sense that it develops new and practical ways of applying the Christ ideal in the problems of life. Christian, by the acceptance of Christ's way of life. Educational, by the application of the principles of modern education to the teaching of religion. Religious education cannot be designated as the duty of a single committee of the church. All committees of the church should correlate their program into a creative Christian education."

Rites for Miss Wallace Today

SAN DIEGO, June 23.—Funeral services for Peaches Wallace, 19-year-old local aviatrix and glider pilot who died here yesterday, will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. Rev. John Bunyan Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate. Miss Wallace, who gained widespread attention when she soloed after only six hours and fifteen minutes of instruction, was regarded at Ryan Field as one of the most capable of woman pilots and outstanding success was being predicted for her aerial career.

Pallbearers will be Earl D. Prudden and Harry Vorhauer, representing the Pacific Technical University; Hawley Bowlus, Bowlus Sailplane Company; William Van Dusen, Chamber of Commerce; Sefton Wakefield, Airtech, and W. A. Huggins, San Diego Press. Members of the Amateur Girls' Glider Club will be honorary pallbearers.

LENGTHY COMPLAINT FILED

Amended Action Brought Against Edison Company for Asserted Fire Damages Put on Record

VENTURA, June 23.—One of the longest complaints ever filed in the Superior Court here was received in the Clerk's office today in the case of Arthur J. Koenigstein vs. Southern California Edison Company Koenigstein, on behalf of himself and as assignee of a number of persons, has filed an amended complaint against the Southern California Edison Company arising from the Sulphur Moutain fire of September 16, last, wherein the parties assert actual damages in the sum of $192,412.20 and ask that the same be trebled in accordance with law, making a total demand of $577,236.60.

The parties affected by this suit are those living on either side of the county road from Ojai to Santa Paula and along Sulphur Mountain, including many small property owners in the Sisar Canyon, among which are the following: Fred J. Smith, Lowell B. De Groodt, Mary F. McKnight, S. J. Butler, Ora McConnell, M. C. Harvey, Oliver R. Connell, Margaret D. Bay, Albert C. Romp, Wesley W. Vance, Rachel J. Vance, Cora Johnson, Eldridge S. Freer, Edward R. Farquhar, Charles S. Cullison, James W. Freer, William Hansen, Thomas J. Henry, S. Al Freer, Fred T. Jumper, Iva E. Daries, William Q. Palmer, Edna Hennigan, Leslie A. Bellue, John E. Tompkins and Arthur B. Aten.

Two new suits have been filed, one on behalf of Willis Rehard, former resident of Ventura county and now living in Tulare county, asserting loss for destruction of 155 acres of oak timber and pasturage valued at $20,000. The other suit was filed for Gabriel Bordsuave, asserting damages amounting to $31,000.

LIGHTING COSTS SOUGHT

San Diego to Look Into Rates in Los Angeles and Other Cities Before Signing New Contracts

SAN DIEGO, June 23.—Before the City Council enters into any more contracts with the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company for street lighting, investigation is to be made by City Manager F. M. Lockwood, who was directed by the Council to ascertain rates charged for street lighting in Los Angeles, Santa Ana, Riverside and other cities.

Lockwood said he could easily procure those data and have them ready for the Council by July 21. Meanwhile, all contracts for ornamental street lights that are about ready to be entered into were ordered held up by the Council until the date mentioned. This includes the general lighting contract, which expired June 1, and contracts for the ornamental lighting on some of the principal business streets.

Councilman James V. Alexander raised the issue, asserting that San Diego is paying more for street lights than any other city in California, especially more than is paid by Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Riverside. "I know this, and it doesn't cost any more to produce electricity in San Diego that it does in Los Angeles, for they use steam there, Alexander added. He also declared he is going to probe the gas company's methods of charging private consumers, announcing to the Council that he was sent a bill for light and gas for his home when it had been shut up and no one there to use lights or gas.

The Council also discussed the advisability of the city assuming proportionate share of the cost of furnishing current for ornamental lights. Prior to two years ago the city paid one-fifth of the cost, but when the low valuation lessened taxes paid into the treasury, that custom was abandoned and since then all charges have been made against the abutting properties.

Bell High Will Graduate Class Wednesday Eve

BELL, June 23.—Annual commencement exercises of the Bell High School will be held in the school auditorium Wednesday night, when diplomas will be presented by Arthur Gould, assistant superintendent of schools, while the class will be presented by Claude L. Reeves, principal of the school, who will also present the awards. "The Changing Idealism of Peace," by Beryl B. Kern; "The Futility of War," by Melbourne Richter; "Public Opinion and World Peace," by Kenneth L. Ball, and "Education for World Peace," by Eleanor Lillian Layer, are the subjects upon which members of the class will give short addresses.

HOME GARDENS SCHOOL WILL GRADUATE FORTY

SOUTH GATE, June 23.—Forty young people are to be graduated at the Home Gardens School Thursday night, completing their eighth-grade studies. The program is to be held in the auditorium of the school. Avery J. Gray, head of the thrift department of the Los Angeles city schools, is to be the principal speaker and award the diplomas. There will also be a number of members of the class who will deliver short talks. Rev. Ford Gilbert of the Methodist Church will give the invocation, and Rev. George Hall of the Christian Church will pronounce the benediction.

Firemen Fire Themselves in Redondo Row

REDONDO BEACH, June 23.—It probably would take a fire alarm tomorrow to prove whether or not this city has a fire department. The present volunteer fire fighters have ceased to function, under the terms of a letter submitted to the City Council tonight and the board has not disclosed anyone to take their places, although it was hinted that such an organization is in process of formation.

The Council tabled a letter, signed by all of the eighteen volunteer firemen, which stated that they would disband if the Council did not rescind part of a new fire department ordinance, passed last Monday, which gives the Council arbitrary power to remove any fireman at will. It creates a new department with a paid chief, but whether or not Chief J. E. Morrell will remain in that position is problematic. At present the chief is selected by the volunteer organization and receives $75 a month for expenses from the city.

The letter was filed with only brief comment by Councilmen John Clarke and H. J. McNally that a new department is being organized and that repeal of the ordinance could not be considered.

The dispute started months ago when the Council dismissed Chief Morrell, then decided that it had exceeded its power, and reinstated him, at the same time starting to draft the new ordinance.

Autoist Offers Ride, Then Robs Poor Pedestrian

SANTA ANA, June 23.—That the man who offers a ride on the highway may be as dangerous as the man who asks for a ride, has been demonstrated today in the case of H. K. Klepper, pedestrian from Chicago, who last night was held up and robbed by a motorist as he was walking along the State highway near the Katella substation, he reported to the Sheriff's office. A slim youth about 22 years of age, wearing a gray suit and cap and driving a blue sedan with yellow wheels, drew alongside of Klepper and offered a ride, the latter said. When Klepper declined, the motorist covered him with a pistol and took a $15 ring and $10 in cash, Klepper said. The robber then drove on, turning west on Katella Road.

VALLEY IN MOUNTAINS SEES RAID

But Five Out of Six Men Taken at Asserted Resort for Gambling Deny Guilt

REDLANDS, June 23.—Five of six men pleaded not guilty to charges placed against them following a spectacular raid in Bear Valley on an asserted gambling house by officers from the Sheriff's office yesterday, when taken before Judge A. B. McCrary of Mission this morning.

Dick Sykes, charged with possession of liquor and conducting a gambling house, furnished bail of $2000; James Goldie and Dwight Motherson furnished $1500 bail each for conducting a gambling house; Lonnie Hayes furnished bail for $500 for possession of liquor; A. J. Bynum furnished bail for $500 for visiting a gambling house; John Duffy pleaded guilty of visiting a gambling house and was fined $50, which he paid. The judge set the trial of all five for July 17.

Three dice tables, a blackjack outfit and a roulette wheel, besides 400 gallons of whisky, were captured by a group of Sheriff Shay's officers early Sunday morning when they raided the asserted gambling joint in Bear Valley. Six men were arrested, and two women, said to have been playing at the tables, were released.

James Gormley, owner of the resort, was not there at the time the raid was made, but was to be questioned by Sheriff Shay today.

It was the second raid on an asserted "joint" staged by county officers in recent months. Some time ago what was described as a "miniature Monte Carlo" was raided in San Bernardino and a complete set of gambling equipment was confiscated by the county officers.

Included in the liquor confiscated by the officers were twenty-seven dozen quart bottles of gin and two or three dozen bottles of "Scotch" whisky, all prettily labeled. Several kegs of other intoxicants also were seized, according to the officers.

Man Seeks to Collect Poker Debt in Court

WESTMORELAND, June 23.—Seeking payment for a debt asserted to have been incurred in a poker game, Floyd Haner brought action in the local justice court here today for the collection of $50 from Sam Wolford.

According to Haner, he loaned Wolford ten poker chips worth $5 each in a game played nearly a year ago, and has never been able to collect either the chips or the money.

Wolford asserts that he was in partnership with Haner and that the latter was staking him in accordance with their partnership agreement.

METHODISTS IN SESSION TODAY

Several Thousand Clergy and Laymen to Meet

Long Beach Scene of Annual District Conference

Dry Enforcement Expected to be Discussed

LONG BEACH, June 23.—Several thousand Methodist clergymen and lay delegates will meet here tomorrow at the opening of the fifty-fifth annual conference of districts south of Fresno in California and Arizona. The conference will be held at the First Methodist Church, which was designated permanent conference headquarters at the annual meeting last year. Sessions will be held throughout this week and until Monday night, when appointment of clergy will close the conference.

Bishop Charles Wesley Burns will preside. The annual meeting of the conference board of examiners will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow. The conference will be opened formally tomorrow evening with a welcome to the conference, a response by Bishop Burns and an address by George A. Warner, Santa Ana pastor.

Among the important matters scheduled to come before the conference are: The proposal to establish a Pacific Coast divinity school; report on the progress of the fund for retiring ministers; vital recommendations in the education report.

Prohibition enforcement and other phases of the issue may be injected into the conference early in its proceedings on Wednesday by the report of Dr. Deeds Pickett, research secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals. Saturday will be young peoples' day, Friday will be brotherhood day and Thursday woman's day.

An innovation in the conference will mark the annual communion service Wednesday morning when ministers and their families will be the communicants instead of including the laymen as in the past.

Dr. R. N. Merrill, who came to the Long Beach First Methodist Church from Miami, since the last conference, directs the local arrangements for handling and entertaining the conference.

Dancer Out of Job Hangs Self

GLENDALE, June 23.—Despondent over lack of employment, Richard M. Turner, 35 years of age, of 418 North Maryland avenue, last night committed suicide by hanging himself, this being his third attempt at suicide within two years, police declare.

The body was found by his wife, Mrs. Ann Turner, when she awoke and started to look for her husband. According to Mrs. Turner her husband had told her that he was going to call on a neighbor, R. S. Todd, just before she retired, and when she awoke an hour later and found Turner absent from the bedroom, she began to hunt for him.

Both Turner and his wife were professional dancers and have been out of work for six months.

Turner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Turner, live at 1274 Third avenue, Los Angeles.

CITIZENS TO DISCUSS VALLEY-TO-SEA ROAD

RESEDA, June 23.—The Reseda Boulevard-to-the-Ocean Association will meet in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday to talk over plans for the Reseda Boulevard-to-the-ocean project. Residents from Reseda, Tarzana, North Los Angeles and Granada are interested in the improvement, which is a plan to open Reseda Boulevard south through the mountain range to the beach-cities section. A canyon in the mountains will be used in which to build the mountain road that later will be paved. William Courtney will preside at the meeting.

BACKING CAR KILLS CHILD

Daughter of Santa Barbara Newspaper Man Crushed When Machine Rolls Out of Garage

SANTA BARBARA, June 23.—Barbara Roe, 3-year-old daughter of Bud Roe, local newspaper man, was crushed to death tonight against the rear steps of their home by the family automobile rolling backward out of the garage. Her small brother, Bud, Jr., was caught by the machine but escaped serious injury.

The children and their mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. G. Roe of El Paso, who is visiting here, had returned from a ride. The garage floor is slightly inclined and the brakes on the car apparently slipped loose while the family was walking to the house.

Funeral plans await word from the grandfather in El Paso, where the little victim probably will be buried. The father formerly was sports editor of the El Paso Herald.

NEWBERRY PARK WOMAN FATALLY HURT BY TRAIN

SANTA PAULA, June 23.—Mrs. J. A. Brennan of Newberry Park is dead and her husband is seriously injured as the result of a collision between the car in which they were riding and a southbound Southern Pacific passenger train two miles west of Fillmore Saturday.

Testifying at the Coroner's inquest today, Brennan, who was driving the machine, told the jury that he did not see the train until he was thirty feet away from the crossing. He, Mrs. Brennan and their young daughter, were thrown from the wrecked car. Mrs. Brennan was taken to office of Dr. J. E. Whitlow in Fillmore and died an hour later of a fractured skull.

Rollin Newport, 232 North Orange avenue. In his report to the police, Newport stated that Hayward appeared to become confused and started back toward the sidewalk as the car turned the corner. The fender struck and knocked him down.

Hayward had been a resident of this city eleven years. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lizzie S. Hayward, prominent club woman and political worker, and two sons, E. P. Hayward, former president of the local Realty Board, and Julian Hayward, noted golfer. An inquest will be conducted tomorrow.

Long-Standing Troubles Yield to New Sargon

"After Sargon restored my wife's health, I started the treatment and I believe I'm in as good physical condition as any man of my age," recently stated James H. Blake, of 2384 La Jolla Ave., San Diego.

JAMES H. BLAKE

"I had suffered off and on for almost twenty years with pains in my side and back and such splitting headaches came over me at times that I'd get right sick and dizzy and have to lie down. Chronic constipation caused most of my trouble and my kidneys were overactive and broke into my sleep all through the night.

"If there's a thing wrong with me since taking Sargon I don't know what it is. I never had a better appetite and my digestion is perfect. My kidneys seem normal, I'm no longer nervous and I'm sleeping fine.

"Sargon Pills did their part by regulating my liver and bowels. They are thorough in action and don't gripe or cause any other discomfort. Their effects are lasting, too. I am entirely free of dizzy spells, headaches, and pains in my side and back. I'm feeling 'fit' in every way and my wife and myself are always recommending this wonderful Sargon treatment."

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores and Liggett Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

It's one thing to say we'll do a thing—it's quite another thing to do it. Changing tooth pastes, for example. Many of us see the PEBECO advertisements, believe their simple explanation of Pebeco's extra value. Many of us hear our friends tell of the real mouth exhilaration and comfort Pebeco gives . . . and then we put off buying it. Remember this: You'll never know what you're missing until you try Pebeco—and the trial costs mighty little. Delay no longer.—Advt.

ELECTRIC RAIL MEN OPTIMISTIC

Auto and "Unfair" Tax Fail to Impair Courage

Confidence Expressed at Bay City Convention

Shoup Criticises Imposts and Public Ownership

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (Exclusive)—Pride in the continued operation of electric railways despite "unfair" taxation and the tremendous encroachment of the automobile for transportation purposes was voiced today at the opening sessions of the American Electric Railway Association and allied groups.

The note of optimism was sounded by Paul Shoup, president of the association, in a gathering looking so seriously at the future that steps are being taken for a national movement to bring business and civic bodies together to solve local transportation problems. The problem is of such moment that one speaker asserted automobiles should be kept from downtown streets in favor of street cars if traffic congestion is to be met with any degree of success.

TRAFFIC DECREASE

Despite automobile competition, "our national traffic over the four months' period ending April 30 shows a decrease of only 4.03 per cent under 1929," Shoup told the delegates. "A recent survey showed all companies were maintaining their regular number of employees and customary activities. Some organizations actually are planning to add to their forces."

Shoup decried taxation of the electric railway industry in this State, saying:

"It is absurd, as shown by the recent report of a taxation committee of the State of California, that the electric railway industry, the least remunerative of railways in this State, should be bearing the highest tax, relatively, of all public service corporations.

"It is absurd that these companies should be compelled to continue the paving and maintenance of sections of streets and highways, in many instances the major part, when the tremendously created traffic of the last few years of motor vehicles used in private service is wearing them out.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

"It is absurd that these companies should be compelled to pay, in addition to normal taxes, income taxes to cities, license taxes of one kind and another, provide street-lighting facilities and so on when each community should know that either the companies' liability in existing conditions to render a proper service is greatly impaired by these imposts, or that it must pay in higher fares for these additional tax collections."

Although not debating the relative merits of political and private ownership of transportation systems, Shoup struck at the dangers of municipal operation by saying:

"This city ownership and management can be undertaken only by making the citizen property owner a partner in the enterprise, and usually an unwilling partner. He might not wish to own a share of stock in a street railway, but wakes up some morning after a popular vote on the subject to find his home has been mortgaged for the acquisition of such an activity, and thus he has become, without any real voice in the management, a partner in an enterprise about which he knows nothing in a business way, and the operation of which very likely will not bring him any return at all, certainly not directly, and a large amount of private capital has been driven from the city."

D. W. Pontius of Los Angeles, president of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, touched generally on the taxation burden also, declaring "no branch of the transportation industry has been called upon to bear so much of the brunt of progress as has the interurban railway."

SERVICE DEMANDED

Through all their vicissitudes, however, they have carried on, he reminded, "convinced of the necessity for the service" and certain "the future will justify it." The experience, though expensive, in a measure has been a benefit to the industry. It made it necessary to look more closely to plant and equipment and develop ways and means to meet changed public requirement.

"Very definitely, most communities and the people of the communities served need interurban service. There is no question about it. The slightest attempt to eliminate or even curtail any part of such service meets with determined opposition, not only by the residents, but by the merchants, city organizations, commissions and others."

Competition with the private automobile and motor coach lines, Pontius pointed out, "is so serious that the matter of attractive fares must be worked out."

Removal of the automobile from downtown streets was the plea of Charles Gordon, managing director of the association, in an address before the Electrical Development League. He said the automobile is responsible for the bulk of traffic congestion and the street car, cheaper to patronize, is the only economical space saver.

Motorboat and Liquor Seized

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (AP)—The motorboat Dora and a cargo of whisky valued at $40,000 were seized today by the Coast Guard cutter Tingard in Bolinas Bay early today after a ten-mile chase.

Two men waded ashore and escaped.

Strangler Gets Life Sentence

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (AP)—Daniel W. Pitt, who surrendered to police several weeks ago after strangling to death Mrs. Pearl Pitt, his bigamous wife, in a San Francisco apartment, today pleaded guilty to murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin prison.

Pitt said he killed the woman because she was "untrue" to him. He has a wife and three children in Petaluma.

COLORADO "BLUE LAW" VOIDED BY DECISION

DENVER, June 23. (AP)—Colorado's 68-year-old Sunday "blue law," enacted by the Territorial Legislature in 1862, today was labeled "indefinite, uncertain and ambiguous" by the State Supreme Court. The opinion, which has the effect of voiding the statute, leaves regulation of Sunday amusements to local option.

EVIL DAYS FALL ON LAMBS CLUB

Jobless Actors Unable to Meet House Bills

NEW YORK, June 23. (Exclusive) So many actors are out of work and unable to pay their dues or house bills that the Lambs' Club has been compelled to borrow money to meet its obligations, Arthur Byron, acting shepherd of the club, and Oscar Shaw, the recording secretary, declared today in a petition submitted to Supreme Court Justice Lydon for permission to place a second mortgage of $100,000 on the clubhouse property. The petition was granted.

Lull in China Warfare Ends

SHANGHAI, June 23. (AP)—With fighting for control of China reported on several fronts and results uncertain, the Nationalist government today clamped on an obscuring censorship, as is the custom at critical times.

The government and the rebels yesterday issued conflicting claims of success on virtually every battlefront. The only thing certain was the struggle, interrupted for several days, had been renewed vigorously north and south of the Yangtze River and in Shantung Province.

MANY HURT IN SPANISH RIOT

SEVILLE (Spain) June 23. (AP)—Many persons were wounded during rioting today resulting from a sudden conflict between the police and strikers. Police fired into the crowds in an effort to suppress demonstrations.

MAD MURDERER STILL AT LARGE

New York Police Baffled in Search for Slayer

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Examining further suspects and puzzling over a new "death" note, police tonight were still without a definite clew to the identity of the mad assassin of Queens, although almost two weeks have elapsed since the second of his two victims was killed.

A ninth letter purporting to come from the slayer, who signs himself "3-X" was received by Meyner Newmark, a news dealer of Brooklyn. The letter threatens dire consequences unless Newmark returns certain documents.

Police were not certain whether this latest letter actually was from the murderous maniac or from some crank.

COFFEE HOUSES EFFECT MERGER

Foundation Laid for National Distribution Program

Newmark, Ben Hur, Sun Brand, Puritas in Deal

Acquisition of Other Units Now Being Negotiated

Completion of final details in the acquisition of Newmark Brothers by Coffee Products of America, Inc., Ltd., on the basis of an exchange of stock, was formally announced yesterday by E. C. Joannes, president of the latter company. Coffee Products of America is a new holding company under which has been grouped Joannes Corporation, Puritas Coffee & Tea Company and San Diego Coffee Company, San Diego.

The deal, which is the consummation of negotiations extending over several months, is the initial step in a program of expansion looking toward a national distribution of the company's products and which will eventually embrace a number of other wholesale coffee and spice houses, Mr. Joannes stated. Negotiations are at present being conducted for the acquisition of other similar houses.

POLICIES FIXED

In the building of Coffee Products of America Mr. Joannes pointed out that no affiliation is being made with any retail or other organization outside of the coffee business.

"An erroneous impression," he said, "was created by a recent report of the negotiations that Western Dairy Products, Inc., or Continental Food Stores, Inc., was interested in the merger. There is no connection whatever, financial or otherwise. S. H. Berch, who is associated with these companies, has acquired an interest in our business as an individual and is a member of the board of directors, and that fact is undoubtedly the basis for the false impression."

BUSINESS EXTENSIVE

Newmark Brothers, Joannes Corporation and Puritas has each been established in Los Angeles for more than a quarter of a century, the San Diego company having been organized as a branch of Joannes Corporation five years ago. Heretofore distribution of their products has been confined to Southern California and Arizona, the group as a whole doing an annual business of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. The new consolidated organization will concentrate on the building-up of a nation-wide sales program.

Principal coffee brands of the group include Ben Hur, Puritas, Newmark and Sun Brand. All of these will be retained. Operations of the companies, however, are being concentrated in the building of the Joannes Corporation and on completion of a large addition to the present plant, substantial economies are expected to accrue, through the centralized operations.

Offices and management of Coffee Products will consist of the present officials of Joannes Corporation with E. C. Joannes, president; H. L. Joannes, first vice-president; R. L. Joannes, second vice-president; L. W. Worth, secretary and credit manager; E. L. Weaver, treasurer, sales and advertising manager, and others. S. P. Newmark has retained a substantial interest in the new company. No public financing is contemplated in connection with the expansion.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under renewed general selling prompted to considerable extent by weakness in the stock and grain markets. Favorable weather for the growing crop over a Sunday and continued unfavorable trade account also contributed to the lack of confidence. At one time values were down 31 to 38 points from the final of Saturday.

The decline attracted considerable trade buying and covering, however, and the market recovered part of the early losses. July worked up to 13.40 and new October to 12.84 with the general list at 14 to 20 points net lower.

Net after fixed charges in May totaled $84,794.65, a decrease of $41,152.19 or 35 per cent.

Stockholders also will be asked to vote on a proposal to extend and renew the corporate existence of the company for a period of fifty years beginning June 14, 1940.

COMMODITY TREND STUDIED

Producers and Merchants Hope Increased Use of Goods Will Check Decline; Dollar Now Worth More

BY EARLE E. CROWE

No more important question confronts the economic world today than the course of commodity prices. If the trend continues downward, certain lines of activity and certain classes of people will benefit. But if the bottom has been reached and a recovery is in prospect other interests will correspondingly prosper.

Falling commodity prices increase the purchasing power of the dollar. The rule is simple, but its practical application complicates the affairs of every form of economic activity, of every merchant, manufacturer, wage earner and white-collar worker. The debtor, the creditor, the stockholder and the bondholder have equally important interests at stake.

Today commodity prices are lower and the value of the dollar higher than at any time since 1916. Today's dollar, expressed in terms of the 1926 dollar as 100, is worth 112.2. Commodity prices, using the same year as the base, are down to 89.1.

Retail merchants, manufacturers, agriculturists, debtors and stockholders are vitally concerned in the possibility of commodity prices descending still lower, possibly to the 1913 level. Failure to hold large supplies in line with demand, and decreased cost of production are the chief reasons for falling level of prices.

At current low levels, however, an increase in consumption may be expected to materialize and check the price decline in those commodities thoroughly deflated. Most of the raw materials are in this condition, but the declines in manufactured goods have been less because of the relatively high level of wages.

GOLD IS FACTOR

More efficient utilization of the world's gold supply through the mobilization of reserves in the central banks is also an argument against the decline of prices to the 1913 level. Economists, however, are concerned for the long-term trend over the possibility of the world's gold supply failing to keep pace with the increase in credit consumption. Decreasing supplies of gold would mean lower prices, and increased supplies would stimulate price inflation.

But while the merchants, farmers, debtors and stockholders are worrying over the declining value of the dollar, the wage earner, the white-collar worker, the creditor and the bondholder are jubilant. The dollar of wage and the dollar of interest received will buy more goods than at any time in the last fourteen years.

The creditor is happy, for the dollar paid back today by the debtor is worth more than the dollar he loaned at any time in this period.

Important swings in the purchasing power of the dollar are listed in the following table:

1913	145.1	May
1920	57.8	May
1926	100.0	Ave.
1927	104.4	Ave.
1929	101.6	May
1930	112.2	May

"With this payment of $238,000 the company wipes out a liability of $680,000 and clears the way for constructive policies of the management," said Mr. Simpson. "This action provides a splendid opportunity for Stutz Motor Company to go forward in the fine-car field, and presages continued progress by the company. The management has cooperated wholeheartedly with the creditors' committee."

McKEESPORT TIN PLATE

This company was one of the few metal manufacturers to show an increased net income for the first quarter of 1930 as compared with the first quarter of 1929. Net of $322,000 or $1.07 per share for the first quarter of 1930 compared favorably with $222,000 in 1929.

The company manufactures a class of tin plate known as "coke tin" which is used mainly in canning and lithographic work. A subsidiary holds an interest in the Metal Package Corporation, a manufacturer of tin boxes and cans. The company, in its present form, has been built up almost entirely out of earnings. The plant covers twenty-eight acres of ground near McKeesport, Pa., and includes forty-four mills.

Net income has grown steadily for the last six years, amounting in 1929 to $2,402,000, compared with $1,588,000 in 1928, $1,000,000 in 1927 and $373,000 in 1923. The financial position as of January 1, 1930, was strong, with current assets of $7,033,804. This included cash of $1,583,000, which alone was larger than current liabilities of $1,083,800.

Paraffine Head Spikes Rumors of Depression

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (Exclusive)—R. S. Shainwald, president of the Paraffine Companies, Inc., today addressed a letter to stockholders warning them against taking unnecessary losses in the stock through "false rumors or low quotations."

Reports of heavy losses in business are branded as false in the letter, and sales and profits, with the exception of one subsidiary, are described as having shown actual increases over prior years. Profits for the fiscal year ending the 30th inst., it is admitted, will show a small decline as compared with the previous fiscal year, but compared with the 1927-28 period the earnings are estimated to show a satisfactory increase, and will be substantially in excess of dividend requirements.

"The business of the company was never in a sounder and healthier condition," the letter continues. "Its sales and manufacturing organizations are as competent as before, and given normal conditions the progress made in the last six years will undoubtedly continue."

LANGENDORF CHAIN ADDS NEW BAKERY

Acquisition Announced of Mackechnie Company of Los Angeles

Langendorf United Bakeries, Inc., has just acquired the Mackechnie Baking Company, one of the oldest bakeries in Los Angeles, S. S. Langendorf, president, announced yesterday. The Langendorf organization now controls eight plants on the Pacific Coast.

With this acquisition, the Langendorf company will operate two plants in Los Angeles, the production of which will be increased to more than 60,000 pounds of bread daily. Additional equipment of the latest type will be installed to meet the increase in production.

By the purchase officials of the Langendorf company are carrying out their announced policy of complete service and intensive distribution in Los Angeles and its suburban area, Mr. Langendorf stated. The Mackechnie company controlled twenty-five routes and did an annual gross business of approximately $800,000 a year. Additional motorized equipment will be added and distribution will continue under the direction of Robert Gallagher.

The Langendorf company has plants at Seattle, San Francisco, San Jose, Berkeley as well as in Los Angeles. Although the company was incorporated but fifteen years ago, its founders have been in the bakery business on the Pacific Coast for thirty-five years.

Building-Loan Figures Show Better Status

SACRAMENTO, June 23. (Exclusive)—Marked improvement in the financial condition of California building and loan associations was reported today by Charles A. Whitmore, State Building and Loan Commissioner. Since the last call report in December, said Whitmore, associations have increased their cash on hand by 73 per cent, and their bond investments by 8 per cent.

"This adds materially to their liquidity," declared the commissioner, "especially when taken in connection with the fact that during the same period the associations decreased their notes payable to banks by 43 per cent. During the first three months of 1930 there has been an increase of 5 per cent in loan committments and a 2 per cent increase in loans completed, which, in figures, represents $10,000,000 contributed by associations to the building program in California and to the relief of unemployment.

"Investments in building and loan certificates showed an increase of close to 7 per cent and in guarantee capital stock of 5 per cent. Paid-in surpluses increased 8 per cent and undivided profits 20 per cent. Altogether the building and loan business was never in a more healthy condition. State supervision is more complete and the division of building and loan is receiving whole-hearted co-operation from building and loan executives."

Harvard Bureau Predicts Early Trade Recovery

BOSTON, June 23.—Pessimistic feeling and conflicting tendencies in business not infrequently mark the formative state of recovery, the Harvard Economic Society says in its current letter.

"Coming at this juncture," the Harvard economists state, "with favorable factors set forth in our letter of May 17 still operative, they do not alter our expectation of early and substantial recovery in general business.

"It is not surprising that fears and uncertainties exist following business contraction. There is a stabilization interval of considerable length during such intervals in which much of the business news consists of disheartening reports covering operations during the preceding period of liquidation. Business sentiment remains pessimistic at every time of turn. We believe business has for some time been in such a period of stabilization.

"The Washington conferences are likely to have important favorable results within a few months. Removal of the tariff controversy will be a relief and aid to business. Effects on foreign business relations may not be so dire as predicted. Prolonged weakness in commodity prices remains one of the most disquieting elements. Repeated severe reactions in stock prices are important factors in holding back business revival because of wide effect on sentiment. Continued accumulation of stocks for investment is a clear sign that present prices are not too high, according to the long run appraisal of prudent investors. Reduction of New York rediscount rate is a new confirmation of bank policy and we believe easy money will persist at least through 1930. When these considerations are held in view current fears appear greater than warranted."

BUILDING AND LOAN TO OPEN NEW HOME

Western States Building and Loan Association, which was recently taken over by Gilbert H. Beesemyer and associates, who control the Guaranty Building and Loan Association and other major institutions in the State-wide building-loan field, representing combined resources exceeding $24,000,000, tomorrow will formally open its new Los Angeles home, Broadway and First street. A cordial invitation to the general public to attend the housewarming was issued yesterday by Mr. Beesemyer, who is the new president of Western States.

INVESTMENT UNIT TO PAY LARGE DIVIDEND

North American Trust Shares will distribute $11,000,000 among its stockholders on the 30th inst., a new record semiannual disbursement for the fixed trust, which is reputed to be the largest in the country. The distribution will amount to about $1.30 a share, which compares with 51.4 cents a share paid on December 31, last, or $2,000,000. On June 30, 1929, the trust paid out $938,490 in dividends. There are now outstanding 8,300,000 shares.

EATON WINS INITIAL ROUND

Youngstown Steel Magnate Victor in Fight to Get Bethlehem Books in Court

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the CDN Foreign Service)

NEW YORK, June 23.—Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, who represents the Youngstown minority interest, has won the first round in his battle to prevent the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel merger by securing a court order which compels the Bethlehem to produce all books, audits, financial reports and other data so that the anti-merger accountants may have a chance to examine the situation.

It is the Eaton contention that since the minority interests are to receive Bethlehem stock for their Youngstown stock, under the terms of the merger, they have a right, as stockholders, to know exactly the condition of the books in order to determine the real value of Bethlehem stock.

The contention of the Bethlehem attorneys is that the merger can be attacked in court only if fraud is specifically shown. Whether the merger is wise or unwise is a problem for Youngstown stockholders, not the courts, to determine.

But the fight has really only begun. It may take months or even years to bring to a definite conclusion.

The selection of Charles S. McCain, chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank, the world's largest commercial bank, to the board of the Rock Island Railroad, indicates the growing importance of the Chase bank in the railroad field.

Only recently, Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the governing board and the real head of the powerful New York Bank, became a member of the board of directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

The rise of Mr. McCain in the banking and business world has been very rapid. After graduating from Yale in 1904, he returned to his native State of Arkansas and entered the banking business in Little Rock. A few years later he was elected president of the Bankers' Trust Company of that city; five years ago he entered "big banking" as a vice-president of the National Park Bank of New York. When this bank was taken over by the Chase National, McCain became president of the Chase.

A few months ago, when the Equitable Trust Company merged with the Chase, Mr. McCain, at 48 years of age, became chairman of the executive committee.

American wheat farmers may bemoan the low prices, but the Canadian wheat pool has the biggest job of all on its hands.

Up to this week the pool has been advancing $1 a bushel to the farmers for wheat now worth approximately 90 cents. Millions of dollars have been advanced to Canadian farmers and the pool has the wheat.

The crop year ends the 30th inst. The world carry-over this year is estimated from official sources at 1,037,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,051,000,000 a year ago.

Canada's carry-over will probably be 100,000,000 to 110,000,000 bushels. A new Canadian crop estimated at 400,000,000 bushels is on the way—it may be 10 per cent more. So Canada will have at least 510,000,000 bushels to sell in the new crop year, as against 404,000,000 bushels a year ago.

European nations are hesitating in their purchases and some nations, such as Italy, have increased their import duties on wheat. Argentina has been shipping its crop to Europe since January. So has Australia. Thus selling is pretty well over now. Their new crops do not come in before December.

The Wall Street Journal estimates that the total wheat supply of the United States and Canada, beginning with the new crop year July 1, as "100,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago."

This is the real reason back of the present drop in wheat prices.

Army Air Motor Demands Heavy

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The War Department has awarded contracts for airplane engines totaling $5,336,559 for 1931, it was reported today. The companies receiving contracts are the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Company, Hartford, Ct., in the amount of $3,802,783 and Curtiss Airplane and Motor Company, $1,533,796.

All together the War Department will buy 876 engines for installation in the 402 new airplanes for which the contracts were recently let. Pratt & Whitney will furnish 684 of the engines while Curtiss Airplane will furnish 192 engines.

ARIZONA

a rapidly growing market for electric power

THE richly fertile Salt River Valley of Arizona, centering in Phoenix, the capital and chief commercial city of the state, represents one of the most rapidly expanding markets for electric power in America.

The development of this district is strikingly evidenced by the growth of the Central Arizona Light and Power Company, which serves Phoenix and surrounding communities. Kilowatt hour output for the year 1929 increased more than 40% over 1928.

CENTRAL ARIZONA LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY

First Mortgage 5% Bonds, due 1960

are secured by a first mortgage on all generating plants and other physical properties of the company, which also purchases hydro electric power from the great Roosevelt Dam.

All common stock is owned by the American Light and Power Company...thus securing supervision by the Electric Bond and Share Company, one of the largest and most successful public utility operators in America.

Central Arizona Power and Light Company First Mortgage 5% Bonds show earnings of 3.25% times interest charges and a yield of 5.25% as compared with average earnings of 2.98 times interest charges and an average yield of 4.85% for comparable California public utility bonds.

Priced at 96 and interest, to yield about 5.25%, these bonds appear decidedly undervalued in comparison with other Western public utility issues of comparable strength. We shall be glad to furnish detailed circular on request.

BULLISH RALLY HALTS DECLINE

New Lows Made Before End of Bear Attack

Steel Forced Down Close to November 13 Mark

Substantial Recovery Shown as Market Closes

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Active issues making new lows in the forenoon, prices of stocks and the leading speculative commodities rallied sharply in the afternoon markets today. Wall street, however, was not inclined to celebrate the upturn premature, for it recalled recent interruptions in the long downward trend had been both technical and brief.

Stocks more than regained their early losses, which had been made on two distinct selling movements, the second more vigorous than the first. In the grain market, wheat closed only an eighth of a cent lower against the season's break of nearly 3 cents to 80 cents, the lowest since 1914.

Executing of the large week-end accumulation of selling orders, including weakened margin holdings, broke stocks at the opening. Initial saw blocks of 10,000 to 40,000 shares were traded. Bears hastened to intensify the decline, working actively in United States Steel, American Telephone, American Can, General Electric and others, in the hope of bringing them to or through their resistance levels of last November.

Enough support was forthcoming to start a rally that eliminated 2 and 3-point losses of the first half-hour, but the upturn only encouraged further and more vigorous operations for the decline, with the result that shortly before noon the leaders had gone below their earlier lows.

United States Steel was unsettled to 152 1-2, or 2 1-2 points above its November 13 low. American Can dropped to 109 1-2 and American Telephone to 200 1-4. Prices remained at the bottom only a short time, however, and on the first appearance of resistance the bears were satisfied to cover.

The ensuing advance carried prices through the remainder of the session, although final prices were somewhat below the highs. The composite of ninety shares advanced 3.3 points. Net gains in the main

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Bond prices followed an irregular course today. The list moved uncertainly throughout the day and seemed to be disturbed by the share market. Sales total $6,252,000, more than $3,000,000 under last Friday.

An easier tone prevailed at the close, although the losses were no great proportions and almost offset by rains in the better grade bonds. Convertibles were subject to alternate rallies and declines, with closing prices fractionally lower.

A feature was the heavy turnover in United States Governments, both Liberty and Treasury issues showing a reactionary trend. The sharpest drop was in Liberty 4th 4¼s which yielded 1 of a point. The number of railroad bonds that advanced was smaller than usual and the tone lacked recent firmness. Chicago & Northwestern 8s gained 1¼ points.

Losses among convertibles averaged about ¼ of a point. St. Paul 5s were very active and lost 1⅝ points. Chicago & Northwestern 4½s, a convertible issue, gained ¼.

Depression in the sugar industry was reflected in the sharp reaction among the bonds of sugar companies which continued today. Manati Sugar 7½s yielded 9 points to establish a year's low.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

Wheat Futures Rebound After Early Tumble

CHICAGO, June 23. (AP)—Wheat prices rebounded suddenly today coincidently with rallies in quotations on securities, but not until wheat had fallen into the "eighties."

For the first time in a long while the July delivery of wheat here, which represents the 1930 domestic crop being harvested in the Southwest, went under 80c and sold as low as 80¼c a bushel, whereas for fifteen years past a dollar a bushel has been generally regarded as about the lowest figure at which wheat should sell.

Big arrivals of wheat at Texas, Oklahoma and Southern Kansas points today received much of the blame for new low prices established today and so also did continued dearth of any adequate export demand.

Closing quotations on wheat were notably irregular and unsettled, ranging from ¼c decline to ¼c advance, compared with Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1@1¼c up, oats ¼@¾c advance and provisions 5@8c down.

Helping to lift the wheat market were not only the upward swings of stock exchange prices, but also reports in some quarters referring to likelihood of a wheat growers' strike similar to the consumers' strike abroad last year. Special attention was also given to a late statement which was credited to Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board, and which was widely construed as tending to afford a prop for wheat values. He was quoted as saying United States co-operatives eventually would handle as much as 300,000,000 bushels of wheat this season.

On the other hand, with auspicious harvest weather continuing the four principal terminals in Texas, Oklahoma and Southern Kansas nearest to wherp winter wheat is being harvested, received 1100 cars of wheat today. Moreover, spring wheat territory both sides of the Canadian line were given the benefit of fresh rainfalls, and during much of the day buyers were relatively scarce, except previous sellers who had profits that could be realized.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat weakness early, but afterward developed strength independently.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Late Rally Swings Local Market Quotations Upward from Early Bearish Onslaught

Staging a sharp rebound from an opening depression, leading issues swung upward to record a substantial recovery yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. At the beginning the market was called upon to absorb considerable selling in line from an early break in New York in which liquidation following week-end margin calls was a factor. After the turn, however, quotations improved steadily and were continuing in an upward direction at the closing bell.

Transamerica, Standard Oil of California, Union Oil and Southern California Edison figured prominently in the advance and were among those to close at the day's highest prices. Pacific Mutual, Pacific Finance, Pacific American Fire along with Security-First National Bank hit new bottoms on the decline, the finance and fire insurance companies failing to rally in the afternoon.

The oils as a group responded briskly on the upturn. Standard of California after touching 58 closed up 2 points net to 60 1-4. Union advanced 1 3-8 to 40 and Union Associates, 5-8 to 38 7-8. Richfield hit 15 3-8 in the early dealings and rallied to close high at 16 1-8, up 3-8 net. All were traded in large volume. Rio Grande held firm to 16 3-4 while Pacific Western yielded 1-4 to 14.

Transamerica, with a turnover of 12,000 shares, hit a low of 28 7-8 and recovered to close high at 30 1-4. Security-First National, which went ex-dividend Saturday, fell off to a new low at 101½ and rallied to end at 102 3-4. Union Bank held to 325. Pacific Finance sank to a new low at 27 3-4, off 1 point, and Pacific American Fire dropped 2 to a new bottom at 43. Pacific Mutual, after dipping to 75½ ended at 76, down 1.

Southern California Edison early in the session dropped to the year's low mark at 54 and abruptly turned upward to close high at 56 1-4 for a net gain of 1 1-4 points. Claude Neon hit a low at 29 and rallied to end at 31, up 1 point net. Taylor Milling jumped 2 points to 60 1-4 while Globe Grain yielded a point to 25.

Sales totaled 34,850 shares valued at $1,256,804; previous day, 27,387 shares valued at $1,013,875.

BUY the BEST STOCKS as a GROUP at 1930 LOW PRICES

AVERAGE prices of 225 leading New York Stocks (Irving Fisher index) on last Friday stood at 130.2, approximately the low for the year, and but a few points over the 1929 low of 122.7 established last November.

This sharp decline has placed most stocks on a highly attractive yield basis, aside from possibilities of enhancement in value. Far-sighted investors have been quick to capitalize on this situation through the group purchase of leading stocks.

THE public utilities of South America today are generally considered to be at the same stage of development as were those of the United States two decades ago.

Each day finds new users of electricity in the homes, new applications of power to the diversified industries of these fast growing countries.

Encouraged by these conditions, Intercontinents Power Company, serving 112 cities and towns in Argentina, Brazil and Chile, looks forward to the next few years as a period of continued growth and progress in the development of South America's public utilities which will exceed anything in the past.

Investors in the securities of Intercontinents Power Company have an unusual opportunity to share in the increasing earnings of the company, and in the prosperous future of these important South American republics.

Your Bond Coupons are more valuable this year

The price trend of commodities—the necessities of everyday life—has been downward now for a year.

Meanwhile the investor in sound bonds has the satisfaction of knowing that the fixed income from his investments is more valuable because it will buy more goods.

It is our belief that the present is an especially good time to buy bonds. To anyone who is interested, we shall be glad to send our current bond list.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Receipts were large and increased by 500 held over from last week. Trade was very slow and with the exception of a few loads of desirable killing cattle taken early, prices were around 25@50c lower with a large carryover in sight. Quality in some cases was improved but majority of offerings continued to be either of low grade or considerably lacking in finish. The feature of yesterday's trading was three loads of weighty Idaho fed steers and three loads of Colorado fed heifers, the interest being shown in these offerings was a factor in glowing up trade on the grass cattle.

Three loads of 1227-pound fed Idaho steers brought 11.35 with two loads of 655-pound Colorado fed heifers going to the same buyer at 11.50. A load of grass and cake fed 1196-pound California steers made 10.85, package of 900-pound Arizona steers scored 10.50 with around eight loads of 1030 to 1147-pound weights at 10.00@10.25. A load of 877-pound Arizona steers on the Mexican order cashed at 9.50 with in-between natives at 9.25@9.35. Several loads of island and California steers were unsold with bids considerably lower.

A few loads and part loads of grass heifers, Phoenix 7.75@8.35, with others down to 7.50 and below. Some weighty heifers and young cows made 7.85@8.25 with a moderate portion of top medium cows at 7.50@7.75. Bulk of common to medium she stock ranged from 5.75@7.35 with low cutters and cutters at 2.50@5.50. A few good butcher bulls reached 7.00 with most medium kinds at 5.50@6.75.

CALVES—Heavy receipts of calves and vealers sold fairly well but at sharp price reductions on the medium to good kinds, the decline being around 50@75c from last week. A few hand-picked lots of light vealers made 12.50@13.00, with bulk of the medium to good desirable weight kinds at 10.00@12.00, including several loads at the 11.00 mark. Cull and common calves made 7.00@9.50.

HOGS—Receipts of approximately seven loads sold in good season at steady to weak prices. A load of 171-pound Imperials, butchers and a few head of 190-pound barrows topped at 11.10 with three loads of 160 to 190-pound easterns at 10.75@11.00. A load of mixed ages ownership California sold down to 10.25 with desirable weight local lots at 10.00@10.50, weighty kinds going down to 9.50. Packing sows cashed at 8.00@8.75.

SHEEP—Receipts were rather moderate and nothing of any quantity was offered. Lambs, however, were considered around 50c lower with choice kinds quoted to 10.00. Four loads of consigned to mixed 74-pound California lambs cashed at 9.50 with a deck of 130-pound breeder ewes at 6.50 with common cut at 2.00@3.00.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—The more active curb market stocks rallied in sympathy with other speculative markets during the latter part of today's session, and closed substantially higher, after a further board decline during the morning, carrying much of the list into new low ground.

The less active issues, however, failed to follow the upturn, indicating short covering was a prime factor in the rally. Sales barely approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Electric Bond & share sold off 2 points to a new 1930 low at 71¼, then rebounded to close at 77⅝, up 3½. American Gas & Electric sold off 4 points but closed up a fraction.

Industrials closed irregularly lower. Deere rallied to 10 points, and Aluminum Company 15, but American Cyanamid B sagged a fraction to a new low at 17⅝, and the Dresser Maufacturing issues were off more than 2 points and Driver Harris nearly 6. Technicolor sagged more than 2 points to another new low at 38, and closed at 39½.

Several oils, mines and investment trusts sagged to lows for the year.

Standard of Indiana sagged more than a point to 47, a new for the year, and closed at 49, off ¼.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

METAL MARKET AFTER IN TONE

Smelters Offerings Unsettle Copper

Breaks But Recovers on Buying Gains

Position Still Shaky; Lead More Active

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
Of the Mining Journal, Phoenix

The past week has been a bad one for as metal prices are concerned. Copper has dropped in cent jumps down to 11 1-2 Connecticut Valley points, lead 4.50 to 4.60 f.o.b. New York and zinc 4.40 to 4.45 f.o.b. St. Louis. A of the drop has been an in- result of the demoralised market.

Confidence in the zinc market been severely badly shaken over the statistical position of the and the ease with which the dropped away under pressure and the bottom of the market is manifested as such. It seems that no matter what quoted prices there is some one ready to sell with concessions.

OIL NEWS

BY PORTER FLINT

Evidence of the depletion of the deep and in the Santa Fe Springs field is indicated by the fact that two of the deepest tests now are idle for failure to effect a complete water shutoff or did not find sufficient oil formation to justify further prospecting.

The Texas Company's Patterson No. 10-A near the intersection of Little Lake and Forest Roads is idle with bottom of the hole at 9058 feet. This project had more than 2000 feet of oil sand to test before penetrating to a great extent into the lower Clarke or Hathaway zones, but water problems and a fishing job that extended several months have brought about virtual abandonment of the test. Reports state that Texaco's deep test will be abandoned and that no other deep holes will be drilled at Santa Fe Springs by the company.

That production may be obtained in the Wilshire Oil Company's Baker No. 4-A is considered impossible at the present depth of 8803 feet is indicated as it now is idle. Showings of oil sand were encountered in this project as in other deep tests but mechanical difficulties and water problems have made conditions hazardous for deep prospecting.

Oscar Howard has plugged back to 4700 feet in his Hathaway No. 7 in the extreme southwesterly portion of the Santa Fe Springs field and will endeavor to find steady production from the Meyer zone. This undertaking at one time was the deepest hole in the world, having gone to 9356 feet in search of production, but has since been surpassed by the Standard Oil Company's Mascot No. 1 near Taft, now idle with bottom at 9626 feet.

Drills Out

Preparations are under way to run five and three-quarter-inch oil combination string into Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's Hobson No. A-2, two miles southeast of the Seacliff field, and a production test is expected to be made within a few days with bottom of the hole at 7475 feet.

Perforated tubing has been cemented at 6767 feet in Chanslor-Canfield's project and approximately 200 feet of oil sand formation is in evidence. Completion of this well may extend the Seacliff field by at least two miles.

Offsets Location

The Doyle Petroleum Company has staked location for Son-Crail No. 9 on Section 8, 11-23 at Maricopa Flat as a direct offset to a well to be spudded in this week by the Standard Oil Company. Doyle has eight producing wells and is obtaining excellent results from his string of operations.

Standard has completed ten wells at Maricopa Flat during the past year of activity, all rather small in output. The company is building derrick for its No. 63 on Sec. 8 and is preparing to spud in No. 4 on Sec. 9.

Continues to Swab

Although no encouraging signs have been encountered in the Gerber No. 1 wildcat at Point Conception, the Standard Oil Company continues to swab and has gone to 4125 feet without showings of oil or gas. Bottom of the hole is at 4600 feet and interest in this project is increasing since it has been swabbing for nearly a week.

On what is thought to be a probable north structure at Point Conception, the Richfield Oil Company's Universal-Consolidated No. 1 wildcat is drilling ahead below 3675 feet in a hard sand formation and still cuts oil showings. This rather interesting formation was first tapped at about 2934 feet and has been continuous and indicates that it is higher on the structure than found in Standard's Gerber No. 1 located six miles to the south.

Honors Official

Out of respect to W. L. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company, whose funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon, major oil companies suspended business a half-day to honor the oil man who died at his Hermosa Beach summer home last Saturday.

The California Oil and Gas Associated, headed by Herbert R. Macmillan, its president, also laid aside all business yesterday afternoon out of respect to Mr. Stewart.

Second Shallow Producer

The Venice oil field checked in its sixth producer over the week-end with completion of the Mohawk Oil Company's J-No. 1 along the ocean front. It is the second shallow producer for that field, the Jergins Trust's No. 1 also along ocean front having been placed on production last week and is yielding approximately 250 barrels of oil a day from a depth of 3906 feet.

Mohawk has acquired six sites for projects and has made location for two other wells, activities to begin at once. The Union Oil Company still is trying to get production from Del Rey No. 1 a little further inland. This project went to 3636 feet and has been wet on production tests.

New Producer In

The Elwood Exploration Company has just completed Tideland Permit No. 90-3 at Elwood for an undetermined amount of oil a day. It is the company's third completion on the permit and is flanked by two producers of the Banline Oil Company on the northwest, and a third that may be in before end of the week. On the opposite side of the permit, the Signal Oil and Gas Company has Tideland Permit No. 91, embracing eighty-five acres on which is one producing well.

A new well was brought in recently at Elwood by the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination. Its Luton-Bell No. 15 is flowing approximately 2450 barrels of oil a day from a depth of 3277 feet.

Work Under Way

A drive to line up the various oil companies in the Venice field to observe the State-wide oil curtailment program got officially under way yesterday with A. T. Jergins, chairman of the Operator's Committee, and Neil H. Anderson, umpire, personally interviewing operators and to get signatures to the contract that calls for curtailing of production until November 1.

The Venice field has been placed in Group Three along with the Kettleman Hills field, and has been alloted a daily production of 6000 barrels for the present. The field is flowing approximately 8000 barrels daily since there are six producers. Two of these belong to the Ohio Oil Company, one each to the Star Petroleum Company, the Deuel Petroleum Company, the Mohawk Oil Company and the Jergins Trust.

PORT GETS NEW GLOBE SERVICE

Will be Coast Terminal for Swedish Liners

Mirrabooka Sailing on July 9 Starts Program

Four Fast Craft to Maintain Regular Schedule

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

Graduation of the Swedish-owned Transatlantic Steamship Company's irregular service into a regular globe-girdling passenger and freight run with Los Angeles, possibly as the Pacific Coast's only port of call, was announced yesterday by the General Steamship Corporation, coast agents for the line.

The new service will be inaugurated by the fast new motor liner Mirrabooka, sailing from here July 9, next. It is possible she may also call at San Francisco, but the intent is to confine future schedules to Los Angeles.

Other vessels will be the sister ship Parrakoola and the motor liners Tisnaren and Bullaren. The route is a new one, the vessels after leaving this coast being scheduled to include Aukland, Wellington and Bluff, Sidney and Melbourne in the Antipodes, and proceed thence through the Indian Ocean, the Red Sea and Mediterranean to Europe, returning here by way of the Panama Canal.

The vessels have been here only on irregular schedule before. They have a speed of sixteen knots and afford accommodations for a limited number of cabin passengers, and on past occasions have carried thousands of bags of mail, besides travelers and bountiful cargo.

All are comparatively new, the Mirrabooka and Parrakoola having been commissioned little more than a year.

LASSCO SPEEDS UP HONOLULU SCHEDULE

Lassco's Hawaiian liners will quicken their schedule this summer, shortening the stopovers at this end. The flagship City of Los Angeles is the first to sail under the altered arrangement, departing today instead of next Saturday, for Honolulu, and other island ports. She will have aboard more than 350 passengers.

Advance bookings indicate a protracted rush to the islands, forecasting the shattering of all summer records. Under the temporary schedule the ship will remain at the islands eight days, as usual, but will shorten the turn-around at Los Angeles on each voyage.

Four honeymoon couples have accommodations for this outward voyage: Mr. and Mrs. A. Erickson, Burbank; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Zarick, Honolulu; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Valentine, Culver City, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Glickman, Los Angeles. Others are Kathryn Coger, local art director; Mary Joyner, astronomical computer of San Marino; Charles S. Dawes, Honolulu artist, and Capt. H. A. Stuart, U.S.N., and family, en route to Pearl Harbor.

The British naval steamer Oina of the Royal Field Auxiliary arrived yesterday for her first visit here, and from Gibraltar, one of the first ships ever entering from that port. She is loading 64,000 barrels of fuel oil from the Shell Company, for the naval base at Davenport, Eng. Capt. P. Skone-Rees, R.N.A., is commander.

The whaling factory tanker Lansing put in from Lower California for fuel yesterday and sailed for San Clemente Island, to which the fleet of the California Sea Products Company has shifted its base. Capt. F. K. Dedrick, president and son, Fred, expedition manager, are aboard. The season off Lower California has produced only half the whales killed during the same period last year.

The new motor liner Chichibu Maru, on her second visit for Nippon Yusen Kaisha, yesterday disembarked 260 passengers from the Orient, and is booked full on her return voyage. A party of fifty booked by the D. F. Robertson's Travel Bureau will sail on her tomorrow, and continue westward from the Orient on a five months' tour of the world. Among them are Henry S. Patten, president of the Patten & Davies Lumber Company; Mrs. Patten, daughters Eleanor and Mary, and son, George D.

Bulk cargoes totalling 7500 tons will be discharged this week by three vessels at the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company. The Danish East Asiatic motorship Cile is dropping 3500 tons of coke, clay and whiting. The Grace liner Charcas is due tomorrow to discharge 1000 tons of nitrate, and the Cape

GIRL LAYS ATTACK TO PLOTTERS

Victim Found Bound and Slashed With Knife Tells Story of Extortionists

FERGUS FALLS (Minn.) June 23. (AP)—Found bound and with her face and body slashed, Viola Holt, 18 years of age, grand-daughter of a wealthy Ottertail county farmer, today told a story of an attempt by three men to extort $30,000 on threats of death to her grandparents.

The girl, who is in a Pelican Rapids hospital today, told authorities she met three men near a small slough last night after she had received a series of notes threatening death to her grandfather, grandmother and a younger brother unless she paid the writers $30,000.

While unable to raise the money, the girl said, she decided she would die if necessary to save the other members of the family, and appeared near the slough as directed.

Angered, her story goes, the men seized her, threatened death and finally bound her. Afterward one of them, she said, slashed her across the face and body with a knife. When she screamed the men fled.

Tal Vez Formule Porter su Veto contra el Presupuesto Municipal

Si bien el alcalde Porter no ha dado ayer, a su regreso del viaje de inspección de la Cuenca del Mono, a predecir las medidas que ha de tomar cuando le presenten el presupuesto revisado por el consejo municipal, las observaciones que hizo respecto a tal asunto dejan entrever el propósito que tiene de rechazar ese documento.

El alcalde expresó con énfasis su creencia de que las reducciones hechas por el concejo en el presupuesto, que llegan a un total de $993,340, no sólo son imprudentes sino enteramente inútiles. Tiene cabal confianza en que se recaudarán los $19,700,000 de ingresos, en los que basó su presupuesto.

Hasta mañana en la noche tiene de plazo el alcalde para rechazar o aprobar el presupuesto modificado por el concejo. Después tendrá éste tres días para tomar una decisión final acerca de dicho documento.

Charlas Infantiles para Chiquillos de Escuela

XV.

Así es que Carlos tenía que pasarse las veladas andando por las calles, mirando a los brillantes coches y viendo a la gente que iba a pasear en sus hermosos carruajes. (So Charles had to spend his evenings walking about the streets, gazing into the bright windows and watching the gentlefolk riding in their fine carriages). Le parecían encantadores a Carlos los escaparates de las dulcerías y pastelerías pues seis chelines por semana es muy poco dinero, y a menudo no comía lo bastante. (The candy store and bakeshop windows looked very good to Charles, for six shillings a week is not much money and often he did not have enough to eat). No quiere eso decir que no hubiera podido tomar una pequeña rebanada de pastel o de budín, o toda la melcocha y golosina que quisiera. Quiere decir que Carlos sentía a veces hambre de pan y manteca. (It means that sometimes Charles was hungry for bread and butter). Solía pasar tiritando en sus pobres y ligeras prendas ante los escaparates de golosinas, abarrotados de brillantes botellas de pasas de Corinto y redondas tartas azucaradas, y hacerse la ilusión de que podía escoger lo que quisiera para cenar. (He used to stand shivering in his poor rags before the windows of goodies heaped with shiny currant buns and round sugary tarts, and pretend to himself that he could choose whatever he wanted for his supper).

Death Takes Rail Pioneer

John R. Grant, pioneer resident of Southern California, and associated with early transcontinental railroad operation in the West, died Sunday at his residence, 619 South Kenmore avenue, after a protracted illness.

In 1887 Mr. Grant took up his residence in Los Angeles, marrying Miss Mary McDougall of Cornwall, Ont., in 1888. Besides his widow he leaves his niece, Mrs. Harry L. Holman of this city. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning, with interment in Calvary cemetery.

"I'm glad Ma don't believe in divorce, but I wish she wouldn't emphasize it so much. It looks like she's tryin' to explain why she ain't livin' with me."

RINDGE INVASION CASES DROPPED

Twelve Asserted Squatters Escape Prosecution

They're Disappointed Due to Loss of Test Wedge

Attorney for Company Hits at Raid Instigators

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 23.—Charges of trespass filed a week ago against twelve of the small army of squatters which posted notices of settlement, under the act of May 14, 1880 on the morning of the 15th inst. on the entire twenty-three-mile ocean frontage of the Malibu ranch, were dismissed by Justice of the Peace Webster of Malibu township, when the cases were called at Las Flores this morning.

The unexpected action, which was clearly a disappointment to the defendants in the courtroom, came immediately after Judge Webster had read the complaint. Marc P. Mitchell, attorney for the Marblehead Land Company, the organization through which Mrs. Mary K. Rindge handles all business matters connected with the huge, historic Malibu rancho, rose and asked permission to make a statement.

ADVICE OFFERED

He said that although there had been what he termed "a preconceived and considered movement to open up upon privately owned land," the company he represented feels that some of the 136 persons who had filed claims were sincere, apparently badly advised and seriously misled. Mitchell declared his company was not disposed to prosecute them.

"Such prosecution," he stated, should be directed against those inciting and leading this conspiracy." He then offered to give some help and advice if the defendants were disposed to heed.

William H. Kerr of Oxnard, spokesman for the defendants, who apparently were without legal counsel in court, rose and asked whether his group wanted to listen to Mitchell. Judge Webster interrupted and declared the court was disposed to listen and that all in the courtroom should do likewise.

Mitchell then said: "There is no land along the Malibu ranch, on the ocean boundary, which is not privately owned. None of this is government land. The United States government has not even attempted to claim any of it and even if such a claim had been made, the people in the present case would still be guilty of trespass because the proper procedure in opening government-owned lands is for the government to advertise in the newspapers when and where they shall be opened for public entry. Not until such advertisement has been duly made has anyone the right to file claims."

Mitchell asked dismissal of the case, stating that in view of the tendency against ill-advised persons, his company had no desire to prosecute. Kerr promptly rose and advised he and his co-defendants desired to enter in the record pleas of not guilty to the trespass charge. But Judge Webster stated that since the prosecution had withdrawn its charges, no necessity for entering a plea remained. He dismissed the case and ordered bail, in the sum of $250 each, refunded by county warrant.

FAIR ABSENT

Of the twelve defendants, only Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Ashton were present. Kerr said the Ashtons had been 'active' entrymen, but had left the ranch last Sunday as had most of others who filed claims.

The court's action was a disappointment to the "squatters," members of the group admitted. They had hoped to get their claims against the property into court through the comparatively insignificant trespass charge. Just what their next move will be, none would say.

STRANGE TRICK OF FATE CROSSES SISTERS' PATHS AFTER FORTY-FIVE YEARS

Mrs. Celia Bennett and Mrs. Sarah Burnstein

Two unacquainted women waiting on a Los Angeles street corner for a car, pleasantly exchanged remarks about the weather. In the ensuing conversation they discovered by merest chance that they are sisters who were lost to each other in their native Hungary forty-five years ago. They wept upon making the discovery until they were almost too ill to return unaided to their homes—just as they had wept years ago upon separation, only this time the tears were of joy instead of sorrow. Tonight they probably will cry some more at a celebration feast.

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Burnstein were seated comfortably on a bench at Temple and Beaudry streets last Wednesday waiting for a car. Another couple of about the same age came to the corner also to wait for a car.

"Move over," Mrs. Burnstein said to her husband, "there is room for all and that woman too, is old and heavy."

Gratefully the two others sat on the bench and thanks led to remarks about the weather when Mrs. Burnstein made a side remark to her husband in Yiddish.

"I am Jewish, too," said the other woman.

"So," replied Mrs. Burnstein and then—"where did you come from?"

"From Hungary," replied the stranger.

"From Hungary!" exclaimed Mrs. Burnstein, "from what part? I, too, came from Hungary!"

"And then," Mrs. Burnstein said, in telling the story yesterday, "I learned in a few words that she had come from my own State and from my own town in Hungary."

"I felt my heart beating and I trembled all over," Mrs. Burnstein said. "I looked into her eyes and her face—all over—and I asked her of what family she came and when she said "of the Reisamanns," I cried out, "why, then you are Celia Mittelmann!" and she looked at me with wide eyes and asked "—and you, you are Sarah?" and I said, "I am."

"We threw our arms around each other and cried and cried. I could hardly get home. Forty-five years ago she left our father's house in Hungary for America. I heard of her for a time and then I heard she was dead and looked no more for her. Here we are together again"—and tears again came into the woman's eyes and she rested a little before speaking further.

Mrs. Burnstein is 66 years of age. The sister, Mrs. Celia Bennett, is about 63. Mrs. Bennett, 3850 Hamel avenue, has been here many years. Mrs. Burnstein came about six years ago to her daughter, Mrs. Philip Ginsberg, 2838 Chesapeake avenue. Later she was married to Mr. Burnstein, 442 Victor street.

For six years the two sisters, unknown to themselves or relatives, had lived in this same city until fate strangely crossed their paths.

"I had seen that woman before," Mrs. Burnstein said, "once two years ago at Long Beach and some other times too—and she is my sister.

Tonight they will celebrate at Mrs. Glinsberg's.

Nobody Wants to Buy City's Business Lots

Not a single bid was received for the four parcels of city-owned property in the downtown district which the City Council recently advertised for sale, it was disclosed when the time came for opening bids in the Council chamber yesterday morning. The Council had set a minimum valuation on each parcel below which, it was stated, bids would not be accepted.

The largest of the parcels is the site of the former City Hall on Broadway between Second and Third streets, valued by the Council at $560,000. The other parcels and the minimum Council valuations are: Central Police Station at First and Hill streets, $130,000; lot at 1019 South Broadway, $200,000; lot at 1224 South Broadway, $135,000.

In the absence of bids the problem of disposing of the property was referred back to the Finance Committee. It was stated unofficially by the members of that committee that they will discuss the advisability of disposing of the city owned real estate by private negotiation and sale.

RED CROSS CLUB WILL HOLD BEACH REUNION

The Red Cross Club of Los Angeles and vicinity, composed of women who served overseas in the American Red Cross in various capacities, is to hold its annual reunion at Manhattan Beach Saturday afternoon.

BUDGET-CUT VETO HINTED BY PORTER

Mayor Declares Slash in Expense Estimate Unwise and Unnecessary

Although Mayor Porter, upon his return yesterday from his inspection tour of the Mono Basin region, refused to predict what action he will take upon the budget as revised by the City Council, his remarks on the subject indicated an intention to veto the document.

The Mayor was emphatic in stating his belief that the reductions totaling $993,340 which were made by the Council in the budget he submitted are not only unwise but unnecessary. He is fully confident, he said, that the estimated revenue of $19,700,000 upon which he based his budget will be fully realized.

The Mayor has until tomorrow night either to veto or approve the budget as revised by the Council. Then that body has three days within which to take final action on it.

If the Mayor vetoes it it will require ten votes in the Council to pass it over his veto. If the Council does not muster ten votes the budget as originally submitted to the Council by the Mayor will go into effect July 1.

REPUBLICANS WILL MEET

The East Los Angeles Republican Club will give a dinner at 7 o'clock this evening in Waldemar's Inn, 1207 South Boyle avenue. Judge Valentine, Judge Hazlett and E. W. Ashley will be the speakers.

PEEWEE GOLF HAS BOGEY IN COUNCIL CURFEW PLAN

At least one City Councilman wishes to have something done about miniature golf courses to preserve the "peace, harmony and comfort" of the peaceful, harmonious and comfortable citizens of Los Angeles.

In a resolution introduced yesterday Councilman Webster requested a curfew law to require the miniature golf courses to shut down at midnight. The resolution points out that scarcely more than six months ago these toy golf establishments were virtually unknown, but that today there are more than 300 of them in the city and "that this business has grown on the city of Los Angeles without any closing regulations of any kind."

Furthermore, whereases the resolution, they "have become a considerable menace to the neighborhood in which they are doing business for the reason of bright lights and noise after midnight and for the peace, harmony and comfort of those residing near and around said miniature golf courses." The resolution was referred to the Council's Police and Fire Committee.

BOOKS ATTAIN HIGHER MERIT

American Readers Become More Epicurean

Library Session Delegates Discuss Literature

Realism Giving Way to Finer Artistry

Literary tastes of the American public, from children to adults, steadily are becoming more epicurean, and correspondingly, the literary output of American authors is showing finer quality and merit of permanent value.

Upon this point delegates to the fifty-second annual convention of the American Library Association, in session during this week at the Biltmore, are in accord, and they believe that a type of literature indigenous to the United States is in process of development and destined to endure along with the masterpieces of English literature of all time.

L. L. Dickerson, head of the Indianapolis Public Library, says that the greatest demands of the reading public are, in the order of their popularity, for biographies, philosophy, psychology and scientific literature which has been sufficiently humanized.

REALISM GOING OUT

"This is partly due," he said, "to the emphasis which the libraries have placed upon these subjects. On the other hand, the saturation point has been reached, I believe, all over the country as well as in Indianapolis, on this so-called 'stark realism' phase in literature. It is true, the moment a book has been reported as 'censored,' there will be a run on the library for copies of it, but with each succeeding wave of books of this type I notice a lessening in interest. All through the history of literature you will find that this craze for sex literature comes in cycles and women readers are in the majority. We are in one now, but I believe it has about run its course. I find that the average reader now is demanding books written with greater artistry, subtlety and delicacy."

The various book clubs of the country, Mr. Dickerson says, have not cut into library circulation of the books recommended, in the least degree. On the contrary, they have created a greater demand in the libraries for the books they send to their patrons.

TYPICALLY AMERICAN

According to Forest Spaulding, head of the Des Moines Public Library, the biographies of the day, such as Shelly Little's "Life of Washington" and Carl Sandberg's "Life of Lincoln," are the outstanding development in the literature of the past few years.

"They are typically American," he said, "their style is a reflection of the era in which we live and as different from the style of the masterpieces of another day as black is from white. For the first time, I believe, we are developing a literature of our own.

"Of modern day fiction no one can say what may happen to it. Some of our best writers have created a new dimension in literature in their presentation of the inner mind, which is absolutely a new development. The great amount of sex literature of the day? Well, why not? It is a reflection of what we are thinking and we are more honest now and read it in public instead of behind closed doors. There is a great demand for it and much of it is very good."

On the other hand, W. W. Foote, for sixteen years head of the library of Washington State College, is disgusted with the fiction of the day.

LITERARY JAZZ

"It is written to shock its readers and the more it shocks them the better they like it," he said. "However, I believe it is a jazz craze in literature just as the same tendency shows itself in art and music today. There is very little of it that will have any lasting value, it isn't recognized by university libraries of any standing and they won't have it on their shelves, and I believe it to be an encouraging sign that students are not particularly interested in modern fiction of the ultra-realistic type, nor do they take it seriously."

TRIBUTE PAID TO STEWART

Funeral of Union Oil Company's President Conducted at Family Home in Pasadena

With more than 700 representative citizens of Southern California gathered to pay tribute to his memory, funeral services for W. L. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company for the last sixteen years, were conducted yesterday at the family residence, 790 South San Gabriel Boulevard, Pasadena. Hundreds of bouquets and floral wreaths bore evidence of the high esteem in which he was held.

Following the rendition of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" by Don Novis, Rev. James Leishman, associate pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena, pronounced invocation and read from the Bible.

"A wise man tells us that 'a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches,'" said Mr. Leishman. "The man whose memory we honor had a good name as a heritage, for his father was loved and honored wherever he was known. However, Mr. Stewart made his own name good. Among his business associates he was known as a 'high grade man.'

"Mr. Stewart avoided publicity, especially in matters that concerned his charitable acts and his inner convictions regarding spiritual things. His was a deep, quiet nature and, while his strength and power in the realm of actions were well known, his intimate friends were also well acquainted with that spirit of tenderness and sympathy which characterized his every-day life."

Following the singing by Mr. Novis of "Abide With Me," hundreds of men and women filed past the coffin. Interment followed at San Gabriel Cemetery.

Out of respect to the memory of Mr. Stewart, the general offices of the Union Oil Company in Los Angeles, offices of the Richfield Oil Company and of scores of other organizations with which Mr. Stewart had been affiliated, were closed yesterday.

Mr. Stewart, who was 62 years of age, was born at Titusville, Pa., and was the son of the late Lyman Stewart, who came to California in 1883. After leaving the University of California, Mr. Stewart turned all of his attention to the oil industry, gradually working his way up to the presidency of the Union Oil Company.

RANGERS SPEED BOY HUNT

San Jacinto Mountain's Sides Scoured for Scout from Corona Missing Since Friday

Lights flickered on the steep slopes and in the tangled ravines of San Jacinto Mountain last night, testifying that after nearly four days' search, forest rangers, refusing to give up hope, were pressing their quest for Harold Johnson, 12 years of age, Boy Scout, lost since 5 a.m. last Friday.

The report of an aviator who flew over the mountain yesterday that he thought he saw what might be the boy lying prone and unconscious on a snow patch proved a vain clew, but the seventy-five rangers continued the quest which others among the more than 300 searchers had given up as futile.

SEARCH TO CONTINUE

This morning, if the boy, alive, or his body, has not been found, airmen will again begin to comb the wild terrain with powerful glasses and hundreds of volunteers, including members of the Boy Scout troop to which Harold belongs, will continue the "human-chain dragnet" hunt on the 10,500-foot peak.

Last night, after one experienced mountaineer had all but lost his own life on the 1000-foot cliffs of the peak's northern face, and scores of other wearied searchers had trooped exhausted back to their starting base, the belief grew that, dead or alive, the missing lad will be found on the almost unscalable desert side of the mountain.

Mountaineers will center their hunt there this morning, and while they are doing it R. J. Johnson, postmaster at Corona, will remain at Idyllwild hoping his son will be found alive. That there is some slight chance of this is based on the fact Harold knew something about mountain climbing, through his Boy Scout training, and had a blanket with him when he disappeared.

PACK HORSES USED

Among those who took part in the search yesterday was a group of experienced climbers led by C. L. Emerson, real-estate man who has lived for thirty years at Idyllwild, a well-known resort on the mountain. There were fifty men in this party who continued at their task from midnight Sunday until late yesterday.

Twenty pack horses were brought from Banning to Idyllwild to carry provisions and equipment for the searchers.

John Shaver, County Supervisor from the San Jacinto district, announced the county will finance the search, and gave orders that despite the almost-hopeless outlook the hunt go on until all possibility of finding the boy is exhausted.

MORE WILL BE ADDED TO POPULATION

Between 2000 and 3000 Persons to Boost Total of Los Angeles' Count

Between 2000 and 3000 more persons at least will be added to the 1,231,830 recently announced preliminary population figure for Los Angeles before the final figures are sent to the national headquarters of the United States Census Bureau in Washington this week by the five census supervisors who have been conducting the decennial count here.

Supervisor Chenoweth of Glendale said yesterday he will add 1544 names to the Los Angeles city preliminary figure. Supervisor Kincaid of Hollywood said he will add between 600 and 800. Supervisor Munson of Los Angeles said he will add about 265. How many, if any, Supervisors Le Coudres of Long Beach and Bellentine of Monrovia will add was not known last night, they said. Each of the supervisors has a part of Los Angeles in his census district.

Whatever is added to the city figure of 1,231,830 of course will increase the county total of 2,199,657 in like amount. Neither increase, however, will materially affect either the city or county standing in relative positions.

G.O.P. TO HEAR BRIEGLEB

"The Preacher in Politics" will be the subject of discussion by Dr. Gustav Briegleb at the luncheon of the Golden Bear Republican Club at the Alexandria tomorrow. Mark A. Pierce will be chairman. A musical program will be rendered by Otto Ploetz, tenor.

CLERGY TO SCRUTINIZE MORALS OF FILM FOLK

Resolutions pledging members of the clergy to work for a more moral Los Angeles, even to the extent of investigating motion-picture actors and actresses, were adopted by the Ministerial Association yesterday at the First Methodist Church.

While no particular figure of the screen was mentioned in the resolution, the ministers present, representing all Protestant denominations, empowered the resolutions committee to investigate film celebrities with a view to requesting church members not to patronize those theaters showing cinema dramas starring players who lay themselves open to question.

"In view of the publicity recently given a certain motion-picture actress it is time the churches notify Will Hays that it will be well for him not only to investigate the character of motion-picture dramas, but also of the actors and actresses," said Rev. David Morgan.

Another resolution pledges the ministers to become more active in the attempt to rid Los Angeles of obscene literature. The resolution followed an address by City Prosecutor Nix, who said he intends to ask Congress to pass a bill which will make it impossible to ship indecent literature by any carrier from one part of the country to another. Nix said the new social-survey committee has found that twenty tons of indecent literature are shipped into Los Angeles every month and that 96 per cent of these books and magazines are bought by high-school pupils.

The ministers also adopted a resolution calling on Congress to abandon the proposed $1,000,000,000 navy building program.

COUNTY BUDGET WILL BE LARGER

It Will Cost $49,278,449 to Run Things This Year

Tax Levies, However, Slated to Be Less Than Before

Coming Election Will Cost in Region of $1,000,000

It will cost Los Angeles county to operate its government during the fiscal year 1930-31 the sum of $49,278,449, as against $47,821,911 in 1929-30, an increase of $1,456,538.

The figures are given in the preliminary budget adopted yesterday by the Board of Supervisors. No figures are available relative to the probable tax rate for county purposes, the assessment roll not having been completed.

While the preliminary figures show an increase there is one redeeming feature. There is an increase of $1,732,470 in the estimated county revenue, from sources other than taxes, which will make the total amount to be taken from tax funds $275,932 less than that during the year closing.

INCREASES LISTED

Among the outstanding increases in the 1930-31 budget are $565,420 for the County Farm; $714,185 for the General Hospital; $110,000 for insurances; $210,000 for the leasing of land; $164,187 for the mechanical department, and $225,000 for pensions.

Then there is the special item, which will increase the budget, the one providing for the coming primary and general elections which will cost $916,949.

The decreases shown in the preliminary statement, compared with the year before are $154,613 for the health department; $1,230,982 for the road department; $1,386,810 for land purchases; $50,000 for the care of juvenile wards, and $57,428 for El Retiro School for Girls.

HEARINGS SCHEDULED

It was pointed out yesterday by members of the board that under the provisions of the County Budget Act, as amended in 1929, all special districts of the county the affairs and funds of which are under the supervision and control of the Supervisors, or of which the board is ex-officio governing body, are required to file budge estimates for the ensuing fiscal year. A special tax is levied on the property within these districts to meet the budget requirements. As estimated in these special district budgets $2,719,260.89 more will be required during 1930-31 than in 1929-30. The increase assertedly is due to the addition of new districts since the adoption of the 1929-30 budget and added requirements for flood control.

Including drainage, fire protection, lighting, road improvements and sewer maintenance districts, these special funds total $8,688,-561.20 for 1930-31, as against $5,969,-300.31 the year before.

The tentative budget adopted yesterday will be published and available for distribution about August 1. Public hearings will be held at a date to be fixed by the Board of Supervisors.

BUNKER HILL APPRAISING BEGINS SOON

Chicago Valuator Here to Survey Project of Razing High Section

Harry A. Babcock of William H. Babcock & Sons, real estate valuators and consultants, Chicago, arrived here yesterday to prepare for an economic study as to the feasibility of the Bigelow plan to raze Bunker Hill. He explained that the first step will be to determine the rate at which the regraded area can be absorbed into the downtown development without upsetting the values of the already developed properties.

The next action will be to work out a plan of development for the area which will benefit the entire city. The consultants will examine population increases, traffic situations and requirements, business expansion and other details of municipal development. The economic report will be prepared for the sponsors of the project and the city and county, which have appropriated money for it.

If the project is found feasible, the Babcock organization will make an appraisal of the Bunker Hill properties.

Mr. Babcock's associates in the work will arrive here soon.

The Lancer

IT SEEMS to be a shock to the average newspaper reader to know that press agents have resolved to reform.

As a matter of fact, the hooey went out of the best publicity men a long time ago. The milk bath pipe dreams about actresses and the lost jewels expired while most of the present-day press agents were in the high school.

ONE-MULE FARMS

The one-mule farm of Dixieland is pronounced to be one of the industrial errors that afflict modern farming.

Thomas Campbell—one of the recognized authorities on modern farming—insists that Middle West farming, where winter comes to stop operations, is economically possible only on farms of at least 2000 acres. On his farms all the foremen are graduates from engineering colleges.

IN THE GAY NINETIES

One of the belles of our local society used to scandalize people at Catalina by taking off the long skirt of her bathing suit, parking it on the Avalon diving raft and swimming in long black tights. She put on the skirt again before she ventured to go ashore.

The cottage at the corner of Temple street and Bunker Hill avenue (still standing) was considered to be the snootiest bungalow in town. It was built by John Bradbury, the millionaire owner of the Rosario mines in Mexico, for his bride—Lucy Banning.

One of the resorts of fashion was a natatorium on what is now Broadway—just south of the old City Hall.

THE RED DANGER

The American public is losing all interest in the affairs of China—just at the time when they ought to be most interested.

Anyone who cannot see the hand of Red Russia in the most recent civil war over there is just crazy. It would be unfortunate for all the western powers to have the soviet government get her hand on China; but it would be disastrous for California. Our future is written in terms of oriental trade.

THE EAGLET

A dreadful responsibility faces the heir of the Lindbergh fame. When he gets to his school days he will be expected to astonish the natives of the place with his profundity and wisdom. If the present fame of his father continues, every one of his schoolboy fights will be magnified to the importance of a world war by the newspapers, and every schoolboy love affair will appear as the romance of the ages.

DIRIGIBLE BASE

It would be interesting to know the real reason why Congressman Britten is so excited about placing the new dirigible base at Sunnyvale in Northern California. It would be a good idea if all the Congressmen and all the chambers of commerce would take their hands off the matter of army and navy strategy and leave it to experts who know what they are talking about.

PROF. OLSON TO SPEAK

Carol Stilson will introduce the speaker.

Sanhuber Will Repudiate Murder Confession, Defense Hints

'GHOST OF ATTIC' ON STAND TODAY

Prosecution Closes Account of Oesterreich Murder

Defense Innings Begin With Suspect to Testify

Week More Ample for Trial, Attorneys Declare

The defense of Otto Sanhuber, "ghost of the garret," begins today.

The State, which charges that Sanhuber eight years ago murdered wealthy Fred Oesterreich, rested its case shortly after noon yesterday. Court adjourned a few minutes later on motion of defense counsel, who declared that they required the remainder of the afternoon to prepare motions to strike from the records certain evidence already given by prosecution witnesses.

Defense Attorneys Wakeman and Rogers last night declared that they will place Sanhuber on the stand in his own defense before they complete their case. They intend to call, they say, only seven other witnesses and express the belief that the case will go to the jury this week.

WILL CHANGE STORY

It is understood that when Sanhuber takes the stand he will materially change his former story that he shot Oesterreich while in a struggle with the latter and will maintain that while the shooting was going on he was still cowering in the attic abode that he asserts was his home for years. He will state, it is further said, that the "confession" he made to the grand jury was inspired by others who influenced him to believe that such a story would protect himself as well as others.

Defense plans also include, it was learned, several witnesses who will testify that another man boasted of killing Oesterreich and that he had a motive for murder.

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Russell closed their case yesterday almost immediately after the reading of Sanhuber's grand jury testimony to the jury in Judge Hardy's court.

BANK AFFAIR DROPPED

Although they had announced that they intend to introduce evidence of a reputed joint bank account kept by Sanhuber and Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, wife of the murdered man, Costello and Russell, after a last-minute conference, decided that this testimony was unnecessary and no attempt was made to get it before the jury.

The last witness for the prosecution was John Oesterreich, brother of the murdered man, who testified that Mrs. Oesterreich's maiden name was Walburga Korschel, and that she was familiarly known as Dolly. He said that the Oesterreichs had been married nearly twenty-five years at the time of the murder.

Practically all of yesterday morning's court session was consumed in reading Sanhuber's grand jury transcript. The defendant told the grand jurors it was revealed, that on the night of the murder he heard the Oesterreichs quarreling and came downstairs with a gun in his hand. He declared that he and Oesterreich grappled and that the pistol was discharged as they struggled.

WEIRD REMINISCENCES

Sanhuber's testimony was punctuated with unusual and weird reminiscences of his ten-year life in the garrets of various houses where the Oesterreichs had lived.

At times, he told the grand jurors, he felt "queer" and was only relieved of this mental condition by running around in a circle. Once a burglar tried to get into the house, according to the transcript, and Sanhuber scared the intruder away by throwing an ink bottle after him, and after that he "amused" himself after the Oesterreichs had left the house by leaping silently down the stairs in the dead of night with a gun in his hand and getting the "drop" on imaginary burglars.

SEWER MAPS APPROVED

Assessment district maps were approved by the City Council yesterday for the construction of sanitary sewers in the Isabel-Drive and Kemper-street and the One Hundred and Twelfth-street and Willowbrook-avenue sewer districts.

ONE GIRL OUSTS FIVE MESSENGER BOYS

Direct-to-Your-Office Telegram Service Put Into Use

Seeing How Machine Does Their Work

EFFICIENCY put wings on beauty yesterday at the main offices of the Western Union Telegraph Company with the result that one pretty girl at a machine is doing the work of five messenger boys.

Technically speaking, the company put into operation its 100-wire simplex circuit for sending and receiving messages, one of the latest wrinkles in speeding up transmission. The circuit is all but human. It virtually puts a telegraph office at the business man's elbow in his own office.

A subscriber to the service has a small machine in his office. A message comes to him over the wire through the telegraph office downtown. The girl at the company machine plugs in the subscriber's machine and the message is reeled off on the tape. Conversely, the subscriber wishes to send a message. He turns to his stenographer who taps out the message on the sending-machine which has a keyboard like a typewriter.

The messenger boy is eliminated. One machine does the work of five messenger boys. Just to show how effectively the machine works, Ruth Brown, of the Western Union office at 608 South Main street, called in Adolph Rocher, Elmer Huls, Gunner Kallgren, Ned Dorland and J. W. McClintock, five messenger boys, and gave them a demonstration.

It was convincing, they gallantly agreed, when the show was over.

Public Library, believes that, due to the direction and education of children's tastes in reading, there will develop a generation of adult readers of rare discrimination.

"Children read more widely than ever before," she said, "and their interests now include scientific subjects, exploration, aviation, travel and stories that are based on true facts and incidents. At the same time the old favorites, such as Grimm's Fairy Tales, Alice in Wonderland, will always have a permanent appeal.

"Children have not developed more sophisticated tastes, but they are not fooled as easily as they were fifteen to twenty years ago and if a thing doesn't ring true they won't accept it. Authors have at last begun to realize that children are intelligent, and give them things worthy of their capabilities. Children also have grown internationally minded and are interested in countries outside of their own."

More writers of real merit have become interested in children than ever before, Miss Power said, and there is developing in this country a real literature for children.

KEOGH SPEAKS

The convention delegates, representing every section of the United States, last night heard Andrew Keogh, president of the association, in his address at the opening of the convention sessions at the Biltmore, as he pleaded for a higher use of public libraries and for higher scholastic training for librarians.

"Since the Great War," Mr. Keogh said, "there has been a quickening of the people in Europe and America, and, indeed, all over the world. There never has been so general a desire for knowledge, and in America the most startling evidence of the change is the unprecedented number of candidates for entrance to college."

Mr. Keogh pointed out that the public library in America had been built to its present proportions through its popular appeal and he said this should not be lost in the effort for higher standards.

"It is the quality of books, however, that should be our chief interest," he said, "and not the number on our shelves or in our records of circulation. The most valuable reading is that which quickens and guides creative minds."

Mr. Keogh was introduced by Orra E. Monnette, president of the Los Angeles Library Commissioners, who gave a short welcoming address for the convention delegates.

Following the opening session at the Biltmore the conventoin delegates were guests at a reception and dance at the Los Angeles Publib Library.

Court Puts Off Gore and Adler Robbery Trial

Scheduled for yesterday, the trial of Charles Gore, 21-year-old son of Michael Gore, and Harry Adler, former deputy sheriff, was continued until tomorrow by Superior Judge McComb because of the crowded condition of the calendar.

The youths are charged with robbing the Seaboard National Bank at Wilshire Boulevard and Vermont avenue on April 23, last, taking $2500. According to the officers, $2258 of the money was recovered.

It is understood that insanity will be the defense.

"CRAZY" REMARK RELATED

"I was crazy ever to have married you," Mrs. Alice Madeline Taylor yesterday testified her husband, Carroll G. Taylor, told her. She asked for a divorce, which Superior Judge Yankwich granted. The Taylors married December 7, 1929, and separated February 5, 1930. Taylor is employed by a construction company.

FLY-SPRAY EXPLOSION KILLS ONE

Another Man Injured as Blast Occurs in Grocery; Store Building Razed

A terrific explosion, caused by fly-spray which became ignited while Oscar Hoffman, 38 years of age, was cooking his breakfast in the rear of his grocery at 5428 Hooper street, yesterday, blew one man into the middle of the street and caused Hoffman's death a few hours later at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The second victim, Frank Leydig of 1284 East Fifty-fifth street, had just entered the store to make a purchase and as the grocer turned to wait on him the insect spray was spilled on the stove. The resulting blast was heard for blocks, and a few seconds later the store was a mass of flames.

Hoffman received third-degree burns and was rushed to the hospital where he died within a few hours. Leydig is reported to have been only slightly injured. Hoffman lived at 717 North Breed street.

The store and its contents were burned.

Bribery Laid to Constable

Oscar A. Moe, a deputy constable in Downey township, is charged with two counts of bribery in a complaint filed yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McIsaac.

The complaint charges that Moe accepted $50 on one occasion and $150 on another from secret agents who were posing as still operators, but who had been sent out to investigate reports that the officer was protecting bootleggers.

Moe was arraigned on the bribery charges before Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday afternoon. He was ordered released on $1000 bail pending his preliminary hearing, which Judge Ballard set for the 30th inst.

BERMAN GIVEN WEEK'S DELAY

Jury Bribery Defendant Denied Immunity

Ordered by Court to Get Ready for Trial

Former Julian Official Now Federal Prisoner

A delay of one week was granted Jacob Berman, former official of the Julian Petroleum Corporation but now a defendant in a number of felony cases, by Superior Judge Wilson yesterday when a case involving jury bribery was called for trial. The motion asking for a short continuance was made by Attorney Dan M. Critchley.

Berman, now serving a seven-year mail-fraud sentence in the Federal prison at McNeil Island, was returned to this city as a prosecution witness in a number of cases growing out of the Julian crash in 1927, and also for prosecution on a jury-bribery case as well as a forgery and embezzlement charge.

According to the Federal prisoner, he was promised immunity on the bribery case in return for his testimony in a number of other matters and when he case was first called a week ago Critchley informed Judge Wilson that his client expected immunity. It was then that Judge Wilson told Berman that the court alone had power to grant immunity and ordered him to get ready for trial.

Along with Berman in the bribery trial, Louis Krause and Louis Berman will appear as codefendants. Krause, according to the prosecution, was the go-between in the bribery plot which resulted in the bribery of a number of jurors in the first Julian trial in 1928.

IMPROVERS TO CELEBRATE

A garden party for members of the South Los Angeles Improvement Association will be given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne H. Fisher, 11933 South Figueroa street, to signalize the close of the year's activities. Mr. Fisher is president of the organization. Entertainment is to be provided by artists from the Russian colony, accompanied by a Russian orchestra. Among the guests will be Councilmen Henning, Cooke and McAllister, Don Baker of the City Planning Commission and Fred L. Mayhew, president of the Southwest Chamber of Commerce.

NEWSREEL SHOWS BYRD WELCOMING

Other Interesting Scenes Depicted for Public at Local Theaters

The spectacular ovation accorded Rear-Admiral Byrd on his arrival at New York last week is among the scenes depicted in the latest issue of the Times-Universal newsreel now being shown on the screens of leading Southern California theaters. The returning polar explorer is shown first being met by a fleet of warships in the harbor and later in the downtown streets of the metropolis where he was greeted with a roaring welcome accompanied by an avalanche of ticker tape and confetti. Graham McNamee, the talking reporter, gives a graphic description of the arrival.

Other interesting events shown in this and the preceding issue of the newsreel include the English derby won by Blenheim, the crack-up that climaxed the recent record-breaking transcontinental flight by Brock and Schlee, the burning of a tanker following its collision with another vessel off Boston, and the re-enactment of the Battle of Red Buttes fought nearly a century ago by Indians and United States Cavalry.

The schedule may be obtained by telephoning the Newsreel Book at REpublic 3171 and asking about newsreel Nos. 49 and 50.

Palmist's Aide Seeks Payment

Collection of $88,000 as author's agent fee is sought in the suit of L. Stuart against Count Louis (Cheiro) Hamon, palmistry authority, which yesterday was continued by Superior Judge Blake for trial until next month by stipulation of attorneys for both sides. The defendant is reputed to be author of books on palmistry.

Stuart asserts he was to receive 25 per cent of money derived from his managerial services. After a year, however, Stuart complains, Hamon refused to permit him to act as his manager.

Action Halts While Defense Argues for Points

Man and Girl Denied Right of Separate Trial

Trial of Morris Lavine, newspaper man, and Leontine Johnson, former secretary to S. C. Lewis before the Julian Petroleum crash, was blocked in Superior Judge Schauer's court throughout the entire day yesterday by legal technicalities introduced by defense attorneys.

When court adjourned early in the afternoon the question of whether the court had jurisdiction to try the case while an appeal from an order denying judgment in favor of the defendants is before the Appellate Court remained unsettled.

BATTLE ON TODAY

The matter will come up again for argument at 10 o'clock this morning when Defense Attorneys Heinz and Cantillon will submit authorities on the subject.

The defense contends that the defendants were once in jeopardy and technically were acquitted at the close of their last trial because they were tried on a charge of attempted extortion when the indictment charged extortion. The original motion asking judgment of acquittal was based on this ground and appeal was taken from the denial.

OBJECTIONS RIFE

When the case was called the defense took the aggressive at once with objections to all proceedings. Motion for a continuance was made and denied. Attorney Beirne then moved for a separate trial for Miss Johnson, and this request, too, was denied.

At this point the question of jurisdiction was raised and after the matter once was overruled the court vacated the order to give defense attorneys and William McKay, prosecutor, an opportunity to seek additional legal authorities on the matter.

Lavine and Miss Johnson are charged with extorting $75,000 from Charles H. Crawford, Los Angeles utilities, under an asserted threat to publish stories exposing certain acts linked with the Julian Petroleum Corporation crash.

PROTEST HEARING TODAY

Protests against the ordinance establishing Municipal Improvement District No. 76 in the Chatsworth district and the calling of an election in the district on July 22, next, will be heard by the City Council today.

Local Bakery Company Bought by Coast Chain

Purchase of the local Mackechnie Baking Company by Langendorf United Bakers, Inc., was announced yesterday in San Francisco.

Arrangements for complete distribution service in Los Angeles were completed with yesterday's transaction, it was stated in a northern dispatch. The Mackechnie organization is one of the oldest here with an annual business of approximately $600,000.

The Davidson Baking Company of Seattle, Wash., was purchased by Langendorf interests on the 5th inst., as one of eight plants now under a single control in Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Jose, Seattle and Berkeley.

RECEIVER FOR BROWN PROPOSED

Wife Wants Action Taken to Conserve Her Interest in Community Property

Ignacio Herbert Brown, song writer, is such a liberal spender, according to testimony of his wife, Mrs. Ruby Porter Brown, that in her opinion a receiver should be appointed to take care of her assets, which she claims as community property in her divorce suit recently filed.

IGNACIO HERBERT BROWN

Brown and his wife appeared in Superior Judge Westover's court yesterday to debate the question of alimony and custody of Herbert, Jr., their 9-year-old child.

After it was agreed that Brown should have custody of the boy every other week, the question of alimony and receivership for the property was postponed a week, by agreement of Attorneys Roger Marchetti for Mrs. Brown, and Joseph Scott and Milton Cohen for Brown.

Burke May Yet be Policeman

Reports that a group of City Councilmen have prepared the draft of an ordinance with the object of creating the position of police inspector in the police department for Charles W. Burke, private detective, whom the Police Commission some time ago sought to employ as a police expert to reorganize the department, and then found it had no funds to pay him, were in circulation at the City Hall yesterday.

Councilmen questioned on the subject asserted they knew nothing of it. Members of the Police Commission stated flatly that they have heard nothing about it and some of them sought to gain some information on the proposed plan. The City Attorney's office denied knowing anything about drafting of such an ordinance.

BIDS ON STEPS ASKED

Bids for the construction of sixteen steps leading to an entrance of the Museum of History in Exposition Park, were called for by the Board of Supervisors yesterday, their last act to bring about the completion of the structure. They will be placed at the south, or main entrance of the building. The bids will be opened on July 14.

LETHAL DOSES FATAL TO FOUR

Parent and Children Die in San Gabriel Tragedy

Third Victim Expires Twelve Hours Later

Woman's Jealousy of Spouse Blamed for Her Acts

Mentally deranged from worry over attentions she believed her husband was receiving from another woman, according to the theory advanced by deputy sheriffs following an investigation, an East San Gabriel mother yesterday administered poison to her three small children, with fatal results to all of them, and then ended her own life in the same way.

Victims of the triple murder and suicide were Mrs. Louise Proctor, 40 years of age; her daughter, Adeline, 5, and two sons, Eddie, 3, and James, 6. The latter was the last to die, expiring in Alhambra Hospital more than twelve hours after he drank the poison.

EARLIER ATTEMPT

What was thought at first to have been a case of accidental poisoning developed startling angles when Deputy Sheriffs Vejar and Blasdel learned from the woman's husband, Edward Proctor, that his wife had attempted self-destruction on the 17th inst. in inhaling gas, although he had made no report of the incident. The officers also learned that Mrs. Proctor had purchased ant paste in a Temple City drug store on the 19th inst.

Discovery of a suicide note and a number of letters written by another woman led to a further questioning of Proctor. From him it was learned that his wife had brooded over the matter for some time. He also told the investigators that the woman was a divorcee.

Proctor, an employee of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company here, found one of his children ill when he arose yesterday morning. He telephoned Dr. Frederick W. West of San Gabriel, asking him to call at the family home at 1337 Elm avenue, and then left for his work. The physician found the youngest child dead and the mother and other two children semiconscious. The girl died in Alhambra Hospital shortly after noon and the mother a few hours later, in the presence of her husband. The latter collapsed. During brief moments of consciousness at the hospital, Mrs. Proctor told surgeons and deputies she had given the children orange juice and fig syrup early yesterday morning, but refused to amplify that statement. James corroborated his mother's explanation, adding that the concoction had had a bitter taste.

NOTE DISCOVERED

Searching the Proctor home, the deputies found a suicide note in the drawer of a dresser used by Proctor who stated he had discovered it under his wife's bed following her previous suicide attempt. It read: "I had you; so I can't live. Try not to hate me when I'm gone. Lay all the blame on me. Well, I accept it. I should not have married you—but you were so wonderful, and I loved you more than anything in this world. I do now—that's why I am going. And I hope you will try to think kindly of me if you can. Louise."

The note had been wrapped about a packet of letters addressed to Proctor and signed "Molly." It inclosed also a newspaper clipping showing a photograph captioned, "Vera Caplan" and announcing the latter had obtained a divorce.

AUTOPSIES TODAY

Proctor made no disclosures concerning the bundle of letters. He told the deputies, however, that he believes his wife was mentally ill and that she had complained recently of violent pains in the head.

An 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. Proctor by a previous marriage, it was learned, some months ago entered a San Jose convent as a novitiate.

The bodies of Mrs. Proctor and her children last night were removed to the morgue, where autopsies will be performed today.

WOMEN TO HEAR FITTS AT LUNCH

Five-Hundred Expected to Attend Meeting Next Week at Playhouse

Five hundred representative women of Los Angeles and vicinity will attend a luncheon to be given in honor of Buron Fitts, next Monday at the Figueroa Playhouse. The luncheon will be sponsored by the Woman's Division of the Fitts-for-Governor campaign forces of Southern California.

The luncheon is the only one that will be held by the women during the present campaign. Several prominent women will speak though the main address will be delivered by the candidate.

Formation of a campaign organization in Riverside county was announced yesterday.

HOOK-UP

All the world was in the greatest hook-up of history the other day when London, Berlin and our west coast cities exchanged "Hellos!" And yet the greatest hook-up of history would seem to us to have been wife's dress in other years.

SHIRTS AND SOCIALISM

It seems that German Socialists are not to be suffered to uniform themselves in brown shirts. It sounds too much like an emulation of the black-shirted Fascisti of Italy and Germany has no intention of going Mussolini. To be consistent Socialists should wear no shirts at all.

THE MAGNIFICENT KICKER

Jim Reed seems to be really serious in his candidacy for the Democratic Presidential nomination, although the Lord knows it isn't worth a white chip. The Missourian has no particular platform except that he is against everything that the other fellow is for. As an "anti" he holds all the records not now in the possession of Senator Johnson. As a kicker he almost attains magnificence.

OUR GREATEST COURT

The Supreme Court of the United States sets an example which minor courts might well emulate. When the court recessed the other day until October the calendar was completely cleared. Not a single case was hanging fire. Yet there are lawyers who can remember when the docket of this court seemed hopelessly in arrears. It was more than a thousand cases behind. The present membership of the court is a hard-working group and will not even suffer golf to interfere with the business at hand. Justice is always on tap. Would that this might be said of other courts.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

A person is hurt every thirty seconds in the American home. The trouble is, that is where the jaywalkers, the speed boys, the youngsters who race for crossings, the idiot who takes the wrong side of the street, the daredevils at intersections, the morons on the wheel, the drunk drivers, the aged, the babies that play in the street, the absent-minded, the fellows who race through signals, the near-sighted, the road hogs, the slow pokes, folks who are just learning to drive, the children who are too young to get a license, the careless, the incompetent, the scamp who gets mad, all live.

DARK SECRETS

The names of the streets of Los Angeles seem to be dead secrets. Where a "Stop" and "Go" signal is placed, the labels at intersections hide down behind it like criminals. Sometimes they crawl over to the wrong corner for the tide of major traffic to find. They are not uniform and seem to sneak apologetically into obscure spots behind poles and other obstructions.

A traveler needs to be a Sherlock Holmes to discover his own whereabouts. If he stops to examine intimately, or to inquire, he blocks traffic and gets a ticket for trying to find out where he is.

When the name of the street is in the open, it is usually so tiny that a driver needs field glasses or a telescope to locate it. It dodges around like the new planet.

Perchance the city is ashamed of its street titles. In a country filled with Spanish and Mexican traditions, some of the meaningless back-East appellations tacked onto thoroughfares should shrink in shame.

And why should the Auto Club have to place signs at intersections and boulevard stops? Are the laws of the State and city dead secrets also? Why should a minority of autoists have to foot the bills to let all travelers know when they are within the law? There doubtless was a time when cars were few and but a limited number of the populace was beneficiary of the legal publicity of the big road. But things have changed. There is a car for every five people, or one for every family, and even the humblest worker has his flivver. So why should not the State and city publish their edicts so that all who run or drive may read?

POLITICS VS. ECONOMY

In passing the so-called veterans' relief bill in the form drawn by the Senate committee the Senate yesterday put that body on record again as preferring politics to economy—as placing higher the measure which supposedly insures the maximum number of votes and rejecting that which cares best for the needs of disabled veterans. The cautions of the President, of Secretary Mellon and of Gen. Hines of the Veterans' Bureau went for nothing. The bill, if it becomes law, will add $102,000,000 to next year's government expenses and an increasing amount annually thereafter.

Since it differs from the House bill, this measure must now go to conference and there is the possibility that saner counsels may prevail among the Representatives. The bill the House passed, however, carried $79,000,000 more than the Senate measure. The President's letter to Senator Watson indicated the probability that he will veto the measure when it reaches him, if it carries any such extravagant appropriation; and it is evident that such a veto would be well justified and ought to be sustained by Congress.

Congress ought to learn, some time, that extravagance is poor politics in the long run.

Approximately $4,750,000,000 has been and will be appropriated by the present Congress in the extraordinary and present sessions, while the last session of the Seventieth Congress appropriated $4,665,000,000. The supply bills alone aggregate $3,165,480,000, an increase of $93,000,000, every dollar of which, as President Hoover points out, must be paid by taxpayers. The revenues of the government from direct and indirect taxation amount to about $30 per person a year, or $125 per family—a heavy burden which Congress ought not to think of increasing unless absolutely necessary.

To add $102,000,000 for the first year, increasing to $225,000,000 a year in the near future, to these already vast sums should not be considered unless it is necessary—and as the President and Gen. Hines were able to show, it is neither necessary nor desirable.

The principle of the congressional proposals is plainly all wrong. To presume, in case of a man disabled by disease as lately as ten years after the close of the war, that such disease was incurred in war service, is plainly absurd. Disease which has its inception ten years in the past is rare, exceptional. It should be so treated; it should not be assumed that it is the rule for diseases to wait that long before manifesting themselves.

The bill as drawn is inequitable as between veterans, also. It discriminates in favor of those already in hospitals, and against those who, equally in need, had been unable to obtain entrance to a hospital—there is a waiting list at all the government hospitals.

The testimony of Secretary Mellon, that a treasury deficit of $180,000,000 for the year will be the probable result of the enactment of such legislation, ought to settle the matter. In the face of such a deficit, there should be no pension laws which go far beyond anything the veterans have asked for—a proposal sponsored by the American Legion, for example, calls for appropriations of about $5,000,000 a year. It is unlikely that this organization would ask for any less than it considered necessary.

This Congress has been singularly insensitive to the need for economy. President Hoover has had to remind it several times that it was in grave danger not only of depleting the treasury, but actually of running the government into red-ink figures. If the President had the power possessed by governors of many of the States, of vetoing individual items in appropriation bills, a very different situation would be presented. If there ever is a general revision of the Constitution, such power should be given the Chief Executive by all means.

WELCOME, LIBRARIANS

It is with special pleasure that Los Angeles welcomes the fifty-second meeting of the American Library Association to the book center of Western America and extends the hospitality of Southern California to the 2000 delegates assembled here from all parts of the United States and Canada.

The week's program with scheduled meetings for morning, afternoon and evening, to say nothing of the side trips to the Huntington Library, schools, universities and other points of interest, promises to keep the time of the delegates fully occupied during their all too short visit to the Pacific Coast. We know that our people will benefit immensely from being brought into contact with so many of the minds directing the public library work of the country, and we trust our visitors will take away with them something worth preserving.

All educators today recognize the vital part taken by the public libraries of city, county and hamlet, in increasing the general knowledge and raising the cultural standards of the nation as a whole. It is, therefore, a privilege of no mean order for a city to be able to list the annual meeting of the American Library Association among the year's conventions. Our citizens will naturally bring to bear every possible influence to make the occasion as memorable to our distinguished guests as it will be in the convention records of Los Angeles.

Our people subscribed liberally to build a beautiful structure, to stock it with ample volumes representing all branches of learning and entertainment, and to make it a foundation worthy of spreading the culture so fast becoming the first characteristic of Southern California communities. Statistics show that our people generally are making good use of their possession.

As one result of this week's activities we hope the librarians from other sections of the country will see for themselves the earnestness displayed here to make the library all that it can and should be in the field of general education and will impress their favorable reactions on their own States and cities when they return there at the close of their present convention.

STATE VEGETABLE

New York restaurateurs recently nominated cabbage as Gotham's vegetable. This may have been done in hope that the City Council would elect corned beef as its meat. The possibilities enlarge as the field widens.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

THE welcome of Los Angeles to the American Library Association will be warm, but it will be especially warm to Purd B. Wright, head of the Kansas City (Mo.) public library. For Wright was librarian here in 1910-1911 and is credited with founding the present branch system. Los Angeles being a struggling young town, he secured $210,000 from Andrew Carnegie for branch libraries before he had been in the city long enough to know its topography. So he chartered a captive balloon for a morning, borrowed an engineer from the City Engineer's office and with field glasses and a map studied the city from an altitude of 2500 feet. On the map he spotted the branches to be installed, with regard to the river, railroad tracks and other barriers. Back in Kansas City he is following the same ideas. Kansas City had but one branch library when he went there as librarian, but now has fifteen. Los Angeles has fifty.

Wright also opened the first open-shelf department in the Los Angeles library, then in the Hamburger Building, and is said to have written the amendment to our city charter which has proved of such great effectiveness in the development of the great library we have today.

K. C. B. in Defense of Canada

Our recent article about how the talkies are going English, in which we said Englishmen, Australians and Canadians—born and reared to the English accent—were the only actors who could get jobs on shows with English locale, gets a rise from our friend, Kenneth C. Beaton. "Canadians don't speak with an English accent," asserts K. C. B. "Moreover, they don't 'make believe,' as so many Americans do. The only English accents you hear in Canada are heard when you happen in with some Englishman or some American simulating the English—just as in Hollywood. I'm a Canadian and have oodles of Canadian relatives, and I know."

Answer

ALL RIGHT, Mister Beaton,
BUT WHEN FOX was making
THE "SKY HAWK" picture
WE WENT on the lot
AND MET A group of fellows
WHO ALL TALKED through their noses
AND WE ASKED: "Are you English?"
AND THEY ANSWERED: "No, Canadians."
AND WE KNOW some people
FROM VANcouver
AND THEIR ACcent is English
EVEN IF they don't know it.

Not Such a Bargain

The sign on a Japanese vegetable stand in Santa Monica reads:

"CORNS, 6 FOR 25 C"

Well, lots of folks get theirs free, thrown in with the shoes they buy to fit their heads instead of their feet.

How Men Outlive Buildings

Most of us new-timers think of our "old courthouse" as something very ancient and historic. The other day we saw and heard a man pointing it out to some visitors as a relic of old Spanish architecture. The fact is that the Courthouse was accepted by the Board of Supervisors in September, 1891, and there are plenty of vigorous citizens here who were grown up before it was built.

Judge Hugh J. Crawford of the Superior Court was telling us the other day that he was a practicing attorney here for some years before it was built. "When I came here in 1885," he said, "there were only two departments in our Superior Court. Now there are thirty-eight. When the Courthouse was built we thought it the grandest and stateliest of piles which would outlast all of us. But now it looks as if I might outlast it in my term of usefulness."

Judge Crawford has not only seen many changes here, but has helped to bring some of them about. While he was police judge he hit on the plan of looking at the hands of men charged with vagrancy. If a man had calloused hands the judge took that as evidence that he was an honest working man out of work, if there was no evidence to the contrary. When traffic arrests became numerous, he inaugurated the system of collecting traffic fines on the installment plan, arguing that the wealthy man could simply pay his fine and walk out while a working man arrested for the same offense might have to go to jail because unable to pay his fine at once and his family thereby might lose his support.

More Pipes Than Ever

One of our worries about the decadence of the present generation has been set at rest. We had the idea that the pipe was passing, in these days when one hears and sees so much of cigarettes. But Harry Hugunin, one of our most authoritative local pipe experts and worshipers, tells us that more pipes are being sold in Los Angeles than ever before, and that the demand increases steadily.

"And this is evidence," says Hugunin, "that home and fireside still are safe. It is true that men smoke cigarettes more on the street and when going about, but when they get home and settle down for an evening they want pipes. The demand for the better pipes is so great that prices are going up—there is an actual shortage of the best 'briar,' or 'bruyere,' as the correct name should be. It's like the sale of newspapers—street sales don't count for half as much as home circulation. And you'd be surprised to know how many men keep pipes for use at home and in their offices, and only use cigarettes to carry about with them."

STILL KNOCKING

Most of the recent experiences with the direct primary over the country bring further proof that it is cumbersome, costly and far from satisfactory. Men who would make the strongest candidates and the ablest officials do not thrust themselves forward, nor are they willing to intrust themselves to the expensive competition of a State-wide primary. The cost of this brief campaign necessarily runs into thousands of dollars.

LOST MONEY

In substituting the new bills for old Uncle Sam involuntarily cleaned up a huge sum. It is found that nearly a billion dollars' worth of the old bills have completely disappeared. They have been lost, destroyed or hidden away. At any rate they are not available for redemption and technically the government is that much ahead. Here is something for Wall street to grieve about.

BACK-SEAT LEGISLATORS

Burlingame City Council will mute the barnyard fowl. And how the trustees of all small communities would like to mute the human roosters who make every meeting uncomfortable.

NOT A SQUARE DEAL
By James J. Montague

Though nature scatters flowers
The field and woodland through,
About their roots she showers
A rain of weed seeds, too.
The flowers we must nourish;
It costs both toil and pelf
To make them wax and flourish—
She tends the weeds herself.

Home owners who are lazy,
Although they plough and sow,
Can never cull a daisy,
Nor make a rose to grow,
Except by bending double
Through many a weary day,
And taking endless trouble
To keep the weeds away.

But nature is untiring
And knows what she's about;
She keeps the weeds aspiring
To crowd the flowers out.
And, save for our hard labors
With spade and rakes and hoes,
We could not show the neighbors
A single pink or rose.

I think the Legislature
A statute should prepare,
To make this recreant nature
Do what is right and fair.
She has both sun and showers
And quantities of seeds;
Why can't she till the flowers,
And let us till the weeds?

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

THOSE IN FAVOR SAY "S"
[Baltimore Sun]

The case of Edmond Fontaine, who made a reputation with no more than a chisel and the nineteenth letter of the alphabet, is reaching its close, if it has not already passed it. Of course, there are certain legal formalities yet to be attended to; and where legal formalities are concerned anything may, as the saying is, happen. But from the public's point of view the man who made the Edgar Allan Poe memorial an at least accurate decoration has been successfully defended, vindicated and congratulated. The Park Board has forgiven his act, contemporary poets have approved it, great out-of-town newspapers have commended it editorially; and the present Edgar Allan Poe collateral descendant of the classic American, has publicly urged Mr. Fontaine's dismissal.

That may not make it unanimous, but it does seem to make it conclusive. In one instance, at least, the theory that vandalism can be public benefaction appears to be not paradox but orthodox. Mr. Poe speaks, we should say, with authority from two vantage points. As a member of the family of the author of "The Raven," he must have some very special personal interest in the monument. Besides, Mr. Poe is an eminent attorney, and one trained in and accustomed to strict construction of the law. If neither his family feeling nor his legalistic sense is outraged by the act, it must seem that some final voice has been heard, even if it did not speak with the tongues of magistrates. As a matter of fact, it is absurd to be indignant with correction of an error whose long atrocious existence did not produce mass anger or official action.

The monument is public property; but so is the text of Poe's work. As Mr. Poe says, Mr. Fontaine's method is not likely to become a public policy. And in this one instance it is better that a whole barrel full of stonecutters' "a's" be lost than that Poe's music be jangled out of tune on his own memorial.

SIDE BY SIDE
[Hartford Courant]

On Friday, May 30, Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, Protestant Episcopal, then at his summer home in Milton, Mass., celebrated his eightieth birthday. His years sat lightly upon him and he received many callers who came to extend their congratulations. That was to have been expected.

But one of the early callers was Cardinal O'Connell, also of Boston, a prince of the Roman Catholic Church. The call, one feels, was not exactly formal for the Bishop and the Cardinal, after chatting for a time, left the Bishop's house to view his garden, and before the caller left, the Cardinal and the Bishop were photographed as they stood side by side and both looked, on the whole, as if they enjoyed it.

To a world which sees altogether too much of intolerance the news is distinctly pleasant.

NOT UNUSUAL

CHINA AND WORLD PEACE

BY FRED HOGUE

Chinese treaty rights are guaranteed and respected by four great world powers—Great Britain, France, Japan and the United States. These powers stand pledged to protect China against foreign encroachments; but they cannot protect the Chinese against themselves.

Less than a year ago I was in Peking, renamed by the Nationalists Peiping, when three war lords were in conference there. Chang Hsuh-liang, the young Manchurian dictator, also participated in the conference.

Then the group of American journalists, of which I was a member, was assured that China was united, that civil war was ended and that, after a period of probation, the Chinese would be permitted to hold elections for the selection of a Chinese Congress, that would legislate with the consent of the governed.

In my correspondence from Peking at that time I expressed my doubts about a unified China, asserting that that path which the Nationalist government was following was not a path that would lead to permanent unity. Some critics then wrote to The Times asserting that I was maligning China and the Chinese, that domestic unity was established, and that I was misled by Japanese propaganda, along with the rest of the group of journalists, to send back misinformation to the United States about conditions in China.

I recall this now not in a spirit of animosity toward my critics, but to repeat what I wrote then. "Despite reports that may be given out by the representatives of a government abroad, when ten trained American newspaper men on the spot, after careful investigation, agree as to existing conditions, they are apt to be right."

Perhaps you will be interested to know some of the inside facts on which I then based my conclusions.

Yen, present head of the northern alliance, came south from Shansi to meet Chiang Kai-shek, who came to Peking from Nanking. He arrived one afternoon, had a conference for an hour with President Chiang; then he retired to the German Hospital, inside the legation grounds, ostensibly for medical treatment.

These legation grounds are under joint foreign control. Here reside the foreign ambassadors. The grounds are walled and fortified. A regiment of American soldiers is always there to protect the legation, as are troops of other foreign governments. This regulation is covered by treaty, the result of the attempt to massacre all foreigners in Peking during the Boxer rebellion.

I was at the time temporarily confined in the Rockefeller Hospital. The next afternoon two nurses came over from the German Hospital to visit the head nurse on my floor. She brought them to see me. During a short conversation I asked them about the physical condition of Gov. Yen. They said that Yen and eight of his officers had taken six rooms in the hospital, but that none of them was under medical care. Yen found the legation quarter the safest in Peking.

Feng did not trust himself to come from Shensi to Peking, but sent two of his generals to negotiate in his name. Chang came from Mukden with two armored trains and a bodyguard of 1200 of his picked troops.

Peking, at that time, was under the military control of one of Yen's lieutenants. According to the reports given out, the conference was harmonious. But at 8 o'clock of the third evening Chiang, without notifying the other conferees, ordered his special train and departed for the south. Tommy Lee, one of Chang of Mukden's closest advisers, was in the Peking Club when one of his lieutenants phoned that President Chiang had ordered his special train. Lee sped away in an automobile to the Peking Hotel; and at 10 o'clock his two armored trains were on the way back to Mukden. During the same night Feng's generals departed for Shensi. Gov. Yen was the only one to remain.

Feng, Yen and President Chiang had signed a pledge, attested to by the most solemn Chinese oaths, that they would all leave China for a year and travel in foreign parts.

Chiang made no gesture to carry out his pledge; but Feng and Yen, more scrupulous, rented for five months an estate in Japan, not far from Nagasaki. They paid their rent during the term of the lease and, although neither of them left their respective provinces, they offered the lease as evidence that they had carried out their part of the pledge. Curiously enough, the Chinese were satisfied with this proof of fulfillment.

There was a general clamor to know the terms of the agreement among the war lords. Chiang responded that it would be given forth. Here is how he kept his pledge. The morning after his return to Nanking he visited the tomb of Sun Yat-sen, who is now a Buddhist saint. On his return to the executive offices he announced to the press that he had confided to the spirit of Sun Yat-sen the terms of the agreements reached at Peking. Again the Chinese, government and people, accepted this as proper publication; but the terms are still known only to those who are in communion with the spirit of Sun Yat-sen.

The only meeting of these war lords since has been on the field of battle and it is not likely that either Chiang or Yen has exposed himself on the firing line. Feng, on the other hand, is reputed to be possessed of considerable physical courage. He always leads his troops into the fighting and is the only one of the three who has won personal military distinction.

I have gone into this conference in detail in order that you may understand how united China actually is; how orderly government is conducted, how much the people know about their government and to what extent they are permitted to participate in governmental functions.

Feng, the Christian general, is doubtless sincere, according to his lights. He is a hard and consistent fighter, was reputed to have the best disciplined army in China south of the wall. His troops have something of the fanaticism of the Ironsides of Cromwell; but 100,000 men are not likely to make progress against 400,000,000 people, four-fifths of whom are opposed to a government with Feng at its head.

Yen, Governor of Shansi, has been known for fifteen years as the model Governor. The foreigners with whom I speak had more respect for him and confidence in him than in any of the others.

We who live here are accustomed to find fault with our government, national, State and local, with our industry, with living conditions in general. But when I recall the living conditions in Northern China I can easily imagine the surprise of Yen could he see how the theories propounded to him by Americans in Shansi have actually worked out here.

Dr. Monroe, Ph.D., of Columbia University, has summed up his observations on China in the following whimsical paragraph:

"To understand life in China take a pinch of the struggle of the early church; throw in a little of the European Renaissance; add some of the wild thinking and bloody events of the French Revolution; pour in a good quantity of the spirit of 1776; add a little Bolshevik red pepper; then mix well and cook until half baked."

Now Gov. Yen and Feng, the Christian, have crossed the Yellow River and are leading a combined army of more than 200,000 men against the Nationalist troops under Chiang Kai-shek.

Chang Hsueh-liang, the Manchurian war lord and dictator, is apparently remaining neutral in the present duel between President Chiang and the northern alliance. His territory with about 30,000,000 population, is north of the great wall, in Manchuria, and the peace of Manchuria is the affair of Japan.

There is a fifth factor in this game of balances of power and changing political alliances. Wu Pu-fei was the top dog in Northern China in 1924. He was regarded by many as the ablest of the Chinese marshals. But Wu was unhorsed by a hostile combination and retired to a Buddhist monastery in Central China. All the foreign observers spoke well of him. His integrity was above suspicion and there is a considerable faction in China that would like to see him leave his monastery and take part in the struggle for so-called unification.

China, with its 400,000,000 population, hopeless and helpless, unable to establish stable government and unwilling to accept help and advice from without—China in a state of chronic revolt, plague-ridden and starving, is a constant menace to the peace, the health, the progress and the sanity of the world.

Progress on the pathway to universal peace can be made elsewhere; but it is plain that Asia will be the last continent to be redeemed. When peace has come elsewhere to men of good will, it may be possible that China can be brought in line.

Of this I am convinced: China is not to be redeemed by the present methods employed by the occidental governments and the churches of the Occident. We are trying to lead them along a path that, for the present, they are unable, physically and mentally, to follow.

Some progress has been made in teaching a simplified language of 1200 characters, but the progress is now interrupted by the present state of chronic civil war and banditry. The warning which our government has sent this spring for our nationals to leave the interior of China as quickly as possible is not given without cause. It looks as though we shall have to begin anew where we began 100 years ago and work for the redemption of China on a new plan.

WHERE CAN I LEARN
Cultural Spanish?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Readings from Spanish literature, with translations and explanations, so that a greater pleasure is obtained than by merely reading a translation, are offered free by Paul Clifford of the Gardena Evening High School, Normandie and Palm avenues, Gardena, on Monday and Wednesday evenings, 7 to 9.

Besides the literature, there are easy questions and answers. The more advanced use no book, while beginners have a book as a guide. People of all ages are welcome to this class. The instructor was formerly teacher in the Philippines and also took a course in Barcelona, Spain, in the Berlitz School of Languages.

Too bad we didn't take a leaf out of Turkey's book and save time and worry during census taking by appointing a day on which every family was required to stay home to have noses counted, as that country did.

RIPPLING RHYTHM by Walt Disney

SIDETRACKED GRIEF

I ought to be dejected, disconsolate and glum, the things I've expected so often have come. I look for their arrival upon a certain morn, I trust their survival that I may be forborn. Alas for all those things that ought to keep me sane; they blow up much like bubbles before they reach my door. I'm being cheerful and even glad, when planning to be tearful, disconsolate and sad; I plant a row of onions, I plant a bean and beet, and woe is me! I have bunions upon my toes and feet. And those things I'm planting, I say, "A crop to come—the prospect seems granted—and knock them over plumb. The rain will come in torrent, and drown them while they grow; a whirlwind, I abhorrent, will lay my prospects low. And if perchance the weather should waver from plants of mine, whose parts come together, and they're in their sign. Pierce Pisces will come and eat them, there will be deadly blight, the sun will bake heat them, or there'll be frost night. One thing is sure as certain in such a world as this that grief will draw a profile happiness and bliss. The sun my onions hum—not nearly wildly, as I was once to come. The brown sun is shining my garden is a shine, and thriving lentil affords me great delight. The tomatoes I planted don't seem to head the right; I should be much offended, I'm such a tinhorn sap, to be disappointed and chagrined by my tents, for prospects jointed humiliate a pest.

PARTY HOSTESS EGGS LANDLADY

Latter Gets Warrant for Battery and Fraud on Innkeeper

When she attempted to halt an asserted wild party in an apartment occupied by Cecelia Madison, 29 years of age, at 426 South Manhattan Place, Loyce Brooks, manager of the apartment-house, was greeted by a shower of eggs, she informed City Prosecutor Nix yesterday.

"I told her to stop making so much noise and she hurled eggs at me," Miss Brooks said. "Some of them hit me. Later she moved out without paying me $19 she owed on the rent of her apartment."

Nix issued complaints charging Miss Madison with battery and defrauding an innkeeper, on which Municipal Judge Curtis later issued warrants for her arrest.

FAILURE TO PROVIDE WINS WIFE DECREE

Mrs. Hazel Ruble told Superior Judge Price yesterday, while testifying at her trial for a divorce from Everett Ruble, that her husband abused her and did not provide for her and two small children.

The Rubles married June 12, 1921, and separated November 26, 1929. The wife asked for ranch property in Moreno Valley. She was granted a decree.

JAPANESE GIRLS TAKEN IN RAID

Saki Sales Laid to Twenty Prisoners

Accused of Selling Intoxicants

SALE of saki, the Japanese national drink of much potency, led to the appearance yesterday before United States Commissioner Head of fifteen Japanese young women, three Japanese men and two Chinese men. The twenty were arrested in a series of raids, mostly along East First street, following complaints from a Japanese religious organization that saki was being dispensed with a great flourish in many places along the street.

As the result of information given Federal dry agents, numerous purchases of liquor are said to have been made along the street by Japanese, acting on behalf of the dry agents and the city police. Each place was quietly put in charge of the police and dry agents, acting with Deputy United States Marshal Mangerina, as soon as informers made purchases of the potent Japanese drink and opened the doors of the various places. Arrests were reported as having been made at 131, 318½, 304, 109½, 228 East First street, and 199½ Weller street.

These arrested appeared before Commissioner Head, furnished bail, after waiving a hearing, and were released. They will now await an investigation by the Federal grand jury.

Mayors Will Attend Bowl Rally Today

Southern California cities will be represented by their mayors and other civic officials at the Hollywood Bowl's campaign breakfast for school and college committees, to be held today at noon in the Bowl. The ticket drive for the summer concert season which opens in two weeks is extended throughout Southern California, and leaders in towns of the county indicated the wide interest in the forthcoming season.

Mayor Porter will head the group of Los Angeles officials. Other mayors attending will be Hauge of Long Beach, Lawrence of Inglewood, Clark of Hermosa Beach, Schwab of Beverly Hills and Bruce of Burbank. R. B. Orbison, city manager of Pasadena, also will be present.

Louis J. Arland, past-president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker.

Five New Cases of Poliomyelitis in City Reported

With five more cases of infantile paralysis reported over the week-end, the total number for the month to date is forty-seven, according to the Los Angeles Health Department. The total deaths from the disease for the month are four and the total number of cases this year is sixty-eight with five deaths all told.

City Health Officer Parrish yesterday requested the Board of Education to discontinue the practice of conducting commencement exercises in the grammar schools in order to prevent spread of the ailment. He also asks that city school swimming pools be closed. The present school year ends on Friday of this week.

FORGERY HANGS ON TYPEWRITER

Changed City Specifications One Machine's Work

Investigators Checking Up on Possible Authors

Document Given Contractors for Study, It Seems

Identification of the typewriter on which fraudulent changes in specifications for public works were prepared was being attempted yesterday by investigators from the District Attorney's office as the inquiry continued into peculiar circumstances surrounding the attempt to alter the lengthy document.

The illegal and felonious changes were discovered last Friday after the City Council had approved the document. It was found that some one had substituted typewritten changes in the specifications.

CONCERNING SAND

The changes all concerned the type of sand to be used and provided for the use of a mechanical sand washer on all construction. One of the alterations made it obligatory that sand used "must be washed in a mechanical washing machine."

Specimens of writing were taken from typewriters in all offices at the City Hall, where the changed document was handled, as was also handwriting suggestive of the peculiar arrows used in marking places to insert the changes.

The inquiry is being directed by Blayney Matthews, chief of investigators for the District Attorney.

CHANGES IDENTICAL

It was determined that the inserted pasters which changed the language of the specifications in five places were all made on a single typewriter and it was also revealed that the fraud was perpetrated in the City Hall. Questioning of all officials who handled the document brought out the information that it had not been taken from the building from the time it was prepared until the changes were discovered.

Revelations that contractors interested in the adoption of the specifications had the document in custody in the City Hall while studying the matter, were made known yesterday by City Attorney Werner. It was also pointed out that the changes could have been effected in a very short time. Matthews, declining to make public the names of the contractors who handled the document said that he would obtain specimens of the typewriting of machines in their offices for comparison.

Official cognisance of the attempted fraud was taken by the Board of Public Works yesterday, but the matter was ignored completely by the City Council.

Suit to Bar Use of Play Title Fails

Suit for an injunction against use of the name "Decency" for a play being presented at a downtown theater failed yesterday after Superior Judge Hanby had considered ten affidavits from theatrical and motion-picture authorities which supported contentions of Arthur Gregor, defendant and author of the play.

Plaintiff in the case was Symona Fenner Boniface, who claimed to have produced and copyrighted a play with the same name more than a year before the copyrighting of Gregor's play.

Gregor testified that the plaintiff knew of his play, but did not notify him of her protest against use of the name until it had been on the stage five days. Then, he asserted, she tried to make a deal with him for payment for the use of the name.

Spouse Quotes From Husband's Dream Records

Milton C. Oldham's "dream book" in which he collected data for the study of somnolescent psychic phenomena, was drawn on by Mrs. Margaret Price Oldham, his wife, in filing her cross-complaint for divorce, following her husband's suit on grounds that she "nagged" him and once locked him out of the house.

One of the dreams Oldham recorded, according to his wife's complaint, was a vision in which he imagined himself in the arms of one "Hazel." Mrs. Oldham asserts "Hazel" is Mrs. Hazel Ricard, her husband's stenographer.

The ceremony will be conducted at Rosen's home, 5125 Marathon street, with Rabbi Eugene Rosenberg officiating. They will make their home in Santa Barbara.

DAM BONDS' RETURN HINTED

Insurance Adjuster Offers to Get Back $42,000 for County from Surety Concerns

A letter was received by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors yesterday signed by Frank R. Lewin, an insurance adjuster, offering to get back for the county, free of cost, $42,000 asserted to be the balance due from insurance companies which furnished the surety bonds for contractors who were awarded the contracts for the building of the San Gabriel dam. The communication was referred to County Counsel Mattoon.

When the contract for the dam was let a premium of $200,000 was paid on the surety bonds of the contractors, Fisher, Ross, MacDonald and Kahn. The policies were spread among five surety companies. When the board recently cancelled the contract for the work it settled with the insurance companies for a refund of $150,000. This was a short rate and a fair settlement, according to the companies, because the supervisors themselves had cancelled the contract.

At the time the settlement was under consideration the Supervisors were told by Vincent Morgan, special counsel for the Flood Control District, that the settlement was a fair one.

Following the receipt of the Lewin letter yesterday all the members of the board agreed that if the balance due on the refund can be obtained they gladly will do all in their power to get it.

Couple Soon Will Visit Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sylvester Burns

OF MUCH interest to their many friends in Southern California is the news that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sylvester Burns, whose wedding was one of the brilliant events of the 2nd inst., in Chicago, are honeymooning in Honolulu and will reach Los Angeles for the Fourth of July festivities.

Mrs. Burns formerly was Miss Sarene Otis, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Otis of Chicago. The couple sailed from Vancouver aboard the S.S. Empress of Canada for Hawaii. Mrs. Burns was maid of honor at the wedding here of her cousin, Miss Virginia Seeley and Nicholas McCarthy Harrison some time ago, her engagement to Mr. Burns being announced at an affair with which Mrs. Otis entertained January 7. She was graduated from Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Ct., and has been president for two years of the Junior League of Chicago. Mr. Burns is a University of Pennsylvania man. His brother Fritz Burns went East to serve as best man.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Stern, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Stern, Mr. and Mrs. Manford Meyberg and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Siegleman.

Here for Visit

Mrs. Luther Drake (Grace Wilshire) of Omaha, has been in Los Angeles for several weeks and during her usual summer sojourn here is domiciled at the Women's Athletic Club in South Flower street. Mrs. Drake came west in time to attend the Wattles-Bryans wedding the 3rd inst.

Westwood Wedding

Miss Dorothy Capps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Capps, became the bride the 14th inst. of Donovan Davis Short, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Short of Mar Vista, at an attractive ceremony conducted at the Westwood Community Methodist Church, with Dr. George A. Warner of Santa Ana officiating, assisted by Rev. John Wesley Robinson. The church was decorated with pink gladioli and blue delphinium and was lighted with candles.

The bride's costume was of white satin, princess style, with a veil of real Brussels net caught in a cap effect, and she carried a shower of lilies of the valley, gardenias and orchids. Miss Eleanor Lloyd, maid of honor, wore a frock of pink crepe chiffon, with hat and shoes to match, and carried a shower of pink roses. The Misses Elizabeth Lloyd and Ida Davis, bridesmaids, wore ciel blue crepe chiffon frocks with hats and shoes to match and carried pink roses and blue delphinium. Mr. Short was assisted by Michiel Parley as best man and Douglas Farrell and William Stewart, ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in Francis avenue for the bridal party and members of the families. After a motor trip Mr. and Mrs. Short will be at home after July 15 at 3677 Boise street, Mar Vista.

Maple. No date is set as yet for the wedding.

For Bride-Elect

Honoring Miss Marjorie Lounsberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lounsberry of South Rossmore avenue, and her fiance, Hugh Hubert Hughes, whose wedding is to be an event of tomorrow evening at the family home, Miss Estella Carrillo del Valle and her brother, James Dowling Del Valle, are entertaining this evening with a dinner at their home, 351 South Oxford avenue, the party motoring to the Biltmore for dancing afterward.

Those included will be members of the bridal party only, Misses Del Valle and Dorothy Llewellyn, maids of honor; the bridesmaids, Misses Barbara McCartney, Betty Cordingly, Ella Sandberg, Caroline Mathews and Agnes Duffy; best man, Vernon Heintz, and the ushers, Harry T. Coffin, Jr., Harold E. Thompson, Jr., Milton McCabe, Philip Duffy, Orville Sawyer and James Dowling Del Valle.

Last evening a dinner at the Lounsberry home followed the rehearsal, after which Miss Lounsberry, Mr. Hughes and their bridal party motored down to the Biltmore for dancing.

Gone East

Miss Ada Blake of Marlborough School left last Wednesday for the East, planning to sail from New York July 2 for a summer abroad. She plans to pass much of her time in Copenhagen, and will also visit various points of interest on the continent. Miss Blake will not return until Marlborough School opens in September.

Summering Here

Miss Rowena Selby and her brother, Prentiss Selby, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Selby of Johannesburg, South Africa, are planning a most delightful summer in Southern California with relatives in the north and south. They arrived here two weeks ago and after visiting with their aunt, Mrs. Richard O'Neill, and cousin, Alice O'Neill of Van Ness avenue, Miss Selby went north ten days ago to visit with the Selby relatives. Prentiss is planning to attend summer school in the north.

Mrs. O'Neill and Miss Alice motored north Thursday, joining Mr. O'Neill in San Francisco for a week's sojourn and Miss Rowena Selby will return home with them.

Mrs. Paul Selby formerly was Miss Rowena Moore, daughter of the late Walter Moore and Mrs. Moore of this city, and since her marriage has made her home in South Africa, coming to California, however, for frequent visits with relatives.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Danziger gave an attractively appointed dinner party last evening in the French salon of the Hollywood Plaza honoring Mr. and Mrs. Robert Philippi, recently married, and Mr. and Mrs. Duane D. Jones, who are leaving for New York shortly.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleepless, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, strys and belly and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

HARMONY WITH IN-LAWS OVER BABY IS POSSIBLE!

The older and younger generation both need to practice courtesy and restraint if they are to live together in harmony. And when this situation is unavoidable and unalterable, it must be managed tactfully or there is extreme unhappiness on both sides.

My mail is filled with protests from grandmothers who deplore the "gad-about" proclivities of their young daughters-in-law, they having been of the type who considered that twenty-four hours attention to the baby was the only attitude which spelled motherhood. But for one letter of this type there are ten from young mothers who must live with their mothers-in-law. Their lives are made miserable by spoken or unspoken criticism of their modern ideas and methods of child care, in which the older generation often refuses to uphold them. It is a relief and a change to receive a letter of the following type, which many young mothers in a similar situation might imitate with benefit.

AN UNDERSTANDING FROM START

"My husband and I live with his people and they are simply 'foolish' about their new grandson," Mrs. C. A. M. writes. "But you know all young mothers are not pleasure-seekers and I am very conscientious about my baby and this is, the way I handled the in-law situation.

"My husband is an only child and his mother was a martyr to the cause, thus making, as I have learned, a selfish and spoiled baby of him. He stayed up late, sucked his thumb, was jounced and rocked, in short all the habits which I so much wanted to prevent in my baby. And I determined that they should be.

"I made it clear when I returned from the hospital that as far as baby was concerned I was boss. I have been gentle but firm ever since.

"We get along beautifully and I have a happy, healthy, unspoiled baby. He is naturally good-natured, but I do think the mutual understanding from the beginning and consistency on my part has helped, don't you? My baby eats and naps regularly, sleeps all night and is a joy instead of a care. This is ideal when one is with elderly persons who might otherwise be disturbed."

SHOW YOUR APPRECIATION

Consistency in sticking to one's program in rearing children is one of the most vital features of its success.

And your mother and father-in-law deserve commendation for their restraint. It isn't easy to see young persons handling their precious grandson, and to keep tight rein on their own opinions. They are bound to feel that they have had more experience than you, and I think you should tell them frequently how much easier they are making it for you by their willingness to allow you to go your own way. This would be a kindly appreciation for them and make your path even easier. People are too much inclined to say a lot when displeased and nothing at all when pleased.

Chef Wyman's: RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BEEF GOULASH

Cut one pound of lean meat into one inch squares, dust it with flour that has been mixed with a half a teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of paprika, heat two tablespoonfuls of shortening in a saute pan, add the meat, and stir and cook until slightly brown, add one chopped green pepper, two crushed, or sliced cloves of garlic, one onion chopped fine, and enough water to just cover, simmer until the meat is tender, just before serving reduce the liquid to one-half the amount and add one cupful of tomatoe puree. Simmer slowly for another twenty minutes and add one cupful of cook spaghetti or noodles, pour the mixture on a hot platter, and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

SPOON BREAD

Stir one and one-fourth cupfuls of corn meal into three cupfuls of boiling water, to which has been added one teaspoonful of salt, stir and cook for forty-five minutes in a double boiler. Remove from the fire, and beat in one at a time, three eggs, beating hard after the addition of each egg, add one-half a cupful of rich milk, one-third of a cupful of melted butter, and three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder beat until smooth, pour into a buttered baking dish and bake until firm in the center. Serve from the dish with a spoon.

CHEESE SOUFFLE

Two tablespoonfuls of butter, three tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of scalded milk, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of cheyenne pepper, one-half a cupful of grated cheese, yolks of three eggs, and the whites of three eggs. Melt the butter, add the flour and stir until well blended, then gradually add the scalded milk, salt, cheyenne and cheese. Remove from the fire, add the yolks of the eggs, that have been beaten until lemon colored, cool the mixture and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Pour into a buttered baking dish, place in a moderate oven and bake for twenty minutes. Serve at once.

GRAPE CONSERVE

Place in a preserving kettle, four cupfuls of seedless grapes that have been washed and removed from the stems, add two thinly sliced oranges, rind and pulp, two and one-half cupfuls of sugar, and one cupful of seeded raisins. Bring slowly to a boil, and simmer until cooked and clear, then add one cupful of chopped walnut meats, place in hot sterilized jars, allow to cool, and seal.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

Be sure you know just what to do,
Lest you in vain your action rue.
—Old Mother Nature.

PETER TRIES TO CALL JERRY MUSKRAT

Peter Rabbit sat on the bank of the Smiling Pool. The Black Shadows lay heavily across half of it. It was very still and the water was as smooth as a sheet of glass. Peter was watching for Jerry Muskrat. He had been watching for some time. Jerry hadn't appeared. He had seen and heard nothing of Jerry. He wondered if Jerry could be somewhere over in those Black Shadows. You see, Peter wanted somebody to talk to. Redwing the Blackbird had gone to sleep long ago. For some unknown reason, Grandfather Frog was nowhere about. There was no one.

There was a sharp, sudden boom just over Peter's head that made him jump. Yes, sir, it actually made him jump. You see, it was so wholly unexpected that for an instant Peter didn't realize who or what had made that noise. Then he realized that it was Boomer, the Nighthawk. Boomer had swooped down in that headlong way of his to check himself just above Peter's head, making that loud noise. And then his swift wings had taken him up in the air again. Peter hadn't even had time to protest.

The faintest of faint odors tickled the wabbly little nose of Peter. It was an odor he recognised. It was an odor that he never got anywhere excepting around the Smiling Pool, or in certain places along the Laughing Brook and the Big River. Peter sniffed two or three times and finally caught it again.

"Jerry is somewhere around," said Peter with a grin, "for that is his own special perfume that I smell. Several others of my acquaintances carry perfume, but none like that that Jerry Muskrat likes so much."

Of course, Peter meant the musk which has given Jerry his name of muskrat. Unlike Jimmy Skunk's, Jerry Muskrat's perfume is not unpleasant. Peter rather enjoyed it as he sniffed and sniffed, for it was not too strong. Then, too, he felt certain that Jerry must be near, or there would be none of that odor.

"I know what I'll do," thought Peter. "I told Jerry Muskrat that I would not thump on the roof of his house. I won't thump to be mean, but I'll just call him. If I thump once or twice, he'll know that I'm here and then perhaps he'll come out. It's a good thing that I know just where his house is in the bank. If I didn't, I wouldn't know where to come. I won't thump hard. I'll thump lightly and Jerry will understand."

"Jerry is somewhere around," said Peter with a grin.

So Peter hopped along until he judged he was right over Jerry Muskrat's house. To make sure he peered over the edge of the bank. He could see an entrance under water—a hole. Peter hopped back a little way, so as to get right over Jerry's bedroom. At least, that was what he was trying to do. He knew that from that opening down under water a quite long hall led at a slant up to a snug bedroom just a little way below the grassroots.

Peter thumped lightly; then hopped over to the edge of the bank and looked down. He expected to see Jerry Muskrat come out of that hole down under water. Jerry didn't come out. So, after waiting a few minutes, Peter went back and thumped again, this time a little harder than before. Once more he hurried to the edge of the bank and looked down. He waited and waited, but he waited in vain. No Jerry Muskrat appeared. A third time Peter went back, and this time he thumped twice and he thumped hard.

"There!" said he. "I guess that will wake him up. He must have been sound asleep." Then Peter once again hurried to the edge of the bank and looked down. Some one shot out of that hole under water, but it wasn't Jerry Muskrat.

Health and Diet

ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

MEASURE BELIEFS CAREFULLY

As we live, we learn. Some of our learning comes in the hard school of experiences, and some from hearing of the experiences of others. We are being constantly surrounded by propaganda from all sources, suggesting to us that certain things are good for us, or bad for us, and it is sometimes a little difficult for one to know just what is good or bad, especially when it comes to the important subject of health and diet.

In learning our buying habits, we are educated by billboards, by newspaper and magazine advertising, by movies, by radios, by lectures, by rumors and by many other methods.

All of the large manufacturing companies are busily trying to teach us to keep on buying certain products which we have already formed the habit of asking for, or are trying to teach us to rush out to buy some new product fresh on the market. Many of these products are undoubtedly good and, fortunately, most of the advertising presented to us is subjected to a scrupulous inspection by reliable business organizations. Nevertheless, one cannot believe everything one hears or sees, and the reasoning should be applied in every instance where products are advertised with an ulterior motive. This does not mean that advertising is harmful. Quite the contrary. It is most helpful for the growth of industry and commerce and, taken all in all, both good and bad, the balance of credit is undoubtedly on the side of good.

A great deal of good mass education has been done in the realm of food and nutrition, and in teaching American cooks to substitute good foods for unwholesome ones. The American public has been taught to eat more vegetables, more salads, and more fruits than ever before. Through advertising, the citrus fruits, particularly the orange and grapefruit, have been taken out of the luxury class and put into the group of necessities, due to this modern teaching along the lines of right living.

Although advertising costs more, in the long run it actually cuts down the cost of an article, since one store through using advertising may sell a much larger volume than one without advertising and in this way cut down on the initial cost enough to more than pay for the cost of advertising.

Americans are willing to learn. Do you think that all America awakened suddenly with ravenous and overwhelming appetites for spinach? Of course not. This was brought about very gradually by a process of learning through various sources.

The slogan, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," has no doubt helped the apple growers to sell their fruit to those who are looking and hoping for better health, so from that suggestion many have found that an apple before bedtime helps promote better elimination.

It is a good plan to keep the eyes and ears open to all new things, but censor your observations with a severe measuring by your reasoning powers.

STECKEL'S TERM GETS EXTENSION

Police Board Takes Action to Prevent Department's Being Without Head

Extension of the emergency appointment of Roy E. Steckel as Chief of Police was unanimously approved by the Police Commission at a special session yesterday in order that the department may not be without a head on July 1, as the temporary appointment of Steckel otherwise would expire automatically on June 30.

Steckel was appointed last January and at the expiration of sixty days the Civil Service Commission was requested to renew the appointment for another sixty days, pending the holding of a civil service examination. Yesterday makes the third time an extension is asked and the request will come before the Civil Service Commission this morning.

The civil service examination date has not yet been selected in order to give Steckel an opportunity to familiarize himself with the job, before he takes such a test. Steckel has served nineteen years and will be eligible to retire on a pension the end of this year.

LONG PILGRIMAGE AT AN END

Two of Gold Star Mothers Return

Mrs. Hattie Meyer and Mrs. Vinna Pyne

TWO Gold Star Mothers returned home yesterday from France, their dream of years finally realized. Assured that their sons were buried in the cemeteries of France, their one desire had been to see the final resting places.

On May 15, last, Mrs. Vinna Pyne of 2512½ Trinity street, and Mrs. Hattie Meyer of 119 East Thirty-second street, left Los Angeles as guests of the government on a pilgrimage to the graves of those boys. They were to realise the dream they had cherished all these years. Alden Bush, corporal in the Thirty-second Division, was the son of Mrs. Pyne. He died in action on August 1, 1918, after being given two citations for bravery.

Melvin D. Baird, attached to a machine-gun squadron, was the son of Mrs. Meyer. He was killed in action on July 29, 1918. Both are buried in the Aisne-Marne Cemetery a short distance from where the mothers spent most of their time in France.

NEW INFIRMARY BIDS RECEIVED

Supervisors Get Figures on County Farm Project

Twenty-eight Separate Sets of Estimates Opened

Board Will Award Contracts as Soon as Possible

Twenty-eight separate construction bids, among them a number for the erection and equipment of the new infirmary building at the county farm, were opened yesterday by the Board of Supervisors and shunted to the various county departments for checking.

"The board desires to let these contracts as rapidly as possible and department heads have been instructed to get the work going to give men employment," Chairman Graves declared.

The lowest bid for the construction of the main administrative building at the county farm, to cost $500,000 when completed and fully equipped, was sent in by the R. J. Chute Company. Their A bid was $206,896 and their B bid, $164,302.

The lowest bid for the steam and water piping of the building was offered by the Pacific Pipe and Supply Company. It was $24,285. R. L. Scherer & Co. had the lowest bid for surgical equipment, $14,982.36. The low bid for plumbing was offered by the Pacific Pipe and Supply Company. Its A bid was $22,515 and B bid, $22,489. The Cass Manufacturing Company had the lowest bid on kitchen equipment, its A bid being $11,348.47 and its B bid $11,338.47. The Johnson Construction Company had the lowest bid on the extension of utilities, its A bid being $44,698 and B bid $38,000. The lowest bid on electric wiring was presented by the American Electric Construction Company, its A bid being $22,300 and its B bid $19,600.

PLANE OFF ON BOULDER AIR SURVEY

Palo Verde and Cibola Valley to be Studied for Reclamation Service

One of the first commercial contracts growing out of the passage of the Boulder Dam act by Congress went into effect yesterday morning when an airplane of the Fairchild Aerial Surveys, Inc., 224 East Eleventh street, left Los Angeles to make an aerial survey of Palo Verde and Cibola Valley in the Blythe district.

Just what the purpose of this survey is is not revealed. The work is being done for the United States Reclamation Service. It is thought that the survey is in accordance with a provision of the act calling for a survey of the Parker-Cibla Valley project. About 238 miles of land are to be surveyed from the air in ten days. Fred Secor was the pilot of the ship that left yesterday and Harry Treadway the photographer.

Flower Show Has Features

Three outstanding novelties in flowers vied with one another for popular favor at the annual flower show of the Germain Seed and Plant Company, Sixth and Main streets, which opened yesterday and will remain open until this evening. The new Los Angeles sweetpea, named by those who attended the show last year, came in for first attention. A new variety of gladiolus, which the visitors were asked to name, was popular as was an entirely new shade of scabiosa, a soft salmon pink.

One of the unusual flower arrangements was made up of artichoke blossoms, huge thistle-like heads of gentian blue.

SEA YIELDS FIFTEENTH OF VICTIMS

Body of Japanese Lost in Ameco Disaster Found on Sand Near Beach Home

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 23.—On the sands in front of one of the fashionable beach homes north of here the sea today deposited the body of Sam Shizmo Suyemori, one of the sixteen persons who lost their lives last Memorial Day when the fishing launch Ameco was swamped and sank while returning to her pier. The recovery is the fifteenth recorded since the tragedy, three victims having been taken from the water at the scene the day it occurred. The only victim still missing is listed as J. K. Kamimura of 7403½ Hawthorne street, Hollywood.

Suyemori's body was identified by personal effects in the clothing. The Japanese was 42 years of age and lived at 503 East First street, Los Angeles. He leaves his widow and three children.

The finding of only $4 in the drowned man's pockets partially refutes the rumor that either he or his countryman, Kamimura, carried $2500 in pay-roll funds at the time of the mishap.

LIBERALS DEMOLISH MARXIAN DOCTRINES

The new liberal in political fields has little sympathy with Marxian ideas of economic determinism, according to Dr. Oscar L. Triggs, secretary of the Southern California chapter of the League for Independent Political Action, who addressed the City Club yesterday. "The hope of a truly liberal party in America is based largely on the discoveries of new facts regarding social processes and the extent to which they may be directed by intelligent individuals," said Dr. Triggs.

Sanitary Area Election Will Be Conducted

After hearing a number of protests the Board of Supervisors yesterday voted to call an election to annex Wilmar and Monterey Park to Sanitary District No. 2. The action was taken on recommendation of Chief County Sanitary Engineer Warren.

The annexation was opposed chiefly by residents in the Wilmar and Pasadena sections on the ground that the outlet sewer line of the Pasadena sewer farm is within the boundaries of the proposed district. They asked that it be excluded, asserting that its being taken in amounts to confiscation. The board, however, refused to exclude it.

YOU DON'T BOIL A BABY

AND you shouldn't wash fine silks and woolens in hot water, either. Their delicate fabrics are just as susceptible to scalding as the tender skin of an infant.

Perhaps you've been unable to get things clean without hot water. White King Granulated Soap offers the solution. It's made from fine vegetable and nut oils. No coarse animal fats or mineral oils are present. The result is that White King will form rich, creamy, cleansing suds in lukewarm water. It will spare the lives of sensitive colored fabrics, wash white clothes whiter, and will save your hands from irritation.

White King Granulated Soap is economical too. It's condensed. A little goes a long way. Hard water does not hinder its effectiveness. Try it. Sold by grocers everywhere.

MRS. WYMAN TO MAKE NEW BAVARIAN CREAM

The program at the Los Angeles Times' free cooking school today offers interesting suggestions for women who are planning to entertain. Chef Wyman will show them how to make a ribbon Bavarian cream that is a colorful departure from the usual Bavarian cream. She also will prepare something different in sandwiches, making them from cream cheese and pickled watermelon rind. In response to requests from members of the class she will make an egg-nog pie and an upside-down cake and will also prepare another "whole-meal dish"—an eggplant and hamburger pie. Everyone is invited to come to this class at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It is held on the third floor of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

thirty minutes of Spanish rhythm and melody, while Jeanne Dunn, soloist, will be guest artist at 9 p.m. with the Van Dyne orchestra in a program of titled "infectious gayety."

DINNER PROGRAM

KNX is to offer Walter Frye, 'cellist; Rosalie Barker Frye, contralto, and Nell Sheridan at 7:30 p.m. in a dinner program "a little bit different." At 9:30 p.m. Loyal Underwood will present his second program of "Blackouts"—a series of humorous skits.

KFWB at 8 tonight will present a miniature "Musical Portrait of Tschaikowsky." The continuity is to introduce a group of the Russian composer's far-famed melodies. The Martinez Concert Orchestra and Lewis Meehan, tenor, will be featured. "Bud Doyle vs. Jimmie Hanna" at 9:30 tonight is the fight broadcast from the Olympic Auditorium.

KTM at 8 p.m. is to offer an hour of band music by remote control from Santa Monica. Rossini's overture, "William Tell," and a suite from Safranek's "Don Quixote" will be included.

WOMAN ASSISTS KIDNAP ROBBERY

Grocery Collector Victim of Three Bandits

Two Men Take $500 After Abudcting Him

Blond Helps Desperados to Obtain Money

Abducted in his own car by two bandits who boarded the machine after he had been forced into the curb by a blond woman in another car, Steven R. Crouch, 3801 Ramboz Drive, City Terrace, a collector for the Daley Chain Grocery Company, yesterday was driven several miles to a lonely spot in the Los Angeles River bottoms where he was bound and robbed of more than $500 and his watch.

The collector was driving north on Mountain View avenue, he told police, when the woman drove alongside in another machine and turned directly in front of him at the Temple-street intersection.

As he swerved his own car to avert a collision, two armed men appeared, boarded the collector's machine and one of them covered him with a gun. The other forced him to don a pair of dark goggles. One of the bandits then drove the car along Glendale Boulevard to Allesandro street, where he turned and continued on until they reached a secluded spot where the woman again appeared and helped to bind Crouch. In addition to $515 of the company's money, the bandits took $15 from the collector. As soon as he could extricate himself from his bonds, Crouch made his way to a telephone and notified police.

CITY HALL GETS TRADITION

The mystery of a man who was locked up in a room in the City Hall, possibly since Saturday afternoon, remained unsolved yesterday after an intensive search by Building Manager Rodgers and nine employees following a telephone call at 10:25 a.m. to the office of Rodgers for help.

Rodgers and his squad opened the door of every room and closet in the wing occupied by the Board of Public Works, whence the call came, but, failing to locate the man, decided that he must have entered the board's assembly room by a rear door which has a trick lock, and had left by the main doorway when it was opened for the day by janitors.

LUBITSCH'S WIFE GETS FREEDOM

Woes Laid to Husband's Excessive Love for His Work in Films

Ernst Lubitsch, motion-picture director, was 99 per cent in love with his work, it was testified yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Helene L. Lubitsch, at the trial of her suit for divorce. Superior Judge Hahn granted her a decree.

"Two years ago he told me he wanted a separation," Mrs. Lubitsch testified. "He said he was 99 per cent in love with his work and had no time for home."

Mrs. Lubitsch also charged the director with using vile and opprobrious language to her. Refusal to take her to places of diversion and refusal to escort her home when they did go out were further assertions. She added that he insulted her friends in their home without provocation. For a month prior to their separation, she said, the film director refused to converse with her.

Mrs. Lubitsch said that she and her husband entered into a property settlement before she began her divorce suit. Terms of the agreement were not divulged. The Lubitsches were married in Berlin on August 23, 1922. Attorney Milton M. Cohen appeared for Mrs. Lubitsch.

IMPROVEMENT ADOPTED

An ordinance of intention for the improvement of Ninetieth street between Central avenue and Avalon Boulevard was adopted by the City Council yesterday and August 4 was set as the date for hearing protests against it.

UNIVERSAL SIGNS MONTA BELL

Otis Skinner Will Star in Film for First National; Rosita Moreno to Play Lead in Paramount Picture; Jack Donahue's Little Brother Wins Role

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

After all, Monta Bell is not to be allowed to proceed in peace on his projected trip around the world.

Instead Universal and Carl Laemmle have persuaded him to stick along in Hollywood and direct at least one picture, perhaps two, for that organization.

The picture for which Mr. Bell's professional services are desired, is one of the most important of the year. It is the talking screen version of "East Is West," the stage play written by Sam Shipman and John B. Hymer, which served the lovely Fay Bainter on the stage for several seasons.

While no star has yet been picked, it is understood that the play will probably be a starring vehicle for either Lupe Velez or Mary Nolan.

Monta Bell has been in the East supervising and directing pictures for Paramount. He and Paramount had some sort of disagreement, it is reported, and Bell left the organization. He had quite made up his mind on taking a trip around the world, visiting the Orient first.

MARY DUNCAN WILL PLAY SKINNER LEAD

Unless present plans miscarry, Otis Skinner is to star in, as his second First National vehicle, a talking picture called "Kut-Al-Kulub," which is Moorish, if you must know, for "Food of Hearts."

And a no less brilliant young actress than Mary Duncan is scheduled to play opposite Skinner in the picture.

Miss Duncan made a sensational success a couple of seasons ago in New York and in other large cities of the country, in John Colton's "Shanghai Gesture," starring Florence Reed. She later signed with Fox, making a distinct hit in "Through Different Eyes" and other pictures. She left the organization a few months ago, to return to the New York stage.

Now she is back in Hollywood, having just returned on Saturday, and will be busily preparing, during the next few weeks, for her part in "Kut-Al-Kulub."

ROSITA MORENO IN "SPANISH ACRES"

No less charming a young actress than Rosita Moreno will play opposite Richard Arlen in "Spanish Acres," we learned yesterday.

Miss Moreno is a young dancer of great beauty as well as grace and acting talent, who, with her family, appeared at the Orpheum a few seasons ago. She signed with United Artists, but for some reason did not appear in any of their pictures, probably because no role was found to suit her.

Then talking pictures came in, and Paramount signed her on a long-tern con'ract. Not only has she the featured feminine role opposite Arlen in his next starring vehicle, but she will, of course, also play the lead in the Spanish version.

"Spanish Acres" is a Hal G. Evarts story. Otto Brower and Edwin Kropf are proving such a good directorial team that they are again to have charge, and will co-direct the Arlen vehicle.

Joe Donahue Comes West

When First National wanted to get Jack Donahue to play opposite Marilyn Miller in "Sunny" officials discovered that Jack was so booked up on stage and screen contracts as to be not available. It appears, however, that he has a young brother who strikingly resembles him, and whose style of work is almost identical.

Whereupon First National did the sensible thing and engaged Joe Donahue, the little brother in question. Joe had understudied Jack in "Sunny" for two or three seasons, besides having appeared in Broadway productions.

The younger Donahue arrived yesterday, in company with Richard Rogers of Hart, Rogers & Fields, who are writing the music and lyrics for the talking screen version of "Hot Heiress," and who will also write an original story for the screen.

Rupert Julian With Universal

Rupert Julian is back on his old stamping ground at Universal, where he directed so many successes years ago.

He has just been signed, through his manager, Charles Byer, on a long-term contract and will direct three feature pictures. The first of these will be "The Cat and the Canary," from the stage play of the same name by John Willard.

The second will be a talking version of "Merry-Go-Round," the picture said to have been started by Eric Von Stroheim and completed by Julian, and starring Mary Philbin, several years ago.

The third will be a special, not yet announced.

Ben Lyon Has Lead

Ben Lyon, we learn, is to have the male lead in that torridly titled First National feature, "The Hot Heiress." Ben had little time to spend in honeymooning after his marriage to Bebe Daniels, and has to content himself with looking forward to a trip abroad next spring.

Beautiful Ona Munson has the feminine lead in "The Hot Heiress," which is a story with music by Hart, Rogers and Field. Tom Dugan is the only other player so far cast in the picture.

English Comedienne Here

That famous little English comedienne, Toots Pounds, star of many a Palladium revue in London, and headliner in English vaudeville, has arrived in our midst.

Miss Pounds deserted musical comedy about two years ago to study for grand opera in Germany. While Miss Pounds has made no professional connections here, she has sung at various private parties in filmland, and her voice is pronounced superb.

Russell Birdwell With M.-G.-M.

Russell Birdwell, brilliant young director and writer, who tried out his directorial wings on "Street Corners," and on the strength of it was signed by Fox to direct "Masquerade," is now working at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

He has been signed to aid Nick Grinde in the writing of the script and dialogue on Kathleen Norris's novel, "Passion Flower."

Milt Howe With Paramount

Milton Howe, who has been getting pieces in the paper about Universal stars, has transferred his activities to Paramount, where he is associated with Arch Reeve, head of the publicity department. We hear he is to have an opportunity to write dialogue.

ORDINANCE DELAY VOTED

In denying protests yesterday against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of New Hampshire avenue between Third and Sixth streets, the City Council specified that the final ordinance be held up until after the receipt from the City Engineer of a report on possible damages which may accrue to property owners as the result of regrading which is included in the improvement.

UNBELIEVER CHASTENED IN NEW PLAY

"The Glory Declared" Has Premiere at the Hollywood Music Box

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Atheism receives a slap in the face in "The Glory Declared," which opened last night at the Hollywood Music Box Theater. More than that, it actually is struck with a lightning bolt.

"The Glory Declared" is a brand new play. It was written by Ralph Culver Bennett, and is having its first presentation at the showhouse on the boulevard.

A large audience saw the initial production, and applauded at the close of the play.

The theme of this piece is the revolt of a university professor against religion. His susceptibility to an ill-intentioned promoter leads him to undertake an agnostic lecture course with disastrous financial results. At various stages occur an estrangement from his daughter, who he orders from home, and the death of his son in a traffic accident, and of his wife from grief because of the loss. His refusal to be chastened by these events is carried to the point where he challenges the heavens to vent their wrath, and it is time that the Jehovian thunderclap significantly hits. A band of Salvation Army workers, representative of the ideal of good, play a part in the action and imbue with sympathy the scenes in which they are portrayed.

"The Glory Declared" discloses a lack of theatrical craft in the modern acceptance and some members of the audience went to the lengths of hissing the villainish promoter in the final scenes and further declined to accept certain situations as seriously as they were intended. The amusement was apparently added to by the fact that after being struck by the lightning bolt the atheistic leading character theretofore smooth-shaven reappeared with a heavy beard. Of course, a year had elapsed meanwhile.

"The Glory Declared" embodies the germ of an idea which is sustained to an extent in its first act, but the weakness of the situations in the second tended to let down and a lightning bolt as an event in a play remains, as always of recent times, disturbing to its equilibrium. Actually the incident of the leading character's reappearance with the beard is an element in the suspense, because it contributes to his daughter's failure to recognize him, but the results are unfortunately grotesque. There is a miracle finish to the play when the faith and the well-being of the crippled leading character are simultaneously restored.

The principal role of the atheist is undertaken by Mr. Bennett, while other parts are done by Fritzie Bullard, Ray Largay, Nenette Vallon, Philip Morris, Iva Shepard, Robert McWade, Jr., Robert E. Griffin and Stuart McFarland.

Dramatization of Machinery Seen in Film

Effective dramatization of modern machinery has been accomplished in "Hell's Angels," according to opinions of several producers.

Among celebrities who have been impressed by the dynamic presentation of the triumphs of modern mechanism in the Howard Hughes spectacle showing at Grauman's Chinese Theater is Charlie Chaplin.

Thrills for both eyes and ears of audiences are provided in the operation of a large Zeppelin in an air raid over London. Verbal orders are given, dial settings are made, the giant engines are seen and heard responding and winches whirr.

Huge bombing planes are seen hovering and throbbing over their targets, and the bombs released are heard whistling on their way down to create detonations of awe-inspiring magnitude.

Future Warner Bookings Listed

Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater has announced the booking of new attractions. The first will be Billie Dove in "A Notorious Affair," with Basil Rathbone and Montagu Love.

Following will be "Bright Lights," with Dorothy Mackaill and Frank Fay; "Three Faces East," starring Eric Von Stroheim and Constance Bennett, and "The Way of All Men," adapted from the play, "Sin Flood," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Dorothy Revier and Noah Beery.

Walter Huston in "The Bad Man;" John Barrymore in "Moby Dick;" "Woman Hungry," a Technicolor production with Lila Lee, Sidney Blackmer and J. Farrell Macdonald; Loretta Young in "A Road to Paradise;" Joe E. Brown's "Top Speed," with Bernice Claire and Laura Lee, and George Arliss in "Old English."

Track Team to See 'Big Pond'

The national and intercollegiate championship track team of the University of Southern California will be guests of the United Artists' Theater tonight. They will witness Maurice Chevalier in his latest film comedy, "The Big Pond."

Heading the delegation of track stars will be Coach Dean B. Cromwell and Frank Wykoff, who recently set a new world's mark in the 100-yard dash.

The Chevalier picture is scheduled to end Thursday evening. William Powell in "Shadow of the Law," starts Friday.

Bancroft Film Proves Popular

George Bancroft continues to attract crowds to Bard's Downtown Theater in his new picture, "Ladies Love Brutes." In this new romantic drama Bancroft is seen as a burly man of the masses who rises to wealth and attempts to enter the social world.

Mary Astor, titian-haired beauty, is seen in her initial talking picture role. Starting Thursday, Gary Cooper, with Mary Brian as his leading lady, will be seen in "Only the Brave."

"Julia Dances"

Agnes De Mille

Who will appear tonight at the Windsor Square Theater has been described as the outstanding exponent of the idiomatic American dance, her work being a mixture of the art of a Pavlowa with the clowning of a Chaplin. "Julia Dances" is one of her original numbers.

NEW PICTURES ANNOUNCED

A notable line-up of picture attractions for Loew's State Theater is announced.

The first popular showing of Lawrence Tibbett in "The Rogue Song," which starts at Loew's Thursday for a limited run of one week, is the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture heading the list. Following this, on July 3, Lon Chaney will be seen in his first talking picture, "The Unholy Three."

Edmund Lowe in a new Fox picture, "Good Intentions," will be shown on July 10, followed on July 17 by Greta Garbo in another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer triumph, "Romance."

"Wild Company," Fox picture with H. B. Warner and Frank Albertson, starts July 24. William Haines's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy, "Way Out West," is booked for the week of July 31, with "Good News," another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture with Bessie Love, opening August 7.

Norma Shearer, fresh from dramatic success in "The Divorcee," appears in another performance in "Let Us Be Gay," which opens August 21. Ramon Novarro, now appearing in the current Loew's attraction, "In Gay Madrid," stars in "Singer of Seville," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture opening on September 4.

As a coming stage event, Eddie Cantor is scheduled to appear in person on the Loew's State stage the week of July 3.

BYRD PARTY DIVERSIONS REVEALED

Paramount Cameramen on Expedition Also Tell of South Pole Wonders

Means of diversion were not lacking to members of Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd's expedition to the South Pole, according to Willard Vander Veer, who, with Joseph T. Rucker, both Paramount cameramen, accompanied the commander and filmed his daring exploit. The picture, "With Byrd at the South Pole," starts Thursday at the Paramount Theater.

There were exploration parties, motion-picture shows, card games, sports and the radio to fill the time. And then members of the party were continually regaled with extraordinary sights and sounds.

"The aurora Australis flapped thousands of feet over our heads like the bottom of some inconceivably beautiful theater curtain," the cameraman said. "We saw moons with crosses on them at night and sindogs, or false suns, in the daytime. And there was such complete quiet that we could hear our hearts beating, and stranger yet, we could hear our very breath freeze as it issued from our lungs. 'Wussash,' it would go, and one could see the tiny particles of ice drifting to the ground.

"Then, there was snow-shoveling. The houses were built six feet below the snow for warmth, and we had to be continually digging out the stairways which led up to the surface and also keep the chimneys clear. If we did not dig out the stairs they became regular toboggans so that the phrase 'I just slid in on you' became quite popular."

Notables Will Attend Opening of New Drama

Marilyn Miller, Leon Errol, Skeets Gallagher, Bert Wheeler, Noel Madison, Regis Toomey, Frank Richardson, James Hall, Merna Kennedy, Kathryn Crawford and other stage and screen players, have made reservations for the local premiere of "Molly Magdalene," Crane Wilbur's new comedy drama, at the Mayan Theater Monday night.

"Molly Magdalene" is a comedy about a burlesque troupe which lands on a Kansas farm after a train wreck. The play is said to be replete with thrills and love interest.

Actress Plays Dramatic Role

Nancy Carroll, known as one of the screen's most promising comediennes, becomes an emotional actress in "Devil's Holiday," which comes to the new Pantages Hollywood Theater Thursday.

Under the direction of Edmund Goulding, the man who directed Gloria Swanson in "The Trespasser," Miss Carroll steps out of her light, fluffy roles of the past to don the heavy garb of emotional drama, it is said.

"DIVORCEE" CLOSING AT CRITERION

"Big House" Will Follow Norma Shearer Vehicle on Wednesday

"The Divorcee," starring Norma Shearer, will close at the Criterion Theater tonight. Tomorrow Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will present the world-premiere engagement of "The Big House," with an all-star cast.

Featured in this group of veteran film players are Wallace Beery, returning to the screen after a year's absence; Leila Hyams, "The Golden Girl" of the New York art colony; the popular leading men, Chester Morris and Robert Montgomery, and Lewis Stone, Karl Dane, De Witt Jennings, J. C. Nugent, George Marion, Sr., Claire McDowell, Mathew Betz and Eddie Lambert also have characteristic roles.

"The Big House" is not all drama and romance, it is said. Comedy also is generously included. A galaxy of former vaudevillians are in the cast, with Wallace Beery and Karl Dane leading the fun.

The film was directed by George Hill and written by Frances Marion.

ACTOR IN REAL ESTATE

Hallam Cooley, juvenile comedian in "Back Pay," which currently stars Corinne Griffith at Warner's Downtown Theater, is also widely known in real estate circles.

"LAST MILE" ENDS ENGAGEMENT SOON

Edward Woods

This is the last week of "The Last Mile," dramatic prison story that has been playing at the Majestic Theater. Because of previous bookings in San Francisco, where the play will open at the Geary Theater Monday, it is necessary to end the local engagement.

Heading the cast are Edward Woods and Clark Gable. Russell Hopton, Paul Fix and others have prominent roles. The play was directed by Miss Lillian Albertson.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

WHEN Donald Ogden Stewart's comedy, "Rebound," with Ina Claire, opens in Santa Barbara this Friday, four members of the cast who played it recently in New York will be in their self-same roles.

One is Robert Williams, who appears opposite Miss Claire. Another is Pierre D'Ennery, and still another is Walter Walker.

INA CLAIRE

The name which will probably be of most interest to a certain group of Los Angeles and Hollywood folk, however, is that of Corinne Rosa. Miss Rosa, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Ross, a Hollywood resident, known for her musical compositions, made her first appearance on the professional stage in "Rebound" in New York.

Only last year, she was to be seen about these parts, taking occasional roles in Theater Mart productions, practicing dancing and endeavoring to get as thorough a preparation for the theater as possible. She went east in the fall, and found her way into "Rebound," in which, it is said, her duties are fairly important.

"Rebound" goes on north to San Francisco, coming to the Belasco here in about four or five weeks.

"Candlelight" Coming

"Candlelight," the show which one Burns Mantle described as a "puff ball of wit and sex," comes to the Biltmore Theater here on August 25, next.

This is the show in which Gertrude Lawrence starred for Gilbert Miller at the Empire, New York, last fall. Reginald Owen, now to be seen in "Caprice" at the Belasco, played opposite her.

Miss Lawrence will not be in the company coming here. Eugenie Loentovitch, who is playing the stor role now in Chicago, will enact the role of Marie. There is a chance that Mr. Owen may step back into his role, but this rather depends upon a number of things—whether or not he takes a proffered picture contract and what time he has to get back to New York this fall.

Myron Fagan on Way West

A telegram yesterday to Matt Allen, manager of El Capitan Theater, conveyed the news that Myron Fagan, who wrote "Nancy's Private Affair," is on his way to Los Angeles. He wants to see the show with its Los Angeles cast, he informed Allen, and he also wants to "look about a bit."

There is a chance, I am told, that Fagan may try his new show, "Peter Flies High," on the Coast later this summer, preliminary to taking it into New York. This report is given credence by the fact that Minna Gombell, who has been in Fagan's last three New York productions, is out here now playing "Nancy's Private Affair." She is said to have a part in the new effort.

Macloon Due Home

Louis Macloon, who appears to spend most of his time flying back and forth between here and San Francisco, should be at his desk at the Majestic again today after his latest jaunt to the north, during which he launched Perry Askam in a series of personal appearances at the new Fox Theater there. Askam is going to make a tour, singing "Desert Song" and "New Moon" numbers, which will bring him back eventually to Los Angeles. His last venture along this line, at the Orpheum, met with tremendous success.

PERRY ASKAM

"Lysistrata" May Tour

A news note from New York last evening said there is talk of organizing a Chicago company of "Lysistrata" with Fay Bainter again in the title part which she played in Philadelphia. For touring purposes, the production would be less sizable than the one now in the Forty-fourth-street Theater, New York.

"Decency" to Live on

From the Mayan, where rehearsals of "Molly Magdalene," due the 30th inst., are now in full force, comes the information that "Decency," closing there last Saturday, is not to die. The second and third acts are to be re-written with a fall New York opening in mind.

Incidentally, a lady named Symona Boniface, who sued Arthur Gregor, playwright, and Franklin Productions, Inc., because of their use of the title "Decency" to which she claimed prior rights, won an unfavorable decision yesterday, theater officials announced. Miss Boniface said that she had applied the name to a play of hers produced by the Musketeers organization. Superior Court Judge Hanby held that inasmuch as her play had never been publicly produced to any great extent, she was not entitled to the exclusive use of the title, "Decency."

Official Wins Screen Honors

To the list of supervisorial achievements credited to Robert Lord since becoming associated with the First National organization is now added "Show Girl in Hollywood." This is the current Alice White screen vehicle at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater.

During the past two years Lord is said to have established an enviable record in the capacity of supervisor. He held previous to this a position as scenarist.

STECKEL LIKES NEW QUARTERS

Moving to City Hall Offices Completed Yesterday

Noise of Police Presses May Present Problem

Chief Occupies Room 79 on Temple-Street Floor

Greatly pleased with the comfort and airiness of their new quarters, Chief of Police Steckel and his staff completed moving from 214 West First street to the northwest wing of the Temple-street floor of the City Hall yesterday and are now occupying rooms 70 to 80, across the hall from the crime prevention bureau and city mother's bureau, the whole being across a court from the offices of the Police Commission.

Chief Steckel occupies the corner room, No. 79, and Assistant Chief Finlinson is in room No. 80. Steckel's secretary occupies room 78 and 77 has files. Deputy Chief Cross occupies room 76 and Lieut. Lytell, in charge of police personnel, room 75.

PRESSES OFFER PROBLEM

Mike Gory, record clerk, is in room 74 and 73 is occupied by personnel files. Capt. Sweeney of transportation, is in room 72 and William Olney, chief accounting clerk, 71 and 70.

Across the hall, in a large room with one window, which opens on the court across from the Police Commission's assembly room, is the police printing bureau and machinery. Whether the commission can hold a meeting when these presses are running is a problem not yet solved. The commission wanted the bureau on the eighth floor, but the City Council is saving that for something or other not yet announced.

Deputy Chief Davis, in charge of traffic, remains in his present quarters at Central Station.

OFFICE HOURS SAME

Chief Steckel yesterday foresaw a possibility that the detective and record bureaus might yet be moved so that the police department may occupy the whole west side of the Temple-street floor. This he said, will necessitate the construction of a tube between the quarters and the central jail in the handling of fingerprint and identification data for prisoners booked at Central Station.

A teletype is being installed in the new quarters, which are connected with Central Station by direct telephone, the same as at 214 West First street, until the removal. Office hours for the chief and his staff will be the same as in the rest of the City Hall, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and closing at noon on Saturdays.

PROTESTS RECOGNIZED

After denying protests against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of Walgrove avenue between Dewey street and Venice Boulevard yesterday, the City Council took cognizance of the assertions of protestants that the cost of the patent paving specified will be excessive by requesting the Board of Public Works to submit bids on the paving to the Council before awarding the contract.

BROWN HELD FOR TRIAL IN KIDNAP CASE

Boy Points Out Suspect in Court as Man Who Seized Him on the 7th Inst.

Philip A. Brown was ordered held for trial under $10,000 bond yesterday by Municipal Judge Egan, after being pointed out by Walter Nelson, 11 years of age, as the man who kidnaped him on the 7th inst. The asserted kidnaper was represented by Attorney Eli F. Bush, who made no attempt to introduce a defense.

Detective Lieutenant Starritt testified that Brown was arrested after the license number of the car had been traced to the accused man's mother. He said Brown denied knowledge of any such occurrence, but declared he frequently suffers from lapse of memory. It was established, Starritt said, that the suspect had been driving the car in the vicinity of the kidnaping about the time it occurred.

Other witnesses were Thelma C. Boyd of 1630 South Westmoreland avenue, a school-teacher, and Herbert E. Colby, a contractor of the same address, both of whom testified to having seen the boy struggling to escape from his captor. The license number was obtained by Miss Boyd. The Nelson boy lives at 1712 South Westmoreland avenue.

FILMDOM GOES INTO BUSINESS

Mary Pickford and Others Open Shop for Benefit of Players' Relief Fund

Mary Pickford went into business yesterday in Hollywood along with sixty-five other motion-picture players in opening the Screen Star's Shop at 1614 Cahuenga avenue. The new shop was launched to derive money for the Motion-Picture Relief Fund and at the same time to aid persons less fortunate in the picture business to replenish their wardrobes at a minimum cost.

Stocked with gowns, a varied assortment of other clothing and jewelry, the shop was opened yesterday for inspection by its sponsors. Florence Turner, an outstanding star in the earlier days of the motion picture, as manager, will open the shop to the extras and bit players and to the public today.

The stock in the shop is all donated by members of the relief fund of which Miss Pickford is president. Douglas Fairbanks, Lawrence Gray, Ruth Roland, June Collyer, Mae Murray, Dolores Del Rio and many others were on hand yesterday for the informal ceremonies.

Miss Pickford and other actresses were hostesses at a reception and tea which was given for the invited guests.

GRAPE AID MOVEMENT HELD VITAL

Vineyard Company Head, in Radio Talk, Tells What it Means to City

Immediate action to insure a continuance of the annual revenue of $25,000,000 spent in this city by the grape growers of the Southland, was urged on Los Angeles business men in a radio address delivered last night by J. M. Barlotti, secretary of the Italian Vineyard Company.

Apathy of California vineyardists, manifested through their failure to sign contracts pledging the majority of the State's acreage to the government program, is threatening to defeat the relief plan, Barlotti asserted. Eighty-five per cent of the total acreage must be signed up before July 9, next, if Federal aid is to be extended by the Farm Board.

To break down that apathy and acquaint growers with the benefits of the projected plan is, Barlotti declared, the most vital matter confronting business interests at the moment. Failure of the sign-up, he stated, will cause an economic disaster. There pours into commercial channels $100,000,000 a year from the grape crop. Of this sum, $25,000,000 is expended in Los Angeles alone, Barlotti pointed out.

PHYSICIANS IN HOSPITAL QUIT POSTS

Four Tender Resignations to Supt. Wood of County Institution

More vacancies on the medical staff of the Los Angeles County General Hospital occurred yesterday when Dr. Dain L. Tasker, Dr. Glen D. Cayler, Dr. Thomas J. Ruddy and Dr. Royal Herbert Crist tendered their resignations to Dr. N. N. Wood, superintendent. All were accepted by Dr. Wood.

The four doctors, serving on the staff without pay, were in Unit No. 2, the same one served by Dr. Norman F. Sprague and Dr. Harry W. Forbes, who were removed last week by Dr. Wood. The last-named physicians were dismissed at the same time as Dr. Anna Hohanshelt, a member of Dr. Wood's office staff.

Delay Granted in Brownridge Oil Merger Suit

Continuance was granted yesterday of a suit for $3,250,000, brought by W. T. Brownridge, oil lease broker, against Irving V. Augur and the Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation, of which Augur is an official. Superior Judge Archbald granted a continuance until September on stipulation by Attorney Louis P. Pink, representing Brownridge, and the firm of Andrews & Andrews for the defendants.

Brownridge asks the sum as commission for effecting a merger in 1928. He asserts he was responsible for the consolidation of the Cushing Refining and Gasoline Company, Blackwell Oil and Gas Company, Mulberry Oil Company, Blackwell Pipe Line Company and Anolu Petroleum Company, North American Oil Consolidated, California-Eastern Oil Company and the Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation. He adds that a commission of 5 per cent was promised him for effecting the merger.

DANCE AND RECEPTION TO BE GIVEN ON BOAT

Several hundred persons will attend a dance and reception on board the S.S. Oaxaca at Berth 90, Wilmington, tonight, in honor of passengers who are planning to make the two weeks' excursion down the west coast of Mexico, which leaves here next Sunday evening. C. G. Krueger & Co., in charge of the plans for the trip, said the Oaxaca is the first excursion steamer ever to make this 2500-mile cruise during the vacation months. She will cruise up the Gulf of California, making stops at Ensenada, Mazatlan, Guaymas and La Paz. The Oaxaca, under Canadian registry, was formerly owned by G. Allan Hancock.

HAWKEYE NOTABLES MAKE SHORT VISIT

Gov. and Mrs. Hammill

IOWA'S CHIEF CITY'S GUEST FOR ONE DAY

Executive Declares Rise in State Rule Cost Main Convention Problem

Governors convening in Salt Lake City for their annual conference have as their most common and important problem the question of the increasing cost of government and its resultant burden upon physical property, in the opinion of Gov. Hammill of Iowa, who was in Los Angeles yesterday.

"Everywhere, the demand is for more and better schools, roads and public service," the Governor said, "and it is well, because we know that these things make for progress and we cannot go on up without them. But they also cost much money. The burden has been laid heavily upon physical property especially because it was so clearly in evidence.

"As long as it did not cost so much and taxes were not so high the people did not notice it. But now the cost is so great and the burden so heavy that the question is one of the greatest importance, probably more important than any other that will come before the conference next week.

"We can not very well reduce the burden by doing without these things so we will have to introduce the hardest-headed business efficiency into administration and cut out all waste. And above all we must effect a more equitable distribution of the tax burden among those who must bear it."

Gov. and Mrs. Hammill arrived from Tacoma, where they were on a vacation trip, spent most of the day with the Governor's niece, Mrs. W. R. Rohrer, 1614 Cimarron street, and then left for Riverside en route to Utah, where the convention opens Monday. The Governor was in Los Angeles last in 1919, he said.

Three times he was elected Governor of Iowa. Twice he was elected Lieutenant-Governor. Recently he was defeated for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

COUNCIL DENIES PROTESTS

Protests against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of the streets in the La Cienega Boulevard and Adams-street improvement district were denied by the City Council yesterday and the preparation of the final ordinance ordered.

FLEET'S SCHEDULE MAPPED

Admirals Meet on Flagship and Plan Gunnery Practice and Other Naval Duties

Six admirals of the battle fleet conferred aboard the flagship California yesterday on operating plans of the armada for the coming year. Headed by Admiral Frank H. Scofield, commander-in-chief, the council included Vice-Admiral Richard H. Leigh, commanding the battleship divisions; Rear-Admiral Harley H. Christy, commanding Battleship Division Four; Rear-Admiral Joel R. P. Pringle, commanding Battleship Division Three; Rear-Admiral Thomas J. Senn, commanding the destroyer squadrons, and Rear-Admiral Henry V. Butler, commanding the aircraft squadrons.

Detailed plans are being worked out for the fleet's gunnery schedule following its return from Puget Sound on August 27, until February 7, 1931, when the armada sails for Panama for United States fleet exercises on the Pacific side of the Canal. The fleet returns to San Pedro from this concentration on April 8, 1931, and remains in the San Pedro-San Diego area until July 1, when it again departs for the regular summer cruise on Puget Sound. Force practice, spectacular gunnery exercise in which the entire fleet participates, will be fired during the week beginning May 9, 1931.

OTHER SHIPS TO STAY

In addition to the U.S.S. West Virginia, which will remain until July 20 for short-range battle practice, two other dreadnaughts will stay here during July as gunnery schools. They are the U.S.S. Tennessee, on which advanced officers' training in five-inch broadside batteries will be conducted, and the U.S.S. Oklahoma, where a similar school on the five-inch antiaircraft batteries will be held. The school ships will depart San Pedro July 29, rejoining the fleet at Seattle on August 2.

The battleship Mississippi, now cruising on the east coast, will go to a navy yard for modernization after July 29 if the pending $30,000,000 bill for modernization of the Mississippi and her sisters, the New Mexico and Idaho, has then been passed by Congress. Otherwise, she will sail on that date for San Pedro from Hampton Roads. The U.S.S. Idaho, now en route to Honolulu with R.O.T.C. units from the Universities of California and Washington, will rejoin the fleet on July 15. The U.S.S. Colorado's return is indefinite, she now is at the New York navy yard for repairs as a result of a recent fire. The United States fleet flagship Texas, due here from Balboa on the 29th inst., carrying Admiral William V. Pratt and his staff, has been assigned to operate hereafter with the battle fleet dreadnaught squadron. It is reported that one of the recently commissioned 10,000-ton light cruisers will become temporary United States fleet flagship pending completion of either the U.S.S. Augusta or U.S.S. Chicago for that duty in 1931.

CHANGE IN OCTOBER

Admiral Jehu V. Chase, who has been ordered to relieve Admiral Pratt as commander-in-chief of the United Stateta fleet, is scheduled to arrive at San Pedro on October 4. Rear-Admiral William D. MacDougal, who as new commander of the United States fleet base force, will succeed to the post vacated by Rear-Admiral T. Pickett Magruder, will arrive here from Cavite on July 13.

The aircraft carrier Saratoga will be rejoined at San Pedro on July 8 by the Lexington, now en route after overhaul at the Norfolk navy yard. The battleship New York, undergoing overhaul at the Puget Sound navy yard, will rejoin the fleet in that area on August 6. The hospital ship Relief has been ordered to San Diego from July 7 to 11 for the State nurses' convention.

Added Charges Stand Against Pardoned Pair

Existence of additional criminal charges in the Superior Court files against Mike Garvey and Harvey Lasher, who, with Phil Rohan, were pardoned from San Quentin prison last week, were disclosed by Daniel Beecher, chief trial deputy District Attorney, yesterday.

The three men were pardoned because of new evidence indicating their innocence of the murder of A. R. Miles, Jefferson-street druggist, on November 1, 1927. The complaints still on file do not mention Rohan, however.

One of the complaints accuses Garvey, Lesher and Nona Lesher with burglary and attempted extortion. The other charges Garvey and Lesher with robbery and extortion. Decision as to whether or not the charges will be dismissed is expected today.

Wife Says Mate Insulted Guests

Refusal to eat with guests he had allowed her to invite was a social error charged to her husband yesterday by Mrs. Amye Ruth Rose, testifying in her suit for divorce from Ralph L. Rose. Superior Judge Hahn granted her a decree, together with custody of her daughter, Mary Etta, 10 years of age, and allowed $25 a month for the child's support.

The Roses were married at Wellington, Kan., February 24, 1918, and separated September 4, 1929.

FINAL PLEA OF SHULER SUBMITTED

State Supreme Court Has Ninety Days in Which to Hand Down Decision

Rev. R. P. Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, South, yesterday made his final plea to the State Supreme Court in his fight to escape serving the remaining five days of a twenty-day sentence for contempt of court.

The case now stands ready for formal submission. The court has ninety days in which to hand down a decision.

Shuler's last arguments are contained in a brief filed yesterday in the clerk's office of the Supreme Court here to points and authorities filed some time ago by counsel for Sheriff Traeger. The pastor's brief was prepared by Attorneys Frank S. Hutton and Thomas S. Bunn.

The brief recites many of the contentions previously made before the District Court of Appeal and, later, before the Supreme Court, sitting en banc here. It is set forth that the pastor committed only one offense and, therefore, could be made subject to only one judgment, as well as that the courts are without power to impose consecutive sentences in contempt cases.

Arson Charged in Home Fire

Max Silver, 54 years of age of 926 North Brannick street, was under arrest yesterday for arson following a fire Sunday which destroyed his home and that of a neighbor, James Dean.

Deputy sheriffs placed Silver in jail when witnesses declared they watched him set three fires to his home and then flee.

PINE SEEDS PUT ON ICE TO PEP UP GERMINATION

That the chilling of pine seeds on ice hastens and assures to a greater degree their germination regardless of their native habitats, is the finding of Dr. G. R. Johnstone and Tema Shults Clare of the botany department of the University of Southern California.

Experiments were carried on in the S. C. botany laboratories with seeds obtained from Torrey pines near La Jolla, and from Coulter, digger and pinon pines provided by the Los Angeles Forestry Department's reforestation reserve at Henninger Flats.

"The process of chilling is beneficial in hastening germination in seeds having a high oil content," stated Prof. Johnstone. "The ice treatment in the case of pine seeds is of practical value because a year's time may often be saved in the development of a tree from a seed which has been chilled."

Seed from the Torrey pines which grow along the Southern California coast near La Jolla were found to require twenty-five days of chilling and the one-leafed pinon pine, which grows on the dry gravelly slopes, at an elevation of from 3700 to 8000 feet, requires thirty days.

The seeds of the digger pine of the California foothills required fifty days of chilling while sixty days was needed by the Coulter pine of the San Bernardino Mountains.

"The best practice to follow," said Tema Clare, is to chill the seed coats until they break open. Then the seeds are ready to be planted in soil, and in a few days the seedlings will appear above the ground."

off to a good lead of seven runs in the first two innings, Cap Rose-Miners defeated George Stovall's Sons of the Revolution, in the annual "Old-Timers" game at Wrigley Field yesterday. managed to touch five He shared "funny-man" honors with "Salome" Clayton, who had more false motions than Gilda Grey, and hung up the only two strikeouts of the game when he fanned George Stovell and Sawyer in succession in the sixth.

Ancient "Wheezer" Dell blanked the Dillons in the third and fourth, his only two innings on the mound, for the best pitching performance of the afternoon. Only six men faced him, nobody registering a hit.

Adams, Sawyer and Townsend turned in a double play in the fifth for one of the real features of the afternoon. Their arms were weak, but the runners' legs were weaker.

"Spider" Baum, who dazzled hitters in the Coast League any number of years ago, and who now acts as secretary of the Hollywood club, blanked the Stovalls in the first inning, and "Poll" Perritt duplicated in the second, and Charley Chech in the third. Discouraged by this unexpected exhibition of twirling, the Stovallites never could get going, despite Crawford's lusty hitting.

A good-sized crowd was on hand

Ties for Second in First Round of Qualifying

Parks of Pittsburgh Leads Varsity Stars

Intercollegiate Players in Tough Sledding

OAKMONT (Pa.) June 23. (AP)—Old Man Par, securely entrenched by scores of traps and miles of rough in and about the golf course of the Oakmont Country Club today beat back a determined attack by 196 college golfers.

In the first qualifying round of the intercollegiate championship the old man who stands for nothing but perfect figures had a clean record. Tonight he had beaten them all.

The nearest approach to a perfect day was scored by 21-year-old Samuel M. Parks, Jr., representing the University of Pittsburgh as a one-man team in the competition. Parks scored 74, 2 over par, to lead the field at the end of the first day.

Parks, a late starter, took undisputed lead after a triple tie existed for several hours between Larry Moller, Notre Dame, Allen Moser, University of Southern California, and Marshall Forrest of Yale with scores of 76.

Four players were tied for fifth place with scores of 78, Phillips Finlay, Harvard; Fred Brand, Jr., Penn State; George T. Dunlap, Jr., Princeton, and J. B. Baldwin, Harvard.

Knox M. Young, Jr., Geneva, A.A., and William D. Duckwall, University of Florida, were tied for ninth, with scores of 79.

TEXAS PLAYER UPSETS ANZAC

Fort Worth Youth Steps Into Opening Limelight

Henri Cochet Almost Beaten by Dutch Net Star

Tilden, Doeg Pass Tests in English Tournament

BY FRANK H. KING,
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) June 23. (AP) A spectacular triumph by Wilmer Allison of the American Davis Cup team, gave staid old Wimbledon its initial thrill as the British tennis champions hips got under way today.

The Fort Worth (Tex.) youth, who with John Van Ryn won Wimbledon's doubles title last year, upset Edgar F. Moon, champion of Australia, a seeded player, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3, to open the annual international pageant of tennis and fashion with a sensation form reversal.

Hans Timmer, veteran Dutch Davis Cup star, just missed giving the crowd an even more surprising upset when he bowed in five strenuous sets to the defending singles champion, Henri Cochet of France, 6-4, 9-11, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

ONE YANK LOSES

Of the nine Americans who stepped on Wimbledon's courts only one, Eugene McCauliff of New York, former Fordham University star, was beaten. McCauliff was eliminated by H. K. Lester of the English Midlands, an old Cambridge Blue and former member of the British Davis Cup team, 6-2, 7-5, 0-6, 6-4.

Big Bill Tilden, Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex.; Johnny Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal.; Gregory Mangin of Newark, George Lott of Chicago, John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., and E. O. Mather, American student at Oxford, all passed their first tests successfully.

Without taking off his sweater, Tilden frolicked through a straight-set victory over A. A. Fyzee of India, 6-3, 6-0, 6-2, and the interest Wimbledon had evinced in the tall Philadelphian's 1930 campaign was confirmed by the packed galleries around the No. 1 court during the American champion's appearance.

Johnny Doeg put out a frontrank English player in the person of Nigel Sharpe, 6-3, 6-1, 4-6, 4-6, 6-1, after letting the Briton draw level at two sets all. The ease with which Doeg won the deciding set left no doubt as to the American's superiority.

Van Ryn disposed of W. A. H. Duff of Canada, 6-0, 6-1, 7-5; Lott conquered Soni of India, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3; Mangin eliminated Yoshiro Ohta of Japan, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2; Bell defeated A. W. Vinall of England, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1, and Mather disposed of J. F. Prowen of England, 6-4, 8-6, 7-5.

STUNNING UPSET

Allison's triumph over Moon, farm boy champion of Australia, came as a stunning upset to spectators who had expected great things from the Queensland youth. Moon, nearly twice the size of the nimble Texan, played many brilliant shots, particularly his forehand drives, but could not cope with Allison's sustained crisp volleying and lightning leg work from the net to the baseline.

Timmer played great tennis against Cochet, but the little Frenchman applied pressure when in danger and Timmer could not find the strokes that would have won him a sensational victory.

FANS HOWL IN DERISION AS REFEREE STOPS BOUT

"Low Blow Either Deliberate or Godfrey Wildest Swinger Ring Has Ever Known," Says Rice

BY GRANTLAND RICE

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

BAKER BOWL, PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—True in every detail to the magnificent traditions of the modern American prize ring, George Godfrey waited until the middle of the fifth round before he threw a low punch deep into Primo Carnera's groin and lost the battle.

PHEW!

As incredible as the statement may seem to thousands of fight fans, this battle of the behemoths ended in a foul while 40,000 customers sat back and howled in derision.

The two human moutnains in pale flesh and ebony had been whaling away at one another's head and body with blows that sounded like thunder on the western front. Godfrey was ahead on points, but he was tiring fast.

A minute and thirteen seconds of the fifth round had passed by with Carnera over near the ropes. He had just landed a hard right to Godfrey's head when the sable mammoth of Leiperville picked out a spot some eight or ten inches below Carnera's belt line and then sunk his left far below the line.

Carnera fell like a grove of California redwoods. He whirled over and crashed to the floor, writhing along the floor of the ring like a cage full of pythons.

ROUND ONE

ROUND TWO

Godfrey rushed him and both hands to face and pounded Carnera's head in a clinch. Godfrey hammered the body and ripped uppercuts to the face in another clinch. Carnera was not strong as Godfrey and old George was beginning to belt him in the body; a hard left hand worked deep in Carnera's middle. Primo was seeking to his corner for signals. Primo landed a light left and George answered him on the chin with a right. George continued walking in blocking Carnera's body efforts. Godfrey broke to body and ear. Godfrey was smiling at Carnera's punches to the face, which just grazed him as he rolled his head.

ROUND THREE

Godfrey batted Carnera in rushing into a clinch. George switched around and extended his right hand driving along straight left to the jaw. Carnera pulled several short 1-armless right uppercuts to George's face. Godfrey shot in a right hand below the belt, but Carnera only smiled. Godfrey whipped a left to the body. Carnera flashed over a right to the jaw. Godfrey went back to the orthodox, left hand style. Carnera rapped him hard with a right to the chin. They laid shoulder to shoulder both pumping to the body. Godfrey sent right and lefts to the chest. At times broke from a clinch. Godfrey sent a long left to the body and

RETURN FIGHT BETWEEN MAX AND JACK PENDING

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Negotiations for a return heavyweight title match between Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey were advanced today when Arthur Buelow, the German's disputed manager, reached an agreement through the Madison Square Garden Corporation for the disposal of his 20 per cent in Schmeling's earnings.

Some technicalities remain, but papers separating Schmeling and Buelow will be signed tomorrow, Frank J. Bruen, general manager of the Garden, announced. Bruen added he expected contracts for the return fight, in September at the Yankee Stadium, to be signed before the end of this week.

Under the agreement it is understood Buelow will receive approximately $50,000, which will be paid by Jack Sharkey out of the latter's 12½ per cent "cut" in the gate receipts. Sharkey has stood by his offer to take the small end of the purse and meet all financial obligations in order to insure a return bout this year. He told Bruen he would be willing to fight for nothing, if necessary.

Bruin Tennis Star Defeats Hill in National Tourney at Haverford

HAVERFORD (Pa.) June 23. (AP)—The first day of competition in the national intercollegiate tennis singles championship today saw two seeded players swept out of the picture at the Merion Cricket Club.

Bruce Barnes of the University of Texas, seeded No. 2, fell before David Jones of Columbia University, 4-6, 8-6, 6-2, in the second-round match.

Malcolm T. Hill, of Harvard, seeded No. 6, was eliminated by Elbert Lewis of the University of California at Los Angeles, 7-5, 6-1. Lewis is the Pacific Coast intercollegiate champion.

Julius Seligson of Lehigh, seeded No. 1 and winner of the singles title two years ago, entered the fourth round today as a result of second and third-round victories.

More than 100 players from forty-three colleges participated today.

FIRST ROUND

Bruce Barnes, Texas, defeated Theodore Ludlow, California, 6-2, 6-3.

HUSKY COACH PRAISES CREW

Al Ulbrickson Says Squad Better Than Last Year's

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 23. (AP)—With the intercollegiate rowing regatta of them all just three days away, a series of developments affecting prospects of four different colleges in the varsity four-mile chase bobbed up today to add interest to a busy program of double workouts.

A vital change in the "engine room" of the Syracuse varsity was made by Jim Ten Eyck, veterar coach of the Orange oarsmen, who placed Elie L'Oieaux of New Rochelle, N. Y., a 180-pound senior, at the No. 6 oar in place of George Kratina, of Brooklyn, to add weight to the boat.

By this eleventh-hour shift, Ten Eyck boosted the average weight of his varsity to 174½ pounds and appeared well satisfied with the showing of his new array in two long practice rows.

Coach Al Ulbrickson of Washington, who announced yesterday that Lawrence School, a 195-pound giant, probably would not be able to row because of an injury received Saturday in a time trial, sent the massive sophomore back to his seat today and found he was able to give a good account of himself.

"Yes, it is a good crew," drawled the youthful Ulbrickson, who in his day as an oarsman stroked two winning Wash-

RUTH BEHIND 1929

Although he hit his twenty-fourth home run of the season yesterday, Babe Ruth is still slightly behind his schedule of last year. On June 21 last season Babe had twenty-nine homers, hitting his thirtieth on June 26.

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—The Yankees lost ground in the American League pennant race today as they divided a double-header with the St. Louis Browns, winning the first, 15 to 0, but losing the second, 10 to 6. The division dropped the Yanks to third place as the Senators won two games from the Indians.

The Yankees piled up a big lead in the first four innings of the opening game and coupled with four-hit pitching by Henry Johnson coasted to victory. Babe Ruth led the attack with his twenty-fourth home run of the season.

CROSETTI THROWS CUB OFFICIALS INTO HUDDLE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23. (AP)—Negotiations for the purchase of Frankie Crosetti, young shortstop sensation of the San Francisco Seals, by the Chicago Cubs, have reached the stage where Seal officials expect a decision within the next few days.

At headquarters of the Coast League outfit, it was learned today Jack Hendricks, Cub scout, had been called to Chicago for a conference with William Wrigley, owner, and William Veeck, president of the National League club. It is understood Hendricks has recommended purchase of Crosetti.

Eight major-league clubs have sent scouts to watch the 19-year-old youngster in action. While no figures in the present deal have been announced it is known Crosetti has been "on the market" for a price of between $75,000 and $100,000.

GOTHAM STARS AFTER SWIM RECORDS FRIDAY

The recently completed swimming course at Recreation Park, Long Beach, was a beehive of activity yesterday with swimming and diving champions from all parts of the country and some from Hawaii churning the waters in preparation for the national championships, which start July 3.

The great New York Athletic Club team appeared in perfect shape and becomes even more of a favorite to win the national men's championship. George Kojac, Ray Ruddy, Al Zorilla, outstanding members of this team, will appear in the prenational swimfest to be held Friday evening at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, when Helene Madison, Eleanor Holm and other champions complete a program, certain to prove the finest ever held indoors here.

Ruddy, who hails from Columbia University and holds the world's 440-yard record of 4m. 55s., announced that he would be glad to take on Buster Crabbe, king of western swimmers, in a match 500-yard battle. Crabbe hasn't been defeated this year and will defend four outdoor national titles at Long Beach.

BABE HERMAN BANGS OUT PAIR OF HOME RUNS

Berger Hits Twenty-first Homer of Season as Boston Braves Trounce Cards, 12-9

PITTSBURGH, June 23. (AP)—Tying two National League records while pounding out twenty-eight hits of every description, the Brooklyn Robins today defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 19 to 6.

In the sixth inning, the Robins tied the one-inning consecutive-hit record held jointly by the Cubs and Cardinals, when they connected with ten successive hits. Lopez made the last out, being caught at the plate while trying to score from second on a single. Continuing on in the seventh, the Robins hit safely twice more before a batsman was retired to run their consecutive hitting to 12, tying the mark made by the Cardinals against the Braves on September 17, 1920. The Cubs hung up their one-inning hitting record against the Braves on September 7 of last year while the Cards made theirs against the Phillies June 13, 1922.

Babe Herman led the Robins' attack, pounding out his sixteenth and seventeenth home run of the season. Gilbert also hit for four bases. Score:

BERGER STARS

ST. LOUIS, June 23. (AP)—The Boston Braves won a slugging match from the St. Louis Cardinals today, 12 to 9, in the first game of the series.

Wally Berger of the Braves hit his twenty-first home run of the season. Watkins and High of the Cardinals also hit for the circuit.

The Cardinals used five pitchers, Johnson, who started, being charged with the defeat. The Braves used three hurlers, Smith, the second, getting credit for the victory.

clared that he would like to take a crack at the 100-yard free-style mark Friday night. It will be remembered that he was a split second behind Johnny Weissmuller when the latter clipped off his present world standard of 57.4s for the 100 meters.

The team will compete intact at the L.A.A.C. Friday night and again at Lake Arrowhead Sunday when Fred Cady stages one of his popular mile-high carnivals. Josephine McKim, Mickey Riley, Dutch Smith and Georgia Coleman will also appear at the lake resort.

Wally Colbath of the Chicago A.A. arrived in Long Beach yesterday and will form some strong opposition for the Los Angeles diving favorites. He is the intercollegiate champion and an Olympic Games athlete. John Howland, captain of the Yale University team, was also on hand and will give Kojac, Al Swartz of Illinois and the other sprint stars a great battle in the 100 meters.

ington varsity eights.

A better crew than last year when we finished second, the varsity consists of six of the same men who rowed in the boat a year ago and two big sophomores who are rowing at No. 5 and No. 6. The No. 5 man is Schoel, who I now expect will be able to row in the race, and the No. 6 is Reese who is 6 feet 6 inches and weights 195 pounds."

Ed Leader, whose Yale varsity wound up an undefeated season last week against Harvard, joined his fellow-graduates of Washington—Coach Ulbrickson and Mike Murphy, Wisconsin mentor — and followed their crews in the coaching launch.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

A GRAND OPPORTUNITY

AS THE result of last night's sour meeting between Primo Carnera and George Godfrey the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission has a grand opportunity to make itself famous.

Hold up the principals' money, make them fight over again, and give all the ticket-holders rain checks.

It appears from reports that the Messrs. Carnera and Godfrey must have heard about how Schmeling became world's heavyweight champion, winning on a foul in the fourth round.

At any rate, they stepped out in a Philadelphia ring last night, and did likewise. Sharkey was winning easily when he fouled Schmeling. Godfrey was winning when he fouled Carnera.

To continue the sequence, Schmeling should now meet Carnera, and Godfrey should tangle with Sharkey.

We would then be able to learn who is the best nonfoul fighter, and it would be possible to tag either Sharkey or Godfrey as the champion fouler.

Godfrey's fouling has become as chronic as that of Sharkey, and both should be set down indefinitely.

It was last August that Godfrey waged a foul fight against Long Tom Hawkins of San Diego at the Olympic and got himself in Dutch with the California commission.

STRIBLING IN AGAIN

THE one-round knockout of Otto Von Porat by Young Stribling at Chicago the other night rather establishes the young Georgian again in the eyes of the flatic world.

Strib, who is variously known as the ex-Georgia schoolboy, King of the Cane Brakes, etc., passed quietly from the picture following his dreary affair with Jack Sharkey a year ago last February.

Then he took a tour of Europe, and twice fought Primo Carnera, losing on a foul at London and winning on one at Paris.

Strib is the world's champion when it comes to knocking out palookas, and possesses the longest string of one and two-round knockouts in captivity.

But he is also the world's champion in-and-outer. He can't be figured at all in an important bout. He may fight like a champion, and he may fight like an acrobat.

He has all the necessary attributes—speed, punch, defense and ring craft.

He could be champion if he'd make up his mind to but apparently has never geared himself that high.

If he lacks anything it's heart. When hurt he's inclined to fold up and make a wrestling match out of a fight.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

FEW pitchers have the traveling record of Burleigh Grimes, former Pittsburgh ace, who has visited Boston and St. Louis, respectively, as a twirler this year.

If Grimes makes three more clubs before he winds up his pitching career in the National League he will have completed the circuit. Burleigh has now played with five of the eight clubs, and with one twice.

He broke in with Pittsburgh, went from there to Brooklyn, then New York, back to Pittsburgh, thence to Boston this year when he squawked over his salary contract.

The Braves kept him until he failed to reveal a winning stride, and they shipped him to St. Louis.

A $20,000 SEANCE

YOUNG JACK THOMPSON, the black welterweight champion, left last night for San Francisco, where he has a pleasant seance ahead of him.

Said seance is ten rounds with Young Corbett, Fresno southpaw, on July 4, and the pleasantest part about the affair will be the $20,000 Young Jack gets for his endeavors—win, lose or draw.

Jackie Fields, immediate predecessor of Young Jack in the line of welterweight kings, likewise fought Young Corbett for a fat guarantee and lost.

This may or may not be an omen in the life of Young Jack Thompson.

Fields met Corbett at San Francisco last February, and lost a ten-round decision. He was guaranteed $25,000, but his option of a percentage permitted him to drag down slightly over $36,000.

DEEP-SEA ANGLING GROWING POPULAR

HERMOSA BEACH, June 23.—More than 750 anglers visited the big Olympic fishing barges, anchored two miles offshore here, over the week-end, according to figures announced by Capt. J. M. Andersen, owner of the two palatial barges. Thousands of fish were caught, with bonita, mackerel, barracuda, sandabs, sculpin and halibut leading the list.

Live-bait boat angling is also growing in popularity as the summer season nears, Capt. Cliff Garner's speedy launches having catered to a great crowd yesterday. Bass, halibut, barracuda and some yellowtail were brought in.

S'HH!--SECRET STUFF!

Marshall Goes Into Hiding to Train for Match With Wycoff Tomorrow Night

That Everett Marshall expects to encounter plenty of trouble when he tackles Lee Wycoff, the lanky and sensational Missouri grappler, in the final feature event of Lou Daro's all-star mat program at the Olympic tomorrow night, was seen here yesterday when the Coloradoan trained in secret for more than two hours, working out possible defenses against toe-holds.

Very few heavyweights have ever developed any kind of a special defense against this grip since the time of Frank Gotch, as no one has ever specialized in the foot hold after the great Iowan passed about thirteen years ago. For Wycoff to bob up suddenly as a past master with the grips that made Gotch famous has taken Marshall completely by surprise.

Until a few days ago Marshall believed Wycoff was just a fast, clever heavyweight, who had a working knowledge of many punishing grips, but without any good finishing hold. Then Wycoff opened up on his trainers in a gym workout one afternoon, and he has been a sensation with the mat experts since. Marshall, it is reported, received some first-hand information as to Wycoff's real ability, and he immediately scheduled longer training periods, devoting most of his time to working on the mat.

Marin Piestina, who clashed with Ed (Strangler) Lewis in the other finish match on this card, is set upon a match here with Sonnenberg. If he beats Lewis, Daro intends to go after the title-holder for him. The promoter received a wire from J. H. Herman, Piestina's manager, yesterday, in which he is ready to put up $5000 that Piestina will beat Sonnenberg in a winner-take-all battle.

Don George and Moose Norbeck will furnish the fireworks in the opener. Norbeck is a 235 pounder from Canada, and a rough, smashing grappler, according to reports received here. George is being given a chance to win a feature event match, possibly with Joe Stecher, who Daro hopes to sign to meet one of the winners on this card.

STARS HOST TO SOLONS TODAY

for today's series opener against the Sacs. Ed Bryan, who has won his last three games, is expected to pitch for Sacramento, so it ought to be an interesting duel if both are right.

The Stars showed plenty of punch against the Missions last week but it must be admitted that those Red hurlers are just about as terrible a collection of moundsmen as there is in the loop. Vitt, however, believes that the breaks are at last coming the Stars' way and predicts that they'll be tough for all concerned from now on until next October. Angel rooters hope that Skipper Vitt's prediction holds true at least until next Sunday.

NOT SO HOT

The Senators haven't been faring so well of late. Maybe it was the night baseball but at any rate they won but eight out of fifteen games on their last home stand. That just about constitutes a slump for a league-leading outfit that generally is at its best on the home lot.

The Sacs were bothered with injuries for a stretch. Ward, Osborn, Hoag and Rohwer all being out at one time or another, but all of the injured are back in the line-up now.

Local fans will be interested in again looking over Meryl Hoag, the speedy young man who plays center field and was recently sold to the Yankees after a lot of confirmations and denials that the deal was made. Then there are Tony Freitas, southpaw sensation; Lenny Backer, third-sacker; Dolph Camilli, first-base guardian, and Steinbacker, left fielder—all of them youngsters and considered major-league prospects—who will per

CHAMACO WINS CUE MATCH

TEN YEAR AGO

Jack Dempsey was in this country about ten years ago. He fought a close fight with Tom Gibbons in San Francisco. He has developed since that time into a big win over Brown.

The new Eastside Club was formed for an opening bout Laredo appeared, but did not get the match.

Dado looks more seasoned than Laredo. The latter is still a mere kid and a tricky shoulder roll kept him from being sent to the world title in the East. Champion Frankie Genaro is the New York title-holder. Dado compares favorably with the greatest fights here—the most seasoned opponent the two boxing fans will see with Ernie Peters of Oakland. The Filipino drew with Peters once, was sent down here about two years ago. He was getting an even break until his knee snapped up. Frank Churchill is said to let Dado come out on top in the seventh round.

A THRILLER

Dado's last fight was with Jackie Wilson at Pasadena. It resulted in a draw and was said to be the greatest thrills Morrie Jacobs has ever given his million-dollar baby.

Dado, the Idaho Spud tonight, is paired with Boyle of San Francisco tonight's semi-windup. He defeated Natie Brown of Boise in the north. Frankie Genaro refused to take Doyle on account here, but scored a first round knockout over him recently.

Laredo has been boxing semi-pro for several months, but saw a punch until his fight he stopped the Filipino.

Jackie Lamar and Goldie Ahumada are matched for the lightweight championship of the Coast a week tonight. Recently Lamar was given a belt by the Pacific Coast Boxing Federation, emblematic of national championship.

Jackie Lamar defeated Jackie Payne had a return bout at the Olympic. Jack Thompson, welterweight champion, boarded a train for Portland last night. He is matched for boxing Young Corbett, ex-welterweight match July 4. Thompson may box in Portland before that time.

Champions of Their Native Lands

Manns and Bud Doyle in Semi-Wind-up

BY KAY OWE

Speedy Dado and Chato Laredo, champions of their own class, meet tonight in the Olympic's ten-round main event. They are boxing at catch-weights.

Laredo is a [illegible] flyweight champion. He has beaten good boys from Los Angeles lately. They are Newsboy Young Sport and Red. The contests were close. Laredo is sufficient credentials for anybody to present. Wad Wadhams and Laredo had won from [illegible] but no time importance here.

Hit Through From Inside

BY SOL METZGER

Swing through the ball from the inside out. That's the advice of most pros. It's a sure cure for slicing, as Walter Hagen will tell you. It's the way Helen Hicks drives, the way every sound golfer must drive. And it's also a sure way of hooking if you don't watch out. Bobby Jones will tell you that's what makes him hook.

But as few of us are golfers like Jones or Hicks and as most of us slice, the big problem for us is to hit from inside out, as shown in the illustration. After we get so good at it that we begin hooking then we can take up the matter of correcting the hook.

What makes one hit from outside in? In short, what makes us slice? Now we are getting down to the meat of the argument.

Great golfers are great drivers. Improve your drive by sending stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, care of The Times, and requesting his free booklet on driving.

CARNERA WINS ON LOW BLOW

Godfrey took his time, measured his man, started the punch almost from the floor and let it travel somewhere between Carnera's knee and the top of his belt.

Up to this point Carnera had put up a remarkable showing for a human mountain. Weighing 262 pounds, he had amazed the crowd of 40,000 packed around the park with his speed and agility and his ability to take and give. He lost the first two rounds by a shade to Godfrey's greater experience, but he won the third, came along nicely in the fourth and was much the fresher of the two when the Negro giant lowered his sights by about two feet and broke up the show.

FULL OF ACTION

These first four rounds were full of action. The two mammoths charged and slugged, throwing rights and lefts after the manner of ten-inch guns. Godfrey apparently was giving everything he had. On at least five occasions he measured Carnera for a whistling right and let him have it on the chin. On one occasion Carnera's head snapped back about two feet. But the big Italian kept crowding in, and if he was hurt he failed to show it.

Godfrey, weighing 250 pounds looked like a mountain of coal when he finally stretched the ropes far enough apart to crawl through. He was fat from head to ankles. Carnera, weighing 262 pounds, was almost perfectly proportioned, except for the fact that his varicose veins were larger than the two-inch ropes around the ring. They might have been used for giant cables.

Yet the Italian mastodon was surprising fast. He stepped around lightly and swiftly, even for a 200-pounder. He lacked experience but he showed more than usual promise.

Gene Tunney and Jim Corbett, two ex-heavyweight champions, who know what boxing is, both admitted that Carnera was far above their expectations. They had expected to see a mass of human flesh floundering around the ring and they saw a much faster man than Godfrey ever was.

In the first round the Black Leopard showed his experience. He came tearing in as if he meant business. He caught a hard left to the face, but finally maneuvered Carnera out of position and then nailed him with a terrific right to the side of the jaw. The mammoth's head flew back and he stepped away, but he came charging in again.

HIT OFTEN

Godfrey hit him often enough through the first two rounds to knock down four or five heavyweights, but Carnera took it all. He proved at least that nothing short of a ten-inch shell could drop him.

After Godfrey had won the first two rounds he began to puff and blow like a school of porpoises. You could hear him as far away as New York or possibly Boston. It sounded like escaping steam from a dozen or so boiler factories.

Carnera came along into the third round with something to spare, although he once more absorbed two terrific rights and lefts to the side of the head. There were times when these exchanges sounded like the battle of the Marne. The thunder of leather landing on 250 or 260 pounds of flesh carried a crash of heavy artillery.

That second round discouraged Godfrey more than a little. He apparently seemed to sense that he had only a round or so left before dropping from exhaustion. He had hit Carnera often enough and hard enough to clean up two or three heavyweight divisions, but here was the mountain still closing in upon him from above.

BETTER IN-FIGHTER

Strangely enough Carnera had the better of the infighting with something to spare. Starting the fourth round Godfrey, with a discouraged look, threw in one or two low punches as if to test the range. Carnera complained of one, but Referee Reilly, who handled the Tunney-Dempsey fight, told the Italian to go ahead, after warning his opponent.

Godfrey still had a slight edge through the fourth round, where he again seemed to throw all he had in the way of rights and lefts to the head and body. Some of these carried enough to dismantle a battleship.

But Carnera not only took them all, but he took them without blinking an eye. He merely kept on crowding in, whaling away with both hands. It was at the end of the fourth round that Godfrey looked as if he were ready to call it an evening and go back to his pork chops.

He did no great damage in the fifth and after slightly more than a minute of fighting he threw in the low punch that broke up the show. This punch ended Godfrey's career in the American ring. It also cost Godfrey $5000 as they enforce the law here in Philadelphia and he will be paid only as far as he fought, $1000 a round.

CARNERA LOOKS GOOD

What about Carnera? He looks to be a championship prospect.

He is extremely fast for a big man, a fair boxer, a hard hitter and a glutton for punishment. He had Godfrey's lips bleeding from short punches and one of the Negro's eyes had a queer look, as if it intended to close shop in a few minutes.

The four finished rounds were fast for two mammoths—fast and full of action. They at least proved that the Italian mastodon has to be reckened with. He will be all that Schmeling, Sharkey or any one else can handle—maybe a little bit more.

Despite the fact that the official physician stated that Carnera had been fouled and badly hurt, the money for both camps has been held up by Chairman Weiner pending an investigation, which will take place tomorrow. The investigation will cover the point as to whether Godfrey deliberately fouled his way out, or whether there was some prearrangement with this end in view. There was no sign of a fake or an attempt to fake up to this point. If it was an act, then both were exceptionally good actors, for they were throwing leather around as if they meant business.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

ROUND FOUR

Carnera shot two lefts to the face. Godfrey jumped in and hit Primo two rights to the face. Carnera drove a right to the jaw. In a clinch they floundered around clouting each other evenly on the jaw and body before they broke. Godfrey swung a left over the chin, which shook Primo. Carnera landed a right to the jaw. Godfrey got in close again and amused himself beating Carnera's middle with lefts. Carnera complained of a foul, but the punch was high enough and they stood off and walloped each other with both hands. George hooked over a right to jaw followed by a clean left.

ROUND FIVE

George's right eye was richly [illegible]. Godfrey led a left to the chin and clinched. Carnera ripped up two rights to the face in the clinch. George was getting very tired-less, but he aroused himself in a clinch and landed several lefts to the body. Carnera went down complaining he had been hit foul. A doctor entered the ring to examine him. Five men crabbed Carnera and hauled him to his corner. It was ruled Carnera had been fouled and decided that the foul had been deliberate.

Weetamoe in Front Again

NEWPORT (R. I.) June 23. (AP)—Weetamoe led the way home today in the first of a series of eastern yacht club races between the four new America's cup defense candidates and defense boats of ten years ago.

Weetamoe's victory, if it be permitted to stand as such, was not entirely satisfactory, for the Morgan boat finished with the Little Enterprise, in the second place, flying a protest flag.

Yankee, the Boston contender, with Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, at the wheel, finished third. Whirlwind was fourth and Vanitie, a 1920 defense candidate, fifth.

Today's race was over a thirty-mile course, fifteen miles to the windward and return. The start was at 11:10 a.m. and the five boats' elapsed time was as follows:

Weetamoe, 3:08:19; Enterprise, 3:10:16; Yankee, 3:12:25; Whirlwind, 3:14:25; Vanitie, 3:15:16.

FORTY ROUNDS ON WILMINGTON CARD

The second forty-round boxing card ever staged at Wilmington takes place upon the inauguration of "ladies' night" at the new $50,000 boxing palace tomorrow night.

An eight-round feature between Frankie Burnell and Tommy Elks, supported by four six-round tiffs and two fours, complete the program. Although the fighters lack wide acclaim, practically every one of the fourteen have a good following around Wilmington, San Pedro and Long Beach.

"Irish" Jerry Duffy, the young feather who has been headlining South Gate fight cards, meets Henri Inloe in the six-round semi. Duffy has been tentatively signed to meet Santiago Zorrilla at Wilmington July 16 and is a topheavy choice to trounce Inloe.

EDDIE MACK STOPS ABRAMS IN TENTH

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—Eddie Mack, crack Denver lightweight, stopped Joey Abrams of Brooklyn, in the tenth and last round of a bout at Dexter Park, Brooklyn tonight.

Abrams absorbed a terrific beating at the hands of the westerner but was still on his feet and pleaded to be allowed to continue when Referee Johnny McEvoy stopped the bout. Abrams's ear had been badly injured and the referee decided he could not permit the bout to go on.

LA SALLE TO BOX BULAHAN TOMORROW

Kenny LaSalle, Venice's knockout artist, and Battling Bulahan, Filipino favorite, meet at Ocean Park tomorrow night.

Hulit Maples, a classy scrapper from San Bernardino and a stablemate of Baby Sal Sorio's, will meet Hymie Rubin, Ocean Park Jewish lad, in a six-round semi-wind-up. The pair will step into the ring weighing 133 pounds. Three four-rounders are also scheduled.

ROYAL LADY WINS RACE

TOLEDO (O.) June 23. (AP)—The 1930 season of Grand Circuit racing opened at Fort Miami track tonight with Royal Lady, owned and driven by Vic Fleming of Syracuse, N. Y., winning the thirteen pace, the feature event of the program.

McWEENY TO COLUMBUS

CINCINNATI, June 23. (AP)—Douglas McWeeny, pitcher, obtained by the Reds in trade for Adolfe Luque, today was released to the Columbus American Association club. The hurler balked at the transfer and said he will quit baseball before going to the Senators.

Percy Jones is Released

PITTSBURGH, June 23. (AP) The Pittsburgh Pirates today unconditionally released Percy Jones, former left-handed pitcher, of the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves. Jones, received from the Braves with a large sum for Burleigh Grimes, has not won a game for the Pirates this season. Club officials said they believed an operation performed on his pitching-arm had left him impaired in the skill that once indicated he was a pitcher of great promise. The left hander went to the Braves in the trade that shifted Rogers Hornsby to the Cubs.

BOONE IS STILL LEADING HITTER

Average Drops 14 Points But Ike Remains First

Ike Boone wasn't hitting quite up to his usual form last week, although he still maintains the very respectable season batting average of .443. Boone's average dwindled 14 points during the Missions sojourn at Wrigley Field.

Earl Sheely has taken second place, with a mark of .394, a gain of one point for the week. Wes Schulmerich continues to hold third place with a mark of .392. Harry Rosenberg is hitting fourth with .389. Meryl Hoag has advanced to fifth place with an average of .380.

Hank Severeid and Johnny Basler, both catchers, are the leading hitters on the Hollywood team, with averages above .370. Cleo Carlyle showed a big gain for the week, bringing his season average up to .361.

Johnny Moore continues to add points to his average, a gain of eight digits placing him ninth among all Coast League hitters, with an average of .370.

Boone and Sheely, the two leading sluggers, are running along on even terms as leaders in safe hits, with 121 each. Fred Haney has brought his stolen base total up to 26. Francis Sigafoos and Frank Crosetti show the way in two-baggers, with 25 each.

San Francisco holds the team batting leadership with .322. The Seals were the first team to reach the 500 mark in runs scored. Los Angeles players were hitting the ball hard last week, boosting the team average four points to .308.

YOUNGSTERS IN SPOT AT LEGION STADIUM FRIDAY

Youth gets its fling at the Hollywood American Legion stadium Friday night. Two youngsters on the card will be the center of attraction. Benny Miller in the main event and Young Papke in the preliminaries. Miller is the young welterweight who beat Oakland Jimmy Duffy a month ago and Papke is the latest sensation among the sprouts in the fight game.

Benny Miller may find the going pretty tough when he meets Babe Anderson, San Jose boy. Miller couldn't stop Duffy and Anderson did. Anderson flattened Leo Hernandez in a punch last week and the fact that Young Jack Thompson wouldn't fight him last week but stated a preference for Joe Cordoza is another boost for the San Jose lad. Some seem to think that Miller is in for a shellacking.

The one bright boy in the local fight game is Young Papke. This kid has scored two quick knockouts at the stadium and the way he did it has got the fans buzzing. Great things are predicted for Papke and with Charley McDonald acting as his manager the kid is well handled.

Next week the stadium will be dark. There will be no fights on July 4. When the doors are opened to resume activities Speedy Dado will probably be one of the main eventers.

VON PORAT HANDED PURSE OF $19,991

CHICAGO, June 23. (AP)—Otto Von Porat, towering Norwegian heavyweight, was awarded $19,991.60 damages today for running into W. L. (Young) Stribling's left hook in their match which lasted just two minutes and fifty seconds at the Chicago Stadium last Friday night. Stribling's share of the receipts, which totaled $77,333.40, was $18,659.87.

The fight attracted a record breaking indoor attendance of 20,862 spectators.

Wykoff's Pa Would Copy Son's Stuff

GLENDALE, June 23. (AP)—Clifford Wykoff, father of the illustrious sprinter, Frank is following in his son's footsteps. At a plumbers' picnic yesterday, the national intercollegiate 100-yard-dash champion's father placed third in a sprint race over the same distance. When judges were asked concerning the time they shrugged their shoulders.

"We had no sundial," one of them complained.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Mohammed Beyd, head of the Arab guard that was riding with Werper, had nursed his hidden infatuation for Lady Greystoke since first the wife of Tarzan had fallen into the hands of Achmet Zek. While this austere chieftain lived, Mohammed Beyd had not even dared hope for a realization of his imaginings. Now, though, it was different—Allah was indeed good to him; only a despised dog of a Christian stood between himself and possession of Jane Clayton. How easy it would be to slay the unbeliever and himself hold the woman captive.

And Werper, he thought, still had the jewels of Opar on his person. With these also in his possession—ah what joy! Yes, he would kill Werper, retain all the jewels and keep the Englishwoman. With these thoughts in mind he wheeled his horse to the side of the animal on which the captive was mounted. He turned his eyes upon her as she rode along at his side. How beautiful she was. "Do you know," he asked, leaning toward her, "where this man is taking you?" Jane Clayton nodded affirmatively.

"And are you willing to become part of a sultan's harem?" he continued. Jane Clayton drew herself up to her full height and turned her head away; but she did not reply. She feared lest her knowledge of the ruse "M. Frecoult" was playing upon the Arab might cause her to betray herself through an insufficient display of terror and aversion. "You can escape this fate," went on the Arab; "Mohammed Beyd will save you," and he reached out and seized her arm.

Jane Clayton wrenched herself from his grasp. "You beast!" she cried. "Leave me or I shall call M. Frecoult." Mohammed Beyd drew back with a scowl. His sinister lips curled above his flashing teeth. "M. Frecoult?" he jeered. "There is no such person. The man's name is Werper. He is a liar, a thief and a murderer. In all the Congo country there is none so vile. He led Achmet Zek to plunder your home. He followed your husband and planned to steal his gold. He has played upon you to win your confidence. Now you are bound for a sultan's harem."

Ella Cinders, accused by Mrs. L. L. Cole, multi-millionaire's wife of having abducted her year-old step-grandchild, denied her guilt in court today and is awaiting trial. She declared the baby's mother asked her to take care of it. She was unable to state the mother's whereabouts. Mrs. L. L. Cole has departed for Europe and the case is in the hands of the prosecution.
POOR ELLA! DOING HER BEST FOR ME AND GETTING THE WORST OF IT! THE TIME HAS ARRIVED FOR ME TO COME OUT OF HIDING AND SETTLE THINGS ONCE AND FOR ALL WITH MY PRECIOUS FATHER-IN-LAW AND HIS SCHEMING WIFE!
I'M ATTORNEY HASH! BETTY COLE REQUESTED ME TO ARRANGE YOUR BAIL AND HAVE YOU MEET HER THIS MORNING AT HER FATHER-IN-LAW'S HOME—WITH HER BABY!

SUSPECT IN OLD MURDER FACES JURY

Trial of Man Accused of Killing Here Nine Years Ago Now Being Held

Phillip Stickles, charged with the murder of Mike Mucich here nine years ago, went to trial before Superior Judge Wilson yesterday.

After selection of the jury, W. W. Burgess, deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case, introduced the bullet which killed Mucich, as the first item of evidence. It had been preserved in the files of the Coroner's office for nine years by Dr. A. F. Wagner, autopsy surgeon.

The complaint charges that Mucich was shot to death and thrown from an automobile near the East First-street bridge on the night of August 6, 1921. Stickles was implicated in the case in a statement made to police by Mrs. Addie Minser, who asserts she was in the automobile and witnessed the murder. The woman, who probably will be called as a witness today, also told officers that Charles F. Stevens, former police officer, witnessed the shooting. Investigators have been unable to find Stevens.

JURY READY FOR CANYON DEATH CASE

Bakman Trial for Slaying of Guy Whittson Slated to Proceed Today

Selection of a jury to hear the trial of Daniel Bakman, charged with the murder of Guy Whittson, was completed in Superior Judge McComb's court just before adjournment last night. The case will go to trial at 10 a.m. today, according to Bonner Richardson, deputy District Attorney prosecuting.

Bakman is charged with waylaying Whittson on Dark Canyon Road on the night of February 25, last, and shooting him to death with a shotgun.

Police officers who investigated the slaying assert that Bakman suspected Whittson of being overattentive to Mrs. Bakman.

Girl Departs on Learning of Adoption

For more than twelve years Irene Grace Frayas, 16 years of age, was happy in the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fraya of 2185 High street, Oakland, before she found out she was an adopted child.

One day a few months ago the Frayas decided she should know the truth and told her that they had adopted her from a foundling asylum at Berkeley when she was scarcely 5 years of age. Immediately the girl began to brood and about a week ago she disappeared, taking with her only an overnight bag and leaving no word as to her destination.

Yesterday Los Angeles police received a picture and description of the girl who, the foster parents believe, is hitch-hiking to Hollywood to try her luck in the films.

The orphans' home where she was placed when a baby has since been closed and the Frayas never have been able to locate the mother, they said.

COLOR FILM COMPANY PURCHASED BY HUGHES

Howard Hughes, 25 years of age, and possessor of a fortune estimated at $75,000,000, announced last night the latest venture of his spectacular motion-picture career, the purchase of Multicolor Films, Inc.

That the purchase of this concern, marking the entrance of the young millionaire into the field of color photography in motion pictures, was contemplated by him, was the subject of reports circulated several days ago.

The price paid, including plans for the construction soon to be undertaken by Mr. Hughes of a laboratory in Hollywood, was said to encompass an expenditure in excess of $1,000,000. The exact price paid for Multicolor was not revealed, however.

Mr. Hughes, who is president of the Caddo Company, producer of "Hell's Angels," the film now having a showing in Hollywood, negotiated for the purchase of Multicolor Films, Inc., through Rowland V. Lee, W. R. Fraser, W. T. Worthington, and their associates, the owners.

Hughes is not ready to say in what part of Hollywood he expects to erect his laboratory, which is to cost $500,000, it is said. The laboratory will not only be used in the development of Mr. Hughes's own productions, but will be thrown open to the use of other picture companies desiring to make use of the color process in the making of films.

Mr. Hughes began his career in motion pictures three and a half years ago. His company has produced five pictures, all successes. He inherited his money from his father, the late Howard Hughes, Sr., president of the Hughes Tool Company of Texas, one of the largest oil-tool concerns in the country.

STEP TAKEN FOR COMING CHEST DRIVE

Group of Leaders Meet to Form Preliminary Plans for Campaign

Preparations for the 1930 Community Chest campaign were inaugurated yesterday when a group of the city's prominent men and women met at the home of Mrs. Albert Crutcher to formulate plans which it is hoped will make this campaign the most efficient in the history of the Los Angeles Chest.

Mrs. Crutcher, who will head the residential divisions for the third successive year, presided at the meeting and the following district chairmen were present: Mmes. Rose Roy, Louis Nordlinger, J. L. Thornton, F. G. Bonhaus, B. R. Gieger, S. Maus Purple, G. H. Wolfstein, Josephine Kessler and Messrs. A. H. Maxwell and J. D. Farmer.

Mrs. Crutcher stressed the importance of organizing early, saying "we have written letters to all the men and women who worked during the last campaign, asking that they serve this year. Volunteer workers with a year or more experience are a very important factor in our success and all workers who have not yet pledged themselves are urged to do so at once."

Emphasis was laid by J. A. H. Kerr, chairman of the 1930-31 campaign, upon the part played by women in the success of the Community Chest. He said, "If the women of every house in Los Angeles which can support the Chest will see that support is given wholeheartedly, our quota will be a certainty."

RULE MADE ON VENICE LEASE BIDS

Competitive Offers Must be Obtained, Planning Commission Asserts

While the City Planning Committee of the City Council, at its meeting yesterday, declared its neutrality in the controversy over whether the Playground and Recreation Commission shall grant leases for oil-drilling in the surf off Venice, it decided to recommend the adoption by the Council of a resolution introduced several days ago by Councilman Randall which will require all city departments to obtain competitive bids before leasing any land under their jurisdiction for oil drilling.

Three requests to drill for oil in the surf off Venice are now before the Playground and Recreation Commission and the royalties offered the city run from 10 to 30 per cent, but without guarantees or bonuses.

In view of the many protests which have been received against permitting drilling in the surf, the commission will conduct a public hearing on the matter at 4 p.m. this afternoon.

MORE LANDS WITHDRAWN

Government Adds Nearly 2,000,000 Acres to List as Boulder Dam Prelude

In an additional order received yesterday by Registrar Smith of the local Federal Land Office, from Commissioner Moore of the General Land Office, nearly 2,000,000 acres of land in Southern California were added to the withdrawals from public entry. Previously orders were issued withdrawing about 1,000,000 acres, but the new order brings the total withdrawals to 2,950,946 acres, located in San Bernardino, Imperial, Riverside, Orange and Los Angeles counties.

About 40 per cent of the land involved is patented and the government formally will have to bring suits under the rule of law regarding eminent domain with regard to that portion for public use.

The withdrawals in San Bernardino county are 2,054,354 acres; in Riverside county, 628,230 acres, and in Imperial county, 258,358 acres, and small acreage in Orange and Los Angeles counties.

The land is being withdrawn to provide water channels for the Colorado River project and an abundance of water for Southern California, mostly in Imperial Valley.

The routes for these water channels have not been decided, but the government is taking steps to conserve the necessary land.

Horse-Drawn Water Wagon Driver Killed

A horse-drawn vehicle took a traffic toll yesterday afternoon when Marvin Burge, 44-year-old driver of a street sprinkler in Compton, toppled from his seat and fell beneath the wheels of the slow-moving water wagon. Burge was covering his usual route with his single horse-powered sprinkler and reached the intersection of Third and McDonald streets in Belvedere Gardens. He was taken to the General Hospital where he died from internal injuries. He never regained consciousness and authorities were unable to discover just what caused him to fall. The Coroner took charge of the body.

Aida Caforio, 5 years of age, of 6710 Otio street, Bellflower, was reported recovering yesterday from injuries sustained Sunday when she was struck by a speeding motorist. James R. Caforio, her father, was also hurt when he attempted to rescue the girl while she was crossing Washington and Colorado streets in Clearwater.

According to Sheriff's reports, the driver took the father and daughter to the Las Campanas Hospital in Compton for treatment and then disappeared.

Four Arrested as Bandit Ring; One Confesses

After weeks of search for a band of robbers holding up gas stations and invading homes, police last night announced the arrest of four suspects and the reported confession of their leader.
